BRITISH SHIP SCHEME HIT

Protest Made in Arms Parley

French and Scandinavians Not Favorable to Exclusion from Sale Control

United States Say They Will Not Consent to Beg for Munition Supplies

[BY WIRE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, May 8.—British proposals to exclude the sale of war-like stores from the plan of International control of armaments met with opposition of the French and Scandinavian delegates to the international conference on the control of arms and munitions in a session of the military and naval committee. The American delegation did not express any opinion on the project, but there appeared to be a tendency to take the matter less seriously than the others have done.

The committee is expected to vote on the question of warships tonight and complete the list of countries that in its opinion ought to be subjected to supervision.

The Scandinavians argued that trade should be under exactly the same control as other war materials and the French, their spokesman said tonight, supported the proposal, although they were open to conviction. They thought warships and submarines should be placed on the controlled list to satisfy public opinion, which they feared might not understand why they were omitted.

[ILLEGIBLE] CONTENTIONS

The backbone of the British argument is that the proposed sale of warships, besides being unfair because it is impossible to limit their sale, is undesirable because the publication of all details of construction would be unfair to the purchasing countries. Vice-Admiral Andrew T. Hastings, R.N., did not go into the question of tonnage, but there was a general impression by the committee that the smaller ones which carry heavy arms, that they would be placed forever at the disposal of the big arms-producing countries.

Rear-Admiral Sousa, the Brazilian expert, told the committee that buyers must be protected in the position of power they must, he said, be given guarantees that their future needs will be supplied.

NO QUARTER, IS WAR CRY IN BATTLE OF RUM ROW

Fight to Finish to End Smuggling is Ordered as Reprisal for Sabotage on Dry Fleet

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Real war is on between the government and the rum runners and bootleggers of the Atlantic Coast—not a mere constructive war, but the kind in which blood is spilled and fatalities are probable.

The departure of the Coast Guard fleet for rum row, it was explained today at Coast Guard headquarters here, was the culmination of a situation that has arisen recently, involving the ability of the United States to uphold the laws against desperadoes who have reached the point where they do not hesitate to kill and resort to other measures.

WAR ON IN EARNEST

Lieutenant Commander Stephens Yeandle, aide to the commandant of the Coast Guard, said that the fight against the rum-running outlaws was on in earnest, that it will be kept up and no quarter will be shown. Reprisals resorted to by the rum-runners at sea and their confederates ashore, he asserted, had reached large proportions. Everywhere the operations of the Coast Guard for some time have been interfered with. Vessels of the government fleet assigned to operate against the rum-runners have been damaged and Coast Guard men have been attacked, and it has been difficult to get the services of the right kind of enlisted men for this hazardous work, Lieutenant Commander Yeandle said.

The commander told of the sinking of a Coast Guard special at Atlantic City, supposedly by an accidental gasoline explosion. It was believed, he said, that she was sunk by persons engaged in violating the prohibition laws as an act of reprisal. Evidence of that sort of reprisal, according to Lieutenant Commander Yeandle, was appearing from all along the Atlantic Coast.

EXPLOSIONS FREQUENT

Explosions on Coast Guard vessels have been frequent. Two men were blown overboard from a Coast Guard patrol boat recently. One died and the other is in the hospital, said to be permanently disabled. One ship was scuttled at her dock.

Chains have been wrapped around propeller blades of Coast Guard ships, with the result that much damage was caused when the engines started. The bearings of one of the best vessels in the fleet were ruined by ground glass placed there purposely.

Coast Guard vessels engaged in chasing rum-runners have been interfered with by other vessels, in some cases through ramming said to have been intentional.

Coast Guard officials are convinced that clever men, familiar with the machinery of ships, are being used by the rum-runners to injure vessels of the patrol fleet.

RIVER BOAT GOES DOWN

Four Drowned, 14 Missing

Government Steamer With Engineers' Party Turns Over on Mississippi

Passing Motorboat Rescues Forty Passengers; Many Notables on Vessel

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) May 8.—Four are known to be dead and fourteen are missing as a result of the capsizing of the United States government steamer Norman, sixteen miles south of Memphis on the Mississippi River late today, a recheck of the survivors showed shortly before midnight tonight.

The survivors arrived here on board the steamer Mississippi.

The known dead are Prof. Walter Kirkpatrick of the University of Mississippi and Mrs. Kirkpatrick; Maj. W. M. Gardner of Memphis and Mrs. J. F. Dorroh, wife of Dean Dorroh of the University of Mississippi engineering department.

The Norman sank as she was returning from Cow Island with a party of engineers here attending the convention of the Mid-South Association of Engineers. She was moving along smoothly, according to survivors, when she suddenly began rocking from side to side. This continued for, perhaps, five minutes, when she careened far over and failed to recover. Three minutes later she had virtually gone from sight.

The scene of the disaster is sixteen miles south of Memphis, opposite Coahoma Landing and 300 feet from the Tennessee shore.

FORTY RESCUED

The steamer had on board about sixty persons and of these approximately forty tonight were rescued. The scene of the disaster is isolated and difficult to reach. Newspaper men sent to the scene were forced to make their way to Tunica, Miss., eight miles away, traveling part way on mule-back, part by boat and part in an automobile to obtain wire facilities.

The steamer, according to survivors, first began rocking from side to side, careening so that persons on board were forced to run from one side to the other in an effort to remain on the high side of the boat. Finally she careened so far that she could not recover. Survivors said, however, that there was no panic.

Tom Lea, operating a motorboat for the Tennessee Construction Company, who happened to be passing the Norman when she turned over, saved the lives of most of those rescued.

HEAVY LOSS PREVENTED

W. W. Deberard of Memphis told the Associated Press but for this fact virtually every person on board would have been drowned. Few persons managed to swim ashore.

There was no explosion when the boat sank, the survivors said. Jack Cothran, engineer, having turned off the fuel oil under the boilers when the boat began to misbehave.

At 11 o'clock tonight, according to reports from the scene, the steamers Monitor and Chisca, both equipped with searchlights, were cruising the waters at the scene endeavoring to locate bodies.

Other steamers were reported on the way to aid.

The survivors were taken to a negro cabin reaching the shore and were cared for there. It was reported that they were suffering from the effects of contact with quantities of fuel oil that flowed onto the waters about the sinking vessel.

NOTABLES ON BOARD

The Norman and the steamer Choctaw, both owned by the United States Army Engineer Corps, had been put at the disposal of the engineers for an afternoon's outing to Cow Island Bend. They were returning, the Choctaw in the lead, when the Norman went down. Persons on board the Chocktaw did not know of the disaster until they reached Memphis.

Among the persons on board the Norman were believed to be a number of the best-known members of the engineering profession in the South including Prof. W. G. Kirkpatrick of the University of Mississippi, engineering department, and Mrs. Kirkpatrick; Maj. George W. Gillette, United States Army Engineering Corps; Dean J. A. Dorroh of the University of Mississippi engineering department, and Mrs. Dorroh; Maj. Donald Connelly, United States Army engineer in charge of the Mississippi River work, and E. H. Bowers, chief of the timber department of the Illinois Central Railroad.

BUTLER PROPOSES MAKING HAWAIIAN ISLANDS SAFE

House Committee, Navy Officials Will Sail in June to Make Survey of Outpost Defense Needs

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Fortification of the Hawaiian Islands to make them "the strongest military outpost in the world" was recommended today by Chairman Butler of the House Naval Committee. Mr. Butler said he favored making Pearl Harbor "impregnable" and would urge enactment of legislation at the next session of Congress to accomplish this purpose.

As chairman of the naval committee, Mr. Butler has arranged with Secretary Wilbur for its members to leave Annapolis June 4, on the transport Henderson, for a visit to the islands to obtain first-hand information as to the needs for their defense.

This trip which the chairman said would be an "entirely official one," was proposed last winter in a letter to Mr. Wilbur. High officials of the Navy, he added, will accompany the committee members on the trip and a thorough survey will be made, with attention directed particularly to Pearl Harbor.

Mr. Butler's views on the Hawaiian situation were outlined to the Associated Press today in reply to a question as to whether he desired to make any statement regarding the recent joint Army and Navy war maneuvers at the islands.

SEEK FULL INFORMATION

The recent maneuvers, he asserted, had in no way influenced his views as to fortifying the islands, as "all I know about the maneuvers is what I have read in the press."

The nature of the legislation to be presented to the next Congress, he declared, will be governed by the information obtained by the committee members this summer. The Navy Department has its own views on how the islands should be fortified, he said, but the committee desires to get as much first-hand information as possible. Mr. Butler, however, does not plan to accompany the committee.

Mr. Butler declared that for some time he had thought that the Hawaiian group should be more thoroughly fortified.

OUTLINES VIEWS

"I am still of that opinion," he continued. "The proposal to fortify the islands does not mean that I am opposed to the World Court or disarmament. I hope these things may be brought about, but I am beginning to doubt whether other

EX-CONSUL SEEKS JOB IN KITCHEN

One-Time "Lion" of Chicago Society Will Trade Culinary Gift for Living

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 8.—Once the Russian Consul-General in Chicago, feted by society, surrounded by a retinue of servants, Baron Antoine Volkoff, now almost without funds, is seeking a job as an assistant cook. In the old days when his wife's gowns and jewels were the envy and admiration of society the Baron was noted for his excellent salads and other dishes. Now he hopes to use his culinary knowledge to make a living for himself and his family.

When he was Consul-General here he maintained spacious offices and a magnificent home. He had jurisdiction over 1,000,000 Russian subjects. Now he lives in a tiny apartment on a side street. The Baron is a brilliant linguist and on behalf of his government expended millions of dollars in this country, chiefly for agricultural implements. The rise of the Bolsheviki left him stranded and without an occupation.

His oldest daughter, Lola, is a student in the University of Chicago, and the Baron and his wife are willing to accept any employment that will enable her to complete her education.

Light Showers Fall as Denver Prays for Rain

BATTLESHIP ESCAPES DOOM

Maryland Barely Avoids Being Tossed on Beach in Oahu Maneuvers; Three Die in Boat Wreck

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 8.—A story of how the battleship Maryland was periled by giant combers off the Island of Oahu and narrowly escaped being beached, was brought here today by officers and men of the fleet who arrived from Honolulu on the transport Henderson.

According to these men, the Maryland was damaged to the extent of about $150,000 and it was only due to her powerful engines that the big ship was headed out to sea in time to prevent being swept up on the coral reefs jutting out from Diamond Head.

Word also was brought here of the death of three men from the battleship Tennessee, who lost their lives in the terrific surf when a shore boat overturned.

The names of the men were not learned.

The Maryland, according to the story brought here by members of her crew and of the battleship West Virginia, who returned on the Henderson, was anchored off Honolulu at the conclusion of the joint Army and Navy maneuvers. Early in the afternoon the Maryland began rolling, and at one time keeled over to an angle of thirty-one deg. Tons of water poured through port holes and ladder hatches, flooding the engine and dynamo rooms. At one period, it was declared, fear was expressed that the big ship might turn turtle. Capt. F. H. Clark of the Maryland finally got the warship under way and headed out to sea, the report continued.

The 1500 marines from the San Diego and Quantico bases who comprised the expeditionary force aboard the Henderson landed with ridiculous ease in the face of the defenses of Oahu, Marine Corps officers returning today said. The Navy, they said, made a feint toward one point on the coast of Oahu and landed marines at another point.

The Henderson disembarked the fourth regiment of marines, who returned to their base here, and the transport cleared at 6 p.m. for Quantico.

ALABAMA BOY WINS FIRST PRIZE IN ORATORY FINALS

Eugene McElmeel of Los Angeles Second in National Contest; Brilliant Throng Attends

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Before one of the most distinguished and brilliant audiences of 6000 persons, the Second National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution of the United States settled the regional superiority of the high school orators of the country, here tonight. Eugene F. McElmeel of Los Angeles, Pacific Coast champion, won second place and the $1000 cash prize in the contest in which six others representing the other sections of the country participated.

Robert Sessions of Birmingham, Ala., youngest of the seven contestants, was awarded first prize of $2000, and M. N. Kroloff of Sioux City, Iowa, was third, winning a cash award of $500.

The ranking of the other contestants and the prizes which they won are as follows: Flora Longenecker, Ilion, N. Y., fourth, $450; Miss Asenath Graves, Washington, D. C., fifth, $400; George Stansell, Chicago, sixth, $350; Philip Glatfelter, Columbia, Pa., seventh, $300.

Never in the history of Washington was there a more distinguished gathering than appeared to hear the competitive orations offered by these young Americans as to the benefits of the American Constitution. President and Mrs. Coolidge gave it the sanction of their presence, and the President in terse and emphatic language complimented the contest as one of the greatest institutions in the history of the United States.

JUDGES DISTINGUISHED

The seven contestants were compared by five of the greatest legal minds in the entire nation. They were Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme Court; Associate Justice Vandeventer, Associate Justice Butler, Associate Justice Sanford and the Attorney-General of the United States, James G. Sargent.

John Hayes Hammond, an international figure of great influence and force, and one of the most consistent defenders of the American Constitution, was the presiding officer.

Probably no audience ever assembled in the nation's capital was ever more concentrated in its interest or enthusiastic in the applause granted to each of the seven speakers, but Robert Sessions of Birmingham, Ala, seemed to have the almost unanimous support of the crowded floors and balconies of the new and enlarged auditorium. Seats were provided for 6000, and there were many standing in the rear of the first floor and in the aisles. The applause and cheering which greeted the address of President Coolidge was vigorous, but the young men and women who represented every region of the United States were received with tremendous hospitality, enthusiasm and applause.

Tomorrow they will be entertained in the various places of interest including a special reception by President Coolidge at the White House and Monday they will all be guests of the Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur on board the naval yacht the Sylva for a cruise down the historic Potomac and the Chesapeake Bay.

NOTABLES ON PLATFORM

When the competition of oratory opened there were on the platform President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge, Secretary Mellon of the Treasury, Secretary Wilbur of the Navy, Chairman John Hays Hammond, Fred B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press, and F. I. Thompson, member of the United States Shipping Board and newspaper publisher of Birmingham, Ala., which named the winner of tonight's contest.

As each of the speakers presented his conception of the Constitution it seemed to be a general impression throughout the great

AMERICA'S TASK TOLD

Coolidge Charts Road to Peace

President Calls on Nation to Lead Way in Address at Oratorical Contest

Lauds Constitutional Study as Means of Bolstering Country's Security

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Making the utmost possible contribution toward organizing the peoples and nations of the world for peace was the task set for the United States tonight by President Coolidge.

Speaking at the opening of the National Oratorical Contest, where seven high school orators, chosen from 1,400,000 competitors, delivered orations on the Constitution of the United States, the President outlined the road to ultimate world peace.

"Our nation," said President Coolidge, "has a weighty responsibility, not only for maintaining its own welfare, liberties and power, but for making the utmost possible contribution toward organizing the nations and peoples in the aspirations and the ways of peace. Here is a field for institutional development to which the thoughts of men and women everywhere are turned as they never were before.

UNIVERSAL PROBLEMS

"Though their scale is greater, yet the problems in this realm of world organization are essentially the same as those to which mankind has been addressing itself from the beginning of society. These are the problems of assuring justice alike to the weak and the strong; of assuring peace with honor, of enthroning conscience in places of authority too long usurped by mere force. The same humanity that has been able to erect the rule of law and liberty on the scale of great nations and mighty federations will at last find institutions by which to place international relations upon the same sure foundations."

The President praised the renewed interest of the oratorical contest committee.

Referring to the subject of the orations, the Federal Constitution, he added:

SECURITY FOR FUTURE

"Turning our eyes to the future, who can doubt that these studies of the underlying elements in our government constitute the pledge

PRIZE-WINNING ORATIONS

Masterly Expositions on the Constitution Delivered by Youths Winning Awards in National Contests

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A remarkable grasp of the fundamentals of American government as embodied in the Constitution was displayed by the seven youths taking part in the Grand Finals of the National Oratorical Contest here tonight.

Especially masterly in their expositions of constitutional principles were the orations of the winners of the first three prizes: Robert Sessions of Birmingham, Ala., Eugene F. McElmeel of Los Angeles, and Max N. Kroloff of Sioux City, Iowa.

FIRST PRIZE ORATION

The oration of Robert Sessions of Birmingham, Ala., Southern Zone champion, on "The Constitution," which won for him first place, follows:

On Chestnut street in Philadelphia still stands the old Statehouse, for better known as Independence Hall. Here, in May, 1787, came the delegates to the Federal convention, the men who were to "fill history with their deeds and the earth with their renown." Four months thereafter their work was done. They had framed the Constitution of the United States of America. In the words of Fisk "it was a colossal work, the results of which were most powerfully to affect the whole future career of the human race so long as it shall dwell upon the face of the earth."

There are many interesting phases of the Constitution which may be passed over in order that we may consider within the time allowed, the primary purpose of the fathers in framing the wonderful document.

The purpose as a whole is set forth in six clauses of the preamble, but it is only of the last that I shall speak—namely—"to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

DISTINCTION DRAWN

In considering this part of the founders' purpose we shall never lose sight of the fact that they drew a broad and vital distinction between liberty and license. They aimed at government without despotism and liberty without anarchy. Rational liberty was what they wanted—that liberty tempered by self-restraint. To them the despotism of democracy was no better than the despotism of an oligarchy. The tyranny of the majority was as much to be dreaded as the tyranny of a monarch. They aimed to protect the minority as well as the majority.

Accordingly they set up for us, not what is sometimes referred to as a pure democracy, but on the contrary, a responsible, representative government designed to guarantee the greatest possible amount of individual liberty consistent with the interests of society.

It should be known, first of all, audience that the contest was a close tie between Sessions and McElmeel. McElmeel, who has a slight limp, made up for it in the clarity of his diction and the force of his delivery. When both these contestants had finished it was hard for the audience to believe that these two, one from the South and the other from the West, could be far down on the list of winners. And the audience and the judges of the contest agreed perfectly.

Those who listened in on the radio, in addition to the thousands who visited the scene, must have raised the number participating to many thousands additional, and could the applause which greeted the leading orators in their home sections have been concentrated the roar would have been overwhelming.

Sessions, the winner, was the youngest of the seven taking part in the contest, being only 15 years of age. McElmeel is 16, while Kroloff is 17, as are Stannell and Glatfelter. The two girls taking part are yoth 16 years of age.

SCOPE OF CONTEST

Some conception of the greatness of this contest is given in the fact that the approximate number of participants throughout the country in the contests leading up to the grand finals tonight was 1,400,000. There were 16,216 schools entered. The total amount of awards in the whole contest was $46,450, and the number of publications throughout the country supporting this nation-wide contest were 1120 in number.

This remarkable contest for preservation of the respect and support of the fundamental law of the United States was financed by the following papers of the United States:

Washington Star, Syracuse Post-Standard, Birmingham Age-Herald, Los Angeles Times, Chicago Daily News, Philadelphia Bulletin, Des Moines Capital, Detroit News, Indianapolis News, Brooklyn Daily Eagle, Atlanta Constitution, Montgomery Journal, Mobile News-Item, Nashville Tennessean, New Orleans Item, St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Kansas City Star, Mobile Register, New Orleans Tribune, Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, Buffalo Express, Oklahoma City Oklahoman, Richmond Times-Dispatch, Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch, Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, Hartford Courant and Columbia State.

The first seven newspapers listed in the preceding paragraph are the ones whose representatives competed in the grand finals.

that there are certain natural rights of the individual—such, for example, as those relating to life and liberty, trial by jury, religious freedom, the ownership of property—and many others—the heart and core of the Declaration of Independence, itself, the recognized birthrights of every man since the days of Magna Charta. These have been woven into the very fabric of the Constitution and held inviolate against all the powers of government.

CHECKS ON POWER

Moreover, there is a further protection of liberty guaranteed through an effective system of Constitutional restraints, commonly known as checks and balances. These are designed to restrain the exercise of arbitrary power or irresponsible authority. For instance, there is the division of government into the three well-known departments, "each being prohibited from exercising any authority held by any of the others."

There is the difficulty of amending the Constitution, a matter which rests solely with the sovereign people themselves. There is the fearless, independent, Federal judiciary, itself a mighty guardian of liberty, headed by the Supreme Court, a body which Bryce says "is not to be deemed so much a third authority in the government as the living voice of the Constitution, the unfolder of the mind of the people whose will stands expressed in that supreme instrument."

These are a few of the many Constitutional checks against the abuse of power, which, taken along with the actual incorporation into the Constitution itself of certain natural rights of the individual, constitute for us our rock of defense, the bulwark of safety for the liberty of every individual. Such was the primary aim of the founders of our government.

SHIP SAILING ON

It is nearly a century ago since Lord Macaulay, arguing against the stability of republics, said: "As for America, we appeal to the twentieth century." Ladies and gentlemen, in all the splendor of its achievement the twentieth century is here—and the old Ship of State is proudly sailing on. The Constitution went into effect 136 years ago, during which time there has surely been enough to test its fiber. Since that time this country has passed through the fires of a Civil War and established once for all the fact that this is a union of States, "one and inseparable." The thirteen States, with a population of 3,500,000 have grown to forty-eight States with a population of more than 100,000,000. In the World War we loaned the Allies more than $10,000,000,000, raised 4,000,000 troops on this side, 2,000,000 of whom went across to fight Germany on French soil in defense of liberty for all the nations of the world.

Yet the Constitution as it stands today, though it has been molded by judicial interpretation and broadened by usage and amendments, to keep pace with the step of a mighty growing nation—is the same Constitution in its sacred guarantee of individual liberty.

This heritage of liberty safeguarded and bequeathed in trust to us by the fathers of '76—what shall we of this generation do with it? The answer is clear. We must pass the priceless treasure on, unshackled and secure, to the next generation. The challenge is to you and me and everyone who loves this country and enjoys the "blessings of liberty" under the American flag.

Soon after the adoption of the Constitution, and before it went into effect, Washington, in a letter to LaFayette, wrote these significant words: "The government can never be in danger of degenerating into a monarchy, an oligarchy, an aristocracy or any other despotic or oppressive form, so long as there shall remain any virtue in the body of the people." Ladies and gentlemen, the words of Washington clearly point the way to this task before us. We must maintain virtue in the body of the people.

IMMIGRANT PROBLEM

For one thing, we must face with courage, good temper, and common sense that question touching the assimilation of the foreign element of our population. No doubt the laws should be better regulated and our efforts at assimilation more intelligent and efficient. We would not be misunderstood. To all those who would come from other lands to help us preserve the fundamentals of our government and make this a better country in which to live we would extend the heartiest welcome; but we should never yield the right to be judge of standards. We would have the world know that the mere coming to this country entails a solemn obligation and it is ours to see that the obligation is met.

Again, we should further the popular means of increasing interest in and reverence for the Constitution of our country, so that it will be reverenced no longer as an abstraction, but as a vital thing, understood and valued. Beginning in the home and public schools of the land we should instill greater respect for law and order, which is not blind acceptance of arbitrary control, but willing obedience to what is right and reasonable. We should educate the masses in the duties of good citizenship, in a better understanding and appreciation of the spirit of the American government, in the broader meanings of patriotism and a stronger devotion to the flag and the glorious things for which it stands.

Let there be virtue in the body of the people, and we shall hand down to "our posterity" those "blessings of liberty," bought with the blood of the patriots of old, and preserved by the fathers in the finest example of free government the world has ever known.

SECOND PRIZE ORATION

The oration of Eugene F. McElmeel, of Loyola College, Los Angeles, Pacific Zone champion, on "John Marshall and the Constitution," which won for him second place, follows:

Our beloved country seems to have been favored by a special Providence in the selection of the men who have guided its destiny in great crises. The fine idealism and lofty character of Washington inspired the confidence and courage, and induced the willing sacrifices, necessary to sustain the long and desperate struggle for national liberty; the simple faith and gentle patience of Lincoln guided the country through confusion of counsel and diversity of purpose, in a bitter fratricidal war, to the goal of a final victory for unity and freedom; in the momentous struggle to achieve a definite national character and secure the stability of its institutions, the nation had at its service, for thirty-four years, in the high office where his special talents were of paramount and permanent value, the incomparable mental endowments, the clear conception of sound political development, the commanding will and unyielding courage of Chief Justice John Marshall. This great, this gifted, man, belongs in that illustrious group of immortals, whose names are enshrined in the hearts of the American people in grateful remembrance of the services they have rendered in the cause of freedom; he deserves to stand, by right of his ability, and of the supreme worth of his contribution to his country's vital needs and interests, in the very foremost rank of the founders of the nation.

CONFLICTING THEORIES

When in 1789, the new government established by the Constitution, was launched, there were in the nation two conflicting theories as to the nature of the institution that had been formed: one, that of a strong, central government, sovereign and independent, acting directly on the citizens; the other, that of a weak, confederated league, acting only on and through the States. The supporters of the former theory held that there had been created in the new government a supreme authority, having power, within its sphere, to control the action of the States; the advocates of the latter theory contended that the States were still sovereign, and could accept or reject at will a law of the national government, or withdraw from the Union altogether if they chose. It was Marshall's imperishable achievement to establish correct principles of national development, on which there has been erected a government that has functioned with truly marvelous efficiency under the most diverse political, geographical and economic conditions.

Marshall's purpose, as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the nation, was to give to the government the character which he believed its founders intended, and sound principles of jurisprudence required. Only in this way, he perceived, could the government maintain its authority at home and its prestige abroad, and thereby render a genuine service to the people. To achieve this result, he sought three things: the stabilization of the business structure of the country through the principle of the inviolability of contracts; the independence and supremacy of the central government; and the establishment of the national judiciary as the unifying and steadying force in the nation.

These vital objects were attained through a series of forty-four masterly decisions, written or inspired by the great Chief Justice. He secured the stability of business by invoking the principle of legislative good faith in respect to private contracts and public grants. He gave the Supreme Court its unique place in our governmental structure by boldly asserting its exclusive right to interpret the Constitution and the laws. He established the supremacy of the central government when he declared that the Constitution did not create a mere league of sovereign States, but was a fundamental law, ordained by the people of the United States. That its adoption brought into existence a nation, not a federation; that it was not created by Congress, or the executive, or the States, and did not belong to them, or any of them, but it did belong to the people for they created it, and in their name and by their authority he would declare its independence and assert its power.

STRONG FOUNDATION

Marshall's claim to pre-eminence as statesman and jurist will therefore rest upon his clear conception of the Constitution as the safeguard of the people's freedom, and of a strong central government, of independent authority, as the appropriate instrument to preserve its essential principles. Upon these principles as a foundation, the American people have builded a political structure, strong, symmetrical, enduring. No other country in the world today holds a place so secure, so honored, so confident of its power to achieve a glorious destiny, as ours. America stands everywhere for freedom and progress and peace. She has preserved and expanded the liberties of her citizens, and has proved to the world the worth, the dignity and the stability of government by the people. And she offers today, as she has offered from the beginning, the freest and fullest opportunities for the development of all that is best and noblest in human institutions and human life.

Yet there are men and women now living under the protection of the flag, and sharing in the blessings of its freedom and its peace, who seek not to preserve, but to destroy, the Constitution. Such as these understand neither American aspirations nor American ideals. They do not hold at their full worth those precious principles which are the fruit of a thousand years' struggle for human rights. They have never caught the spirit of the bold barons of Runnymede or of the ragged heroes of Valley Forge, Yorktown and Saratoga. They have never marched in the vanguard of liberty along the steep and rugged highway of freedom, of which Magna Charta, the Bill of Rights and the Immortal Declaration are the mighty mile posts. They forget that the American ideal is government with order, liberty regulated and protected by law; and they challenge a watchful and intelligent citizenship to forever defend, with the spirit and courage of John Marshall, these great principles of our orderly freedom. Let no impious hands profane the American Ark of the Covenant; let only true patriots stand sentinel at the gates, lest traitors, masquerading under the banners of reform, be allowed to pass in and destroy the American Temple of Freedom.

To these insidious forces of evil let America oppose, under God, the powerful forces of justice and truth, of honor and courage, of loyalty and patriotism, and these will forever preserve a nation that represents a new spirit, a new faith, a new hope, for mankind. For in thus maintaining the principles of our Constitution, and defending our heritage of freedom, we honor the memory of those devoted men who nobly dared to demand these liberties for themselves, and then wrought to preserve and transmit them unimpaired to posterity. We honor the names of Washington and Hamilton, Adams and Madison, Jefferson and Franklin, heroes and patriots, the truest treasures of the nation; and high among them all we place the name of John Marshall, whose surpassing genius lives again in the very spirit of our nationality; whose priceless contribution to his country was to infuse into its government the elements of vitality and permanence; and who reared his own enduring monument when he builded that splendid structure of national unity, national stability and national power.

THIRD PRIZE ORATION

The oration of Max N. Kroloff, of Sioux City, Iowa, Central Zone Champion, on "The Constitution," which won for him third place, follows:

On the fourth day of March, President Coolidge was officially installed as the thirtieth Chief Executive of America. At that time the administrative policies and legislative programs for the next four years were outlined. The membership of the Congress was materially changed. But the American government functioned on the morrow as it had on the day before. And we, the American citizenry, with little thought as to the significance of the event, maintained and continued to enjoy our individual rights of freedom in thought, religion, action and speech; and our national security, unity and prosperity under the protection of the American Constitution.

So, at this time, when our government swings into a new cycle of operation; at this time when seemingly we are too prone to accept the privileges and protection of Americans and regard too lightly the consequent duties and responsibilities of American citizens; it is well that we contemplate and appreciate that document which is the foundation stone of our governmental existence.

We sometimes forget that conditions were not always as they are. Before the American government came into being, there prevailed the theory that all sovereignty rested in the monarch. The king was all-powerful — his subjects were pawns to be moved at his pleasure.

RESTLESS TIME

Gradually, however, there spread over Europe a restlessness, an unseen spirit of dissatisfaction. Men began to think. Dreamers pictured vague and fantastic worlds where all men were equals; cynics loosed pointed tongues against the flagrant oppression of the royalty; philosophers sought and disseminated at every opportunity the newly conceived truths of individual rights and liberty.

This feeling and philosophy found its way to America. The colonists, with their desire for freedom aggravated under the tyrannical rule of the English monarch, crystallized this feeling and justified their act in the Declaration of Independence. Through it they revolutionized the entire theory of government. For the first time it was officially recognized that men have certain unalienable rights, and that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their powers from the consent of the governed. Before this epic-making document, men were the tools of government. After this epic-making document, men were men, and government their instrument.

But such a declaration, significant as it was, was not, in itself, sufficient to assure men their rights. There remained the great problem of instituting a government strong enough to guarantee these rights, yet one which would not assume monarchial powers. The Continental Congress proved a miserable failure. The public debt grew large. Foreign countries refused additional loans. Commerce among the colonies was impossible. The American soldiers were ill-clothed and starving. Rumblings of dissatisfaction arose from every public discussion, and the colonies were on the brink of anarchy.

With such conditions prevailing, amid demands for a strong State government from some, for a strong central government from others, it was a brave group of men indeed, who assembled in that Philadelphia convention hall.

There was Gen. Washington, the most loved man of the colonies and chairman of the convention; Benjamin Franklin, the colonial wiseacre, grown old in public service; Alexander Hamilton, with his keen logic and youthful fire; James Wilson, Edmond Randolph, James Madison and others. Wise, Experienced. Framers of the Declaration of Independence. Lovers of peace, but holding a greater love for individual rights and freedom. With them also was the spirit of all the liberty-loving peoples before them. The Bill of Rights, the Magna Charta, the dreams of Rousseau, the cynicism of Voltaire and the practical statement of political principles by Montesquieu, became their guiding influences. Though their task was difficult, they persevered. After debates and deliberations, they formulated and gave the American people the most idealistic, human, yet practical document that the mind has ever conceived — the American Constitution.

MODEL FOR WORLD

The American Constitution recognized that governments derive their power from the consent of the governed. It permitted each man to do as he wished in so far as he did not encroach upon the similar right of his fellows. By frequent elections, this government was to be ever responsible to the will of the people. By an ingeniously conceived system of checks and balances, unlimited power was given the public servant who promised good for the common welfare, and innumerable checks were placed upon the one who attempted to use his position for selfish ends. Thus it constructed a government, conservative and stable, guaranteeing the utmost in individual freedom, and responsible responsive to the will of the majority.

It is the model for all the world. It reaches back, past the revolutions of France, the monarchies of Germany and Russia, the tyrannies of England and Spain, and comes down to us today, having outlived them all, strengthened through their failures, and standing out as our guarantor of justice, equality, freedom and democracy.

But hold. As we rejoice in the glorious history of the American nation; as we proudly perceive the foremost rank it holds today; let us remember that our Constitution — our government, is not miraculous in its working. It will be strong only so long as the American citizens are strong. Can it be that we today hold lightly that fundamental rules of the majority? They tell us that we are lax in the performance of our citizenship. Can it be that we have enjoyed liberty so long and so cheaply that we do not appreciate it? They tell us that our courts are unjust and that our children are enslaved for profit. Can it be that we need a new declaration of equality, freedom and independence? Many tell us such is the case. If it is so, let us arouse a righteous anger. Let us uproot such insiduous evils. Do so by applying the liberty and freedom assuring spirit of our Constitution. Its magnificent principles will solve our modern-day problems as it has solved our problems in the past. And in applying these ideals of freedom in speech and religion, individual liberty and equality, and collective justice — in transforming such ideals into actualities, we shall carry out that for which America was destined. America — the ideal, the reality — declared by Jeffersons and Franklins, defended by Washingtons, strengthened by Websters and Marshalls, preserved by Lincolns, and whose future rests secure in the American Constitution.

of security for those institutions in all the years to come?"

Recalling that he had delivered an address when a similar contest was held here a year ago, the President reminded his hearers that he had observed then that "there never was a time when our institutions were so universally being subjected to intimate scrutiny and close considerations as they are today.

"I urged then the special importance of closely studying our institutions in order that the people might be equipped intelligently to defend them," the President continued.

"Within the year since the last occasion similar to this the voting millions of the nation have given their thought and judgment upon the same set of questions which this million and a half of young people have been considering in the preliminaries to this contest. Who shall venture to say how great a part these student contests had in preparing the public mind to give the verdict which was pronounced by the voters last autumn?"

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The full text of the President's address follows:

"We are gathered this evening to signalize our approval and attest our interest in what has been, I presume, the greatest competition of its kind ever held in the world. The essential part of the program here will be the delivery of seven addresses on the Constitution of the United States. They will be delivered by their authors, students in high schools, or private or parochial schools of like grade, throughout the country. The contest originated in the patriotic enterprise of a group of great newspapers, each paper assuming the leadership in organizing competitions, local and regional in its own territory. The winners in the local contests met later in regional ones, the series of them completely covering the nation. The seven who are to speak here tonight are the final survivors of this process of elimination, candidates for the highest national honors.

"I was amazed to learn, as I am sure my hearers will be, how many students have participated in these contests. Last year was the first competition on a nation-wide scale, and no less than 500,000 addresses were prepared and delivered. This year the number has increased to the well-nigh unbelievable figure of 1,400,000. It is certainly a splendid demonstration of the efficiency of our educational system; of the interest that has been inspired in the study of our country's institutions, and of the zealous effort that has been put forth by those who have organized and directed the contests.

GRATIFYING RESPONSE

"It must be a matter of gratification and of profound assurance to every lover of our institutions that so universal response should have been evoked by the invitation to participate in this striking effort. We extend, of course, our first congratulations to these seven young men and women who have survived to the last lap of the race. But in truth, their achievement, though it has brought so much distinction to them as individuals, is unimportant when contrasted with the big and pregnant fact that near 1,500,000 of their fellows back at home have participated in the serious studies, the work of preparation and self-education, preparatory to this event. Speaking on this same occasion a year ago, I observed that 'there never was a time when our institutions were so universally being subjected to intimate scrutiny and close consideration as they are today.' I urged the special importance of closely studying our institutions in order that the people might be equipped intelligently to defend them. Such a suggestion was advanced. We have literally taken a national referendum on the subject of our constitutional system, and I am glad to be able to report to you that the verdict was overwhelmingly in favor of sustaining that system and of our guarantor of justice, equality, freedom and democracy.

But hold. As we rejoice in the glorious history of the American nation; as we proudly perceive the foremost rank it holds today; let us remember that our Constitution — our government, is not miraculous in its working. It will be strong only so long as the American citizens are strong. Can it be that we today hold lightly that fundamental rules of the majority? STUDY OF ESSENTIALS

"Within the year since the last occasion similar to this, the voting millions of the nation have given their thought and judgment upon the same set of questions which this million and a half of young people have been considering in the preliminaries to this contest. Looking back upon that nation-wide reconsideration of our social fundamentals, think we are under obligation to acknowledge a debt to those who organized this series of annual competitions. For, by what they did, they turned the thoughts, not only of the great student body, but millions of parents and teachers and mentors, to study of the prime essentials, the spiritual and institutional foundations of this nation. Who shall venture to say how great a part these student contests had in preparing the public mind to give the verdict which was pronounced by the voters last autumn? And, turning our eyes to the future, who can doubt that these studies of the underlying elements in our government, constitute a pledge of security for those institutions in all the years to come?

"There is another reason why we should be rejoiced that these young people of today, who will be the citizens of tomorrow, should thus have had their thoughts directed to the basic things which concern the framing of society. Our nation has a weighty responsibility, not only for maintaining its own welfare, liberties and power, but for the utmost possible contribution toward organizing the nations and peoples in the aspirations and the ways of peace.

"Here is a field for institutional development to which the thoughts of men and women everywhere are turned as they never were before. Though their scale is greater, yet the problems in this realm of the world organization are essentially the same as those to which mankind has been addressing itself from the beginnings of society. These are the problems of assuring justice alike to weak and strong; assuring peace with honor, on enthroning conscience in places of authority too long usurped by mere force. The same humanity that has been able to erect the rule of law and liberty on the scale of great nations and mighty federations, will at last find institutions by which to place international relations upon the same sure foundations.

"Perhaps the inspiration to leadership in such work of world statesmanship may be born in some of these young men and women, because of their studies that lie in the background of this occasion. It is none too great a hope to entertain of so worthy an enterprise. But whether or not such a fruition be possible, we can at least be sure that the thought and effort which find their culmination here have been devoted to a noble and generous purpose. They have aimed to raise the standard of civic usefulness and individual equipment for the greatest duties that will be imposed upon men and women in the generations that lie before us."

CITY TO SEE FIRST PRIZE BOY ORATOR

Robert Sessions Coming to Attend College Finals in Los Angeles in June

Robert Sessions, winner of the national championship in high-school oratory at the finals in the constitutional oratorical contest, conducted in Washington last night, will come to Los Angeles on June 5 to be present at the national finals in the intercollegiate oratorical contest to take place here on that date.

This information was wired to The Times by Randolph Leigh, national director of the high-school contest, immediately after the awards at the Washington meeting had been announced. During his stay here, the young man will be the guest of the Better America Federation, which is sponsoring the Intercollegiate contest.

At the meeting in Los Angeles, Sessions, who is only 15 years of age and a student in the Birmingham (Ala.) High School, will have a chance to compare college oratory with that of the high schools.

Nearly every institution of college rank in the United States has participated in the intercollegiate contest on the Constitution, and the seven contestants who will appear at the finals represent the highest oratorical ability to be found in the colleges and universities in the seven different regions from which they hail.

ARGUMENTS HEARD IN OIL TRADE SUIT

Government Holds That "Cracking Process" Pacts Constitute Restraint

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, May 8.—Arguments before a special expediting court to determine whether the government had a right to attack "cracking process" patents in its suit against fifty-one oil companies accused of acting in restraint of trade were completed today.

The matter was taken under advisement by Federal Judges Evan Evans, A. B. Anderson and George T. Page, who formed the court.

Abrams Myers, special Assistant Attorney-General, contended that in making seventy-nine contracts under the "cracking process" patents, the companies involved had overstepped license granted by the patents and had formed a combination which was acting in restraint of trade.

The defense urged that the government had no right in this specific instance to attack the patents, and stated that the accused companies had kept fully within their rights.

BRITISH IRON HAND READY TO HIT REDS

Authorities Prepared for Swift Action to Suppress Bolshevik Plotters

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 8. — The British authorities are now ready to deal with the Bolsheviats. The Home Secretary has completed his inquiries into the Bolshevik activity in England and is prepared to take swift action against revolutionary plotters should the government authorize. Conferences have been held daily between the Home Office and a special branch of Scotland Yard detectives, one of the results of which have been the detectives closely watching all known Bolshevik propagandists in England, their history being tabulated and their daily movements noted.

It is declared that about 700 Bolshevik plotters are in England and Scotland spreading discontent and disorder. It is believed that considerable headway in the spread of propaganda has resulted from the diplomatic immunity granted the soviet diplomatic and trade delegations by the late MacDonald government.

nations are in earnest about armament. I hope I am.

Mr. Butler said the maneuvers had in no way changed his views as to fortifying the islands, because "all I know about the maneuvers is what I read in the press."

"I know nothing," he said, "about what the Navies intend to do at Singapore. The city has not entered any such plan, and always have built by private capital.

"The committee is going to the islands because I asked them to go. I made this request last winter. I want the committee to see for themselves what is needed and the way to prepare for it."

ENLARGE NAVY

"For some time it has been my opinion that the Pearl Harbor fortifications needed more protection. I want the islands to be the strongest military outpost in the world. I would build a new harbor to make it impregnable. The harbor should be made to hold the whole Pacific Fleet, and it should have sufficient submarine, aircraft equipment and coast defenses to keep an attacking fleet away.

"Then, if a hostile fleet should reach the islands, it will be met by the entire fleet at Hawaii and the entire fleet on the Coast. Many years ago Admiral Dewey told me no fleet would ever attack our Pacific Coast without first capturing Hawaii. This statement made a big impression on me. Many military men have told me the same thing time and time have told me the same thing.

"If there ever should be an armed contest in the Pacific I want it confined to Pearl Harbor and kept away from our coast. Pearl Harbor should be brought to the attention of Congress and we will stop spending money on scattered naval bases."

RANK ISSUE IS MET

Mr. Butler also indicated that the Naval Committee was confronted in the same connection with the necessity of taking action to settle the disputed question of line and staff officers of the Navy over the question of rank.

"The question has also presented itself to me," he continued, "as to the advisability of the Naval Academy at Annapolis as a university. The Navy has its own ships and makes practically all of its own materials, and I am wondering if it should not have its staff as well as its line officers.

"Some officers agree with me and some do not."

application of prohibition to foreign ports will defeat the object of the conference and ruin one of the most worthy efforts for peace and disarmament, which seek to prevent the spread of armaments and manufacturers. If legitimate production is made difficult, it is said, then world armament will decrease inevitably, for there is no demand for two weeks have remained undisturbed. The horse will than any of the other countries immediately will be benefited by the manufacture of arms.

Rumania, going much further, has filed an amendment to the proposals eliminating entirely from the convention the article providing for the export of arms under license. Rumania contends fundamentally for prohibition, declaring that all countries should maintain their inalienable rights and require war material for defense and the maintenance of internal order.

The proceedings of the conference today also brought forth apprehensions of some delegates that the blow at their sovereignty served to show their hands on that score.

BRITISH TAX LAW TESTED BY WHITNEY

American Sportsmen Who Has Never Been in Britain Disputes Levy on Stock

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 8. — The question of whether an American who has not been in England is liable for the British income tax and supertax came before the House of Lords yesterday when Harry Payne Whitney, New York sportsman, appealed against the decision of the lower courts that he must pay the assessments.

Sir John Simon, Mr. Whitney's counsel, said he brought before the House of Lords for the first time the important question of whether the commissioners could lawfully cause him to be served by post in New York. Sir John said Mr. Whitney never had been in England, but he and his wife owned shares in a British company and the assessments were made with respect to the dividends of this company, which Mr. Whitney refused to pay.

The amounts involved are $450,000 each for the years of 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921.

Chinese Posts Will Entertain Legion Visitors

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SHANGHAI, May 8.—Members of the Shanghai American Legion post are making extensive plans for the reception of American Legion delegates who are expected here this month en route to Manila. Civic bodies here are joining with local legionnaires in the preparations. Maj. Arthur Bassett, commander of the Shanghai post, has been appointed to head a committee which will receive the visitors from America.

At a meeting held at the United States Court for China, plans for the formation of five additional American Legion posts in China were discussed. It is expected the organizations will be completed within the next few months. The matter was proposed by the post at Hangchow.

The following officers for the Shanghai post were elected for the ensuing year: Maj. Arthur Basset, commander; Sidney A. Moss, vice-commander; Benjamin Watson, adjutant; R. B. Cauvin, treasurer; Capt. W. I. Eisler of the United States Shipping Board, service officer and Leonard G. Husar, sergeant-at-arms.

SISKIYOU MURDERER PAYS DEATH PENALTY

ERNO GOES TO DEATH WITH SMILE FOR SLAYING OF MOUNTAIN RANCHER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN QUENTIN, May 8.—Ronald Charles Erno, Siskiyou county murderer, was hanged in the State prison here today. The trap dropped at 10:02 a.m. and he was pronounced dead fourteen minutes later.

Erno mounted the gallows with a smile, and peered about among the thirteen spectators as though looking for a familiar face. He was accompanied to the trap by Rev. Father J. McLaughlin of the Catholic Church in San Rafael. Among the spectators was George M. Skeen, brother of the murdered man, and Sheriff A. S. Calkins of Siskiyou county. Erno spent most of yesterday reading passages from the Scriptures.

The body was taken over by his mother, Mrs. Mary Dondino of Ontario.

Ronald Charles Erno, 25 years of age, and William Hard, were convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of Fred Skeen, a rancher of Sam's Neck, an isolated point in Siskiyou county on the night of October 31, 1923. Erno and Hard were on a camping trip at the time and had obtained work on the Skeen ranch.

The shooting of Skeen occurred during a card game participated in by the rancher and Erno and Hard. After the murder Erno and Hard took an automobile belonging to Skeen and escaped from the scene. They were captured in Los Angeles.

BOLSHEVISTS HONOR MARCONI OF RUSSIA

SOVIET AUTHORITIES ASSERT PROF. POPOFF WAS REAL INVENTOR OF RADIO

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LENINGRAD (Russia) May 8.—Ceremonies were held throughout Russia yesterday in honor of the memory of Prof. Alexander Popoff of the Electro-Technical Institute, who, according to soviet claims, was the real discoverer of wireless telegraphy.

In 1895, two years before Marconi demonstrated his apparatus, the Russians say, Prof. Popoff received radio signals through a thick concrete wall and later established successful wireless contact between St. Petersburg, now Leningrad, and a station in the Gulf of Finland.

His first practical test, according to local records, was carried out in 1899 when during a heavy storm at sea he received a distress call from a steamer, with the consequence that many lives were saved. His subsequent labors, according to the soviet historians, received but scant recognition from the imperial government, and he died in poverty in 1905.

WILBUR DENIES TANKS DAMAGED

Says Naval Oil Equipment Corrosion Slight

Secretary Asserts Course Guided by Counsel

No Action Likely Before Litigation Settled

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Damage from corrosion to the empty oil tanks constructed for the Navy at Pearl Harbor by the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, has not reached serious proportions, Secretary Wilbur said today and probably won't before the courts have determined the legality of the contract under which they were built.

Only the bottoms of the tanks are subject to rust, Mr. Wilbur stated, and the corrosion so far has affected only one-tenth of the thickness, whereas a loss of 25 per cent could be sustained before the corrosion became serious.

GUIDED BY COUNSEL

The department has had the situation under consideration for a long time, he declared, reiterating that its course with respect to Edward L. Doheny's proposal for filling the tanks with oil had been guided solely by the advice of Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, special government counsel in the oil litigation.

The latter did not wish any step to be taken which might prejudice the case now before the Federal court in Los Angeles bearing upon the legality of the contract for constructing and filling the tanks. Mr. Wilbur said it was hoped to have a decision in this case within a month, after which an administrative problem would be an entirely different one, even if an appeal is taken.

COULD AVERT CORROSION

Further corrosion could be prevented, he asserted, by cleaning and scraping the bottoms at a cost of about $10,000 and then putting in a small amount of oil. Filling the tanks completely with several million dollars worth of oil, he said, is not necessary.

This course could be taken, it is held by naval officers, by the Doheny company itself, but government counsel appeared to hold that for the government to do so might be construed as an acceptance of the contract, the legality of which is being contested in the courts.

Mr. Wilbur declined to comment upon a statement that the government had thrown itself open to such a construction by having one of the tanks at issue filled with oil for operation purposes. He said he did not have information on that point at hand to qualify him to discuss the point.

From a report submitted to him today, Mr. Wilbur said corrosion on the bottoms of the group of eighteen empty tanks at Pearl Harbor had eaten away one-fortieth of an inch where the bottoms are one-fourth of an inch thick.

The value of the entire plant of forty-eight tanks and appurtances filled with petroleum products is placed at $16,000,000 and without the petroleum products at $8,000,000. The bottoms of the empty tanks, subject to corrosion, are valued at $232,000.

LINER GOES ON REEF OFF NOVA SCOTIA

Danish Ship on Way to Montreal from New York; No Passengers Aboard

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8.—The Danish steamer Hans Jensen went on the rocks, four miles west of Whitehead, Nova Scotia, tonight, according to radio reports received by the East Hampton station of the Independent Wireless Corporation. Distress signals were broadcast by the steamer.

The first SOS signal was heard at 9 o'clock and all broadcasting was stopped. Whitehead is a jutting point on the Nova Scotia coast, which is the first land seen by ships going to Nova Scotia from Europe.

The Hans Jensen is a steamer of 2533 net tons, owned by Albert Jensen. She sailed from New York for Montreal the 5th inst., in ballast. No passengers were aboard.

Famine Stalks in China Area; Millions Die

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 8.—Hundreds of Chinese are dead and millions dying from starvation in Kwelchow Province, China, according to a dispatch to the Daily Express. The roads are covered with the dead and dying, and families struggling forward to the towns drop off one by one from exhaustion. The leaves and bark have been stripped from the trees and many are now living on grass or human flesh.

The foreign missionaries are doing their utmost, but as the rice crop has not been harvested it is impossible to relieve the entire district.

The money of the Provincial Treasury has been exhausted. The famine area includes sixty districts.

OAKLAND, May 8.—A marriage license for Philip B. Bradford, believed to be the son of Hugh Bradford, former District Attorney of Sacramento county, and Mrs. Hugh Bradford, president of the State Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations, and Evelyn Graham, 510 Eleventh street, Sacramento, was issued here yesterday. The records of the court of Police Judge Edward J. Tyrrel show that the couple were married by him yesterday.

FLEET ATTACKS NEW ENEMY

Maneuvers Resumed by Entire Armada With Sortie From Honolulu Harbor

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HONOLULU, May 8.—The grand fleet resumed today its practice maneuvers after a slight cessation following the battle of Oahu, the entire armada performing in what is technically known as a sortie, the meeting of a theoretical enemy and putting it out of action.

The sortie was made from Honolulu harbor beginning at dawn. After the mine sweepers had cleared the fleet's path the light-cruiser divisions took up positions far in advance of the main body, acting as scouts.

ENEMY IS SIGHTED

While cruising in this formation the scouts reported the enemy at a 40-degree angle from the fleet's course. The entire calvacade executed a 40-degree turn—virtually simultaneously performing one of the most difficult known navigation feats, swinging into line as though strung on a string which was pulled from the flagship Seattle.

Later the cruisers, destroyers and battleships, the striking arms, maneuvered so as to place themselves between the theoretical enemy and the fleet train. Meanwhile thirty-two airplanes, some from Pearl Harbor, others from the airplane carrier Langley, the Navy's "covered wagon," which was far in the rear of the main body, circled overhead hunting the "enemy."

Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief, from the bridge of the Seattle, directed the main maneuvers.

The sight of the entire fleet, comprising approximately 150 ships, was an inspiring one. The entire sea from horizon to horizon was one vast forest of masts.

RADIO IS SILENCED

As varicolored and multidesigned signal flags fluttered upward on the halyards of the flagship's yard arm the entire forest changed complexion time and time again as each ship in turn caught the signal and relayed it to the next one by signal flags.

The sortie and entire maneuver were conducted under simulated war conditions, radio silence being imposed from the time of departure from Honolulu until the conclusion late this afternoon. Darkened ship ruled tonight, while the destroyers, which left the main body after the maneuvers, plan to discover and attack the fleet some time before midnight.

Despite the difficulty and danger entailed in the maneuvers, the fleet commanders triumphed over constant threats of accident and the "action" concluded without mishap.

"INFANTORIUM" QUIZ OPENS

New York Police Investigate Substitution Charges and Fatal Neglect of Babies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Twenty-two tiny inmates of Mrs. Helen A. Geisen-Volk's "infantorium" here died there since January, 1924. The latest, a boy about 10 months of age, taken from the place yesterday by police, died this morning in Metropolitan Hospital from a chronic disease aggravated by malnutrition to the point of starvation.

Fourteen other infants and five older children found in the house by agents who investigated the charges of a nurse that children were substituted for others and that a dozen had starved to death in one month are in the Children's Society Home. One is likely to die. Several show evidence of malnutrition.

Five of the children taken to the Children's Society are said to be suffering from a mouth infection, presumably contracted from the nameless infant that died this morning.

Mrs. Geisen-Volk, held in $35,000 bond, is silent about the charges she faces, but the District Attorney, receiving information from a dozen sources, has assigned Asst. Dist.-Atty. Ryan to collaborate with Asst. Dist.-Atty. White in the investigation.

Dr. William H. Guilfoyle, registrar of the city health department, reported today, to Dist.-Atty. Banton that the records of his office show that seventeen children died in the "infantorium" in 1924, and that four others died between January and February 15.

A new system of death records has been kept since that date and the files are being searched for the entrees of later deaths.

Two months ago a Miss Hirsch, a nurse formerly employed by Mrs. Geisen-Volk, made a complaint that children left at the home, often by parents who were touring the country with theatrical companies, were substituted for sickly children, presumably for adoption, and that the ailing infants were allowed to die from malnutrition or inattention to their diseases.

She said she had informed Mrs. Irene Meroff, a Russian actress, whose husband is said to be director of a band now traveling on the Keith Circuit, that her 8-month-old daughter Luva was being allowed to die.

On receiving the information Mrs. Meroff hurried back to New York and rescued the assertedly starving baby, the nurse is said to have told the assistant District Attorney. Mrs. Meroff now lives in Philadelphia.

MAY EXPEL SOVIET ENVOY

Mexico Action to be Demanded by Unions if Red Propaganda Charges Are Proved

BY JACK STARR HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—Investigation of reports that Soviet Minister Stanislaw Pestkovsky is behind Communistic propaganda inciting radical union-labor elements in Mexico will be requested by the Regional Confederation of Mexican Labor, leading officials declared today.

If the reports are true, the officials said, the expulsion of Minister Pestkovsky from Mexico will be demanded of the Department of State. The regional body is composed of milder laborites and is the governing body of labor.

Eduardo Moneda, Mexican spokesman for labor unions affiliated with the confederation, declared today that their group will not permit interference of Bolshevik agents in the internal union problems of Mexico, even if disguised as diplomatic representatives.

Suspicion was first directed at the soviet minister and legation because of Pestkovsky's asserted activities in support of the radical labor party.

A recent statement by soviet leaders that Mexico furnishes the base for development of Bolshevik policies on the American continent called forth a vehement reply from President Calles that Mexico will not permit diplomatic representatives to promulgate Red propaganda. The President's statement was generally taken as a warning to the soviet legation to stop Communistic propaganda.

MURDER ARREST IS NEAR

Solution of Fort Wayne Double Slaying Regarded Imminent as Net Closes on Pervert Suspect

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FORT WAYNE (Ind.) May 8.—An arrest within twenty-four hours may lead to the solution of the double murder of Miss Kathryn Herbers, 25 years of age, and her fiance, Howard Fisher, 27, found shot to death in Fisher's automobile just outside the city limits, police detectives announced this evening after the second day of an investigation in which hundreds of reports and leads were run down by the detective bureau.

The possible identity of the person to be taken into custody was clothed in secrecy by the department, but all intimated that it would be found that the murderer is a moral pervert.

Evidence brought out by the Coroner's investigation completed today indicates that the murdered girl was criminally assaulted after she had been shot to death, smeared blood stains on the girl's person were taken to indicate this belief after a minute inspection of the body in a search for possible further clews.

In re-enacting the crime today, detectives showed how, in their belief, Fisher was shot twice through the head by the degenerate murderer, who may have purposely or accidentally shot and killed the girl as she struggled with him for possession of the gun. The fact that the girl was shot through the top of the head indicates the struggle, they believe.

Johnson Told to Testify in Sale of Bank

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—State Superintendent of Banks John Franklin Johnson was ordered by the Superior Court here today to appear before a notary the 19th inst., for a deposition regarding his alleged interest in the sale of the Valley Bank of Fresno to the Bank of Italy, San Francisco, and the Pacific-Southwest Bank, of Los Angeles.

Johnson is named as a defendant in a stockholders' suit to have the sale set aside on the ground that the rights of the stockholders were not properly served in the transfer.

OIL PROMOTER HELD IN ATTEMPT TO KILL GIRL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Walter Binyon, described by the police as a wealthy oil promoter of Fort Worth, Tex., was arrainged in Police Court today and held in $5000 bail for grand-jury action on a charge of attempting to kill Miss Edythe Sterling, a vaudeville actress, in the Hollywood Hotel. He also was held in $1000 bail for trial in Special Sessions for possessing firearms in violation of the Sullivan law.

NO QUARTER IN RUM ROW WAR

FIGHT TO THE FINISH

The fear exists that some of these sabotage exploits have been performed while Coast Guard vessels were at sea. Orders have been issued that no visitors shall be permitted to board vessels, at sea or ashore. This applies to those who offer food for sale.

Coast Guard officers said today that there was evidence that the rum-runners were out to kill those who attempted to interfere with their operations.

Orders to the patrol fleet, which left New York this week with the purpose of making an intensive effort to put an end to rum row are not to shoot unless necessary, but it is evident that the officers of the services intend to defend themselves against murderous bootleggers.

RUM MEN ORGANIZE TO BREAK UP BLOCKADE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 8. — The secret organization in a mass meeting of bootleggers of New York and vicinity last night, of a combative force which they hope may be able to cope with the Coast Guard's blockade which has completely cut off the imported liquor supply of this section of the country, was disclosed today.

Several of the bigger bootleggers and rum-running rings and scores of independent runners and retail and wholesale bootleggers were represented in the meeting, held in a basement hall in West Twenty-third street. So great was the attendance that an overflow meeting at a near-by address was necessary.

Full details of the plan of operation mapped out for the booze purveyors' backs-to-the-wall fight on prohibition enforcement was unascertainable today, but it was learned assessments were being levied, based on the proportions of the business of each group and individual to finance a scouting force which will operate along the coast both north and south of New York to ascertain possible new landing points. How the runners aim to pierce the dry navy's blockade to reach the landing points was not disclosed.

BLOCKADE AIR FIGHT

New York Coast Guard officials in charge of the blockading fleet, as well as leaders of the dry forces on shore, today expressed the opinion that the "sew up" of the rum fleet was practically air tight.

"My information," said R. Q. Merrick, divisional chief of prohibition agents, "leads me to believe that no liquor whatever is coming through the blockade line. We have the Long Island and New Jersey shore lines thoroughly patrolled and during the last three days there has been no evidence or report of smuggling operations."

Capt. W. V. E. Jacobs, divisional commander of the Coast Guard fleet, held to a similar view.

"The situation is unchanged," he said. "There is no chance given rum-running craft to load and so, of course, no attempt to run the blockade develops. Two fast patrol boats are dogging the movements of every liquor-laden craft on rum row or within 100 miles of either end of the row."

RUM FLEET GROWS

In the meantime rum row off the Northern New Jersey coast is growing more populous despite the effectiveness of the blockade of the Blue Navy.

Word from the scene of the Blue Navy's maneuvers was brought into port today by sailors of the first squadron to return to Clifton Harbor, Staten Island, after three days of patrol, to make repairs and restock their larders and fuel tanks.

Thirty rum ships of assorted sizes and methods of propulsion are bobbing up and down in the swell in a line thirty miles off shore, these sailors said, denying reports that the blockade has reduced the supply fleet to four vessels. The sailors would not guarantee the accuracy of their count, saying it might be exaggerated, as information about some of the vessels was obtained from seamen on other patrol boats.

The blockade has a comic-stern aspect to these sailors. They say the mosquito fleet keeps circling about the flotilla of rum ships and some of the rum skippers who enjoy a little fun are in turn maneuvering their boats in small circles about the blockaders.

On some of the rum ships, these men said, sailors sit about on deck all day smoking pipes and spinning yarns and doing no work, occasionally turning jeering faces at the crews of the alert Coast Guards cruising within a few hundred yards, their guns trained for quick action.

The Blue Navy has been favored by light seas, but some of the older vessels have developed machinery breaks, accounting for the return of thirteen of them this morning. They will return to duty as soon as possible.

Information reached the blockaders today that Federal Judge Goddard ordered the return last Wednesday to her owners of the Cigarette, the fastest boat of the rum fleet, which was seized last April 6. No liquor was found aboard her, but she was impounded while an investigation was made of mail she carried for the master of the Belgian schooner Ave Chapelle.

At the customhouse today it was reported English distillers who supply rum row are not losing money because of the blockade. Officials there were informed the distillers have clauses in the sale contracts which permit them to take possession of money on deposit in foreign banks unless shipments are unloaded by small American boats, within a scheduled period.

Customs men say they have also discovered that one system by which the captain of a rum ship knows whether he is dealing with the right purchasers is based on the serial numbers of dollar bills which have been worked into a code.

TEXAS MATRON HITS SHEPHERD

Asserts Young McClintock Expected Poisoning

Tells of Boy's Suspicions Mother Was Murdered

New Witness May Present Damaging Evidence

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 8.—A new voice today came into the case against William Darling Shepherd, held for trial without bail for the murder of his foster-son, William Nelson McClintock, who had named Shepherd as his principal legatee in his will disposing of his $1,000,000 estate. It charges:

(1.) That Billy McClintock suspected that his mother had been poisoned.

(2.) That he expected a similar fate.

(3.) That Shepherd carried with him to Bayview, Tex., where he undertook to develop Mrs. McClintock's land, a book on poisons.

The statement, as unexpected as it was startling, was contained in a letter written by Mrs. Myrtle Osborn of Houston, Tex., to Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal Court. The letter had gone astray through faulty direction. Apparently it was incomplete in that the writer promised other evidence which she did not care to include in a letter without a more complete address.

Mrs. Osborn said that she had frequently seen Billy McClintock and his mother in Chicago and that once she had been barred from their home by Shepherd, who now is awaiting trial on an indictment charging him with Billy's murder.

MURDER SUSPECTED

The letter follows:

"I was formerly Mrs. H. H. Nichols, wife of the once brilliant underwriter, Herbert H. Nichols of the Mutual of New York. Mr. Nichols was a close friend of Dr. Olson and of yourself as well. We were intimate friends of Mrs. McClintock and poor little Billie.

"Saw Billie in '20 and '21 in Chicago and he admitted to me than that he believed his mother had been poisoned and that he too was a victim, but was afraid to say anything on account of the Shepherds. Dr. Olson, my husband and myself discussed the matter and knew Mrs. McClintock was murdered.

"I have a book on poisons which he had down here in Texas while building the big home at the Bay.

"Saw Mrs. McClintock when she returned to Chicago and Shepherd shut the door on us and locked it after Mrs. McClintock had sent for us to come and see her.

"I tried to see States Attorney Sbarbaro while here but could find no way. The papers said he had gone to Dallas.

DETAILS PROMISED

"I am writing you, hoping you may get this letter. I am dangerously ill, supposed to be near death and have to go to the hospital; write me at once. My son, Herbert L. Nichols, will receive your instructions. What I know would fill many pages on this case. I cannot write many valuable facts without your address.

"I am writing this against doctor's orders. I wish you every success. I will do all I can to aid. Very sincerely,

"Mrs. Myrtle Osborn."

Judge Olson stated that immediate steps would be taken to check up on the letter which he believed to be entirely genuine.

The defense today revealed a part of the array of witnesses who will testify in the murder trial of Shepherd, starting on the 18th.

Now that the two-day interlude in which Mrs. Julia Shepherd was brought into the case is over with her release on bonds, Attorneys William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien concentrated their efforts on preparing their case against the charge that Shepherd murdered his millionaire foster-son by administration of typhoid germs.

The names of some of the defense witnesses are being kept secret; others are well-known figures who have already appeared in the case.

NEW DEFENSE WITNESS

One new witness, whose testimony is regarded as highly important, was located by the defense today, according to Attorney Stewart.

Much of the defense testimony will be in the nature of attacks on State witnesses who accuse Shepherd.

The new witness, a doctor, tells a story tending to discredit C. C. Faiman, Shepherd's chief accuser and indicted with him.

He says he was offered money and other considerations by Faiman to state that he saw Shepherd at Faiman's National School of Science, where Shepherd is alleged to have obtained the typhoid germs.

"Faiman said he couldn't trust Marchand and that he wasn't sure of White, his bodyguard," the witness is said to have told the defense attorneys.

"He said he was forcing White to identify Shepherd because he had something on him and that he was afraid White wouldn't go through with it. Faiman told me it was very important that some one beside himself should have seen Shepherd at the school and urged me to testify to that effect.

"I was at the school during the entire period that Shepherd was supposed to have visited there, and I never saw him. I know, too, that there were not any live germ cultures there."

Four other witnesses, also unnamed, will come from Minneapolis to testify regarding Faiman's character.

Ouster Suit is Filed Against Van Sweringens

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A motion asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to divest O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen and their associates of all ownership and control of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and the Hocking Valley system was filed today by counsel representing a minority of that company's stockholders.

The motion was made in connection with the contest being waged by the minority group against the Van Sweringens' Nickel Plate merger plan.

CADETS MISS DEATH IN AIRPLANE CRASH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 8.—Flying Cadets Edward McKinney and Carl England narrowly escaped death at Brooks Field on their first solo flights when the airplanes they were piloting locked wings and fell forty feet to Ytturri landing field.

Cadet McKinney was taking off from the auxiliary field and Cadet England landing when the the accident took place. England sideslipped toward McKinney's ship and the wings caught. Both planes were wrecked.

SHINGLED HAIR AFRICAN STYLE

Prince of Wales Pictures Ashanti Maid Wearing Latest Bob

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 8.—Just to prove that shingled and bobbed heads are not possessed solely by flappers and debutantes of Hyde Park, Fifth avenue and Champs Elysees, the Prince of Wales had a photograph taken in the heart of the Gold Coast of the Ashanti women. And lo! the women of the tribes are wearing the latest hairdress in a novel but effective coiffeur. The backs of the necks are shaven in approved style, while the shingle is kept severely in place with grease.

También adquirió hace poco este minero algunos valiosos fundos en el mineral de Indé Estado de Durango (Méjico).

Mueren Millones de Hambre en China

LONDRES, Mayo 8.—En la provincia de Kweichow (China), han muerto de hambre centenares de habitantes, y hay millones a orillas del sepulcro por la misma causa. Tal reza un despacho recibido por el "Daily News".

Las carreteras están cubiertas de muertos y moribundos, y uno por uno van cayendo de inanición los miembros de las familias que se han encaminado rumbo a las ciudades. Los deshambridos les han arrancado a los árboles las hojas y la corteza, y hay muchos que se están alimentando de yerba y de carne humana.

Los misioneros extranjeros están haciendo lo indecible por socorrer a la población; pero, como no se ha levantado todavía la cosecha de arroz, es imposible auxiliar a todo el distrito.

El dinero de la tesorería provincial se ha agotado. El área del hambre abraza sesenta distritos.

Mano de Hierro en Inglaterra contra los Rojos

LONDRES, Mayo 8. — Ya están listas las autoridades británicas para vérselas con los bolcheviques. El ministerio de lo Interior ha terminado la encuesta de las hazañas bolcheviques en Inglaterra, y ya está apercibido para una acción rápida contra los conspiradores revolucionarios, previa autorización del gobierno.

Se han celebrado diarias conferencias entre el ministerio de lo Interior y una división especial de Detectives de Scotland Yard, uno de cuyos resultados ha sido que los detectives vigilen muy de cerca a todos los propagandistas bolcheviques de Inglaterra, averigüen su historia, y anoten sus movimientos diarios.

Dícese que hay como 700 bolcheviques conspirando en Inglaterra y en Escocia, y difundiendo el descontento y el desorden. Créese que ha facilitado mucho los trabajos de propaganda, la inmunidad diplomática que otorgó a los representantes soviéticos y a las delegaciones comerciales rusas el pasado gobierno de MacDonald.

Yatko Sentenciado a Cadena Perpetua

Ayer, después de deliberar tres horas, el jurado que conoció de la causa de Timothy Yatko, joven homicida filipino, declaró a éste culpable de asesinato. Este veredicto fue pronunciado en el Juzgado Superior, en la sala del juez Hardy. El jurado recomendó, sin embargo, que se aplicara al filipino la sentencia de cadena perpetua y no la capital. En tal virtud, se ha escapado Yatko de la soga del verdugo.

El joven matador oyó el veredicto sin pestañear. Su cara permaneció impasible y no dió ninguna prueba externa de emoción.

Yatko fue convicto del asesinato de Harry L. Kidder, músico de café concierto, a fines de Febrero último. El crimen tuvo por causa los veleidosos afectos de la señora Yatko, conocida por el mote de la "Belleza de Main Street". La aventura de ésta con Kidder despertó las sospechas del joven filipino, quien la siguió hasta el apartamiento de Kidder y allí mató al rival de una puñalada. La señora Yatko fue la principal testigo de cargo contra el filipino.

Ex-Empress of Hungary Said to be Seriously Ill

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, May 8.—Former Empress Zita of Hungary and Countess Joseph Karolyi are en route to Budapest from Spain. The former is stated to be dangerously ill, her physicians forbidding her to receive visitors.

The former Empress has been ill since February, when a bad cold settled in her system. The doctors fear pneumonia or pleurisy as the result as the royal patient is weakening.

ARIZONA STATE ROAD FUND FIGHT WARMER

FEDERAL ENGINEER DENIES BUDGET SECRETARY'S STATEMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 8.—Strained relations between the State administration and the Federal Bureau of Roads, starting with the day-labor plans of the former on the White Spar highway, again are in evidence with relation to a letter written by Budget Secretary H. S. McCluskey to the county boards of supervisors. Mr. McCluskey declared that it would be necessary to call upon the assistance of the counties if saving should be made of $1,700,000 of national road funds, considered in jeopardy.

Acting District Engineer C. G. Morrison has written the State Highway Department, denying the McCluskey statements, and appending a long list of available Federal road appropriations that will not expire for several years. The secretary has responded with reassertion of his position, and with the statement that unless the counties allow the State to administer their shares of the State road fund, as well as the revenue from the gasoline taxes, "it stands to reason that the State cannot continue to carry its maintenance and overhead costs and at the same time provide funds to match Federal aid."

Only one county, Gila, thus far appears to have made response to the administration appeal, this for the special purpose of providing $7500 for the survey of a new road that is to connect Globe with the Coolidge dam across the Gila River below San Carlos.

WATER USERS WILL REPAIR OLD CANAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, May 8.—The Salt River Valley Water Users' Association is rehabilitating the old power canal that parallels the southern shore of Roosevelt Lake. This canal, twenty miles in length, ends at the dam far above the present water level. With its "head" of 220 feet, much power may be added to the product of the hydroelectric works below the dam with loss of a relatively small amount of water. It cost $1,200,000 and furnished power for most of the dam construction work.

ICE, SNOW HALT FLIGHT TO POLE

Whale Bay May Day Weather Coldest Ever Known

Flying Boats' Motors Fail to Function Properly

Mother Ship Locates Open Water for Take-off

BY JAMES B. WHARTON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

KING'S BAY (Spitzbergen) May 8.—Ice and snow have momentarily repulsed the Amundsen-Ellsworth polar expedition. Our mother ships, the Farm and the Hobby, cruising through the ice-filled waters to the north, report a snowfall off the northern coast of Spitzbergen.

Today was the coldest May day in the memory of the King's Bay settlement. The cold was so intense that the motors of the two flying boats that will be used in the dash for the North Pole could not function properly.

A wireless message from the Farm stated it would be unwise for the ships to leave here until the snowfall ceased and the skies are cleared of low-flying clouds.

Strenuous efforts are being made to keep the airplane engines in good condition. Heat from the mechanic's blow lamps are shot through the pipes, and thermmix bombs are constantly burned to keep the temperature about the engines well above freezing. The mechanics work under great difficulty as the metal is so cold that it burns the hands to touch it.

Hopes were encouraged, however, when we received word from the Hobby that open water had been sighted off Danes Island, and that we would probably be a suitable taking-off place for the polar hop. If the planes take off there they must load while resting on the water.

The meteorologist reported today that the weather conditions over the pole are still favorable. It is hoped that the snow will gradually drift out of the polar basin and leave clear skies for the dash to the world's top.

JAPAN FAVORED BY MEXICO PACT

Nipponese Encouraged to Come to Republic

Granted Equal Rights With Natives of Country

Valuable Concessions Made to Oriental Ships

BY JOHN CORNYN
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1925, by the Chicago Tribune]

MEXICO CITY, May 8. — The text of the Mexican-Japanese Treaty given out last night shows that Mexico treats Japan as a favored nation. Japanese are encouraged to come to Mexico and they are assured of the same treatment as Mexicans. They are allowed to acquire land and property, enter business and to have all rights before the Mexican courts.

The treaty is one of commerce, navigation and friendship. Japanese are encouraged to come to Mexico with their families, settle in industrial and agricultural districts and to enter commerce, trade, manufacture and professions. Special encouragement is given to Japanese insurance companies. This is of special interest as the powerful American insurance companies, like the New York Mutual, withdrew from Mexico ten years ago because they found conditions were not inviting.

Japanese are also given the right to intermarry with Mexicans as many are already doing. The treaty exempts Japanese residing in Mexico from military service. Mexican papers in the past objected to Japanese because they never became Mexican citizens and never entered the army.

Japanese are assured the right of port entry and duties similar to those conceded goods brought in Mexican boats. This is an important concession as it places Japanese on a par with Mexicans using the Mexican national marine.

Japanese goods bound for other countries may pass through Mexico in bond and no interior duty can be charged Japanese goods over those levied on Mexican, nor are Japanese goods subject to certificate of origin which is a bugbear for foreign exporters to Mexico.

Mexico also agrees to attempt t arrest and to return to Japanese ships Japanese sailor deserters.

HUGE LIQUOR HAUL MADE IN BAY CITY

Hotel Basement Discloses Forty Trunks Filled With Potential "Night Caps"

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Assorted liquors valued at between $100,000 and $200,000 were seized and the manager and six employees of the Argonaut Hotel were arrested today in a raid by prohibition officers.

In the basement and baggage room, officers reported finding forty trunks filled with bottled liquors and 1000 empty whisky flasks. Several hundred forged government revenue labels also were reported seized. Officers said indications were that the basement had been used as a public dispensary.

Edward Rolkin, reputed owner of the hotel and a pioneer San Francisco capitalist, is being sought for questioning. Rolkin is said to make his home at the hotel.

Snow Falls in Nebraska Over Extended Area

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OMAHA, May 8.—Two inches of snow fell in northwest Nebraska last night and this morning. The ground from Seneca west to the Wyoming line was covered. By noon most of this had melted and a misty rain started falling over nearly the entire State.

Nebraska farm owners living in Los Angeles will benefit not less than a million dollars by the snow and rain.

Weather reports show that rain or snow fell at every weather station in the State last night and today and more rain is predicted for tonight. The rain and clouds prevented frost last night and for the first night in a week no frost was reported out in the State. Today's rains will do much toward offsetting the damage sustained by western ranges and agriculture developments by the recent frost and freezes.

Gas Burning in Canadian Wells Hastens Summer

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALGARY (Alta.) May 8.—Lilies which usually bloom late in June, are blossoming in great profusion in Turner Valley and wild strawberries are being picked, at least a month ahead of the ordinary schedule. This remarkable jump of six weeks or more on nature, is due to heat generated by the burning of superfluous gas from a number of wells throughout the valley. The warmth thus engendered, has pushed the summer season ahead at least one month. Crocuses bloomed and passed on long before they even pushed through the ground on the adjoining prairies and all wild plants in the valley are six weeks ahead of their usual schedule.

SHORTRIDGE HONOR GUEST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 8.—Senator Shortridge was the honored guest of the citizens of Bakersfield at a public reception and banquet in the Masonic Temple tonight and was the guest at a luncheon given in his honor at noon. Arriving by auto after having traveled from San Diego via the Ridge Route, Senator Shortridge commented especially on the scenic beauty of the winding Ridge Route highway.

PLANES ARRIVE FOR RACE MEET

Two-Day Speed Fest Begins at Sacramento Today

Cross-Country Handicap is Opening Event

Fifty-Mile Drive for $1000 Purse is Feature

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Aircraft converged on Sacramento tonight from all points of the compass for the two-day air meet and races opening tomorrow at Mather Field.

Two planes from Rockwell Field, San Diego, piloted by Lieuts. John G. Williams and B. T. Castor, army aviators, were the first to arrive. The Marine Corps Observation Squadron No. 1 of five planes, commanded by Maj. R. E. Rowell, followed a little later, and from Salt Lake City arrived two ships as the first of six in command of Maj. O. F. Herold. The Salt Lake planes left for San Francisco late this afternoon and will return here tomorrow.

Capt. Lowell Smith, globe-girdling flyer, is here assisting officers of the Sacramento Aviation Club in final preparations.

The opening event tomorrow will be a cross-country handicap race between eight airplanes from Richmond to Sacramento. The Sacramento Aviation Club will award a silver trophy to the winner.

Other arrivals tomorrow will be the Crissy Field army squadron, scores of unattached aviators from throughout the State, Miss Fay Lamphier, "Miss California," from San Francisco, flying in an army plane, and Miss Faith Powell, winning "Mary and her lamb" contestant, flying with Pilot Art Starbuck from Healdsburg.

The main event of the meet, a fifty-mile race for De Havilands, will be run Sunday afternoon, the winner to claim the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce $1000 trophy.

LOS ANGELES TAKES AIR IN RETURN TRIP

Dirigible Will Follow Coast in Flight from Porto Rico

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

SAN JUAN (P. R.) May 8.—The United States Navy dirigible Los Angeles sailed from Mayaguez at 3 p.m. for Lakehurst, N. J., to complete the first round trip of an airship between the American continent and the West Indies.

The Los Angeles laid her course from Mayaguez toward Florida and it was planned to follow the coast northward from Miami to the hangar at Lakehurst.

The first flight to the West Indies is considered a success in all phases of airship navigation, Capt. Steele, the Los Angeles commander, expressing the belief that the trial flight has demonstrated the practicability of commercial dirigibles in such service under almost all kinds of weather conditions.

The length of time required for mooring the Los Angeles, which was more than four hours on its arrival from Lakehurst, was greatly reduced on the return flight over Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, when the dirigible made fast to the tender Patoka's mast in less than half that time. Explaining the difficulty encountered in the first mooring, Capt. Steele said the dirigible had inflated at a temperature of about 45 deg. and coming into an atmosphere of about 80 deg., gas expansion made the ship more buoyant and harder to force down at a speed slow enough for a speed boat to catch the landing wire.

INTERSTATE ROADS WILL BE MAPPED

Western Conference Will Pick Routes to be Marked as Federal Highways

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Highway officials of eleven Western States will meet at San Francisco May 15 to designate the important interstate roads in these States to be uniformly marked as United States highways.

The meeting is the first of a series to be held during May and June in San Francisco, Kansas City, Chicago, Atlanta, New York and Boston. After these meetings representatives will assemble in Washington to perfect the system of roads, designed to overcome the present confusion of interstate highways.

The States to be represented at the San Francisco meeting are Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado.

PEACH GROWERS' CASE IN COURT THURSDAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 8.—Hearing of an injunction suit in which the California Peach Growers, Inc., asks damages and an order restraining the Garcia & Maggino Company, independent packers, from using a patented peach-peeling machine, will be started before Judge Paul J. McCormick in the United States District Court here next Thursday, it was announced by the court today.

MILWAUKEE, May 7.—Grave concern for Archbishop Sebastian Messmer was expressed as a result of a sudden turn in his condition at the St. Francis Convent Infirmary today.

HALL-TANKO ADVENTURES FOR FRIDAY

Nevada Search for Two Convicts Abandoned; Pair Reported in Visalia

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) May 8. — Search for Tanko and Hall, escaped lifetermers from San Quentin Prison, which has been conducted on the east side of the Sierras with Reno as headquarters for the last two days, was abandoned tonight. The automobile thought to have carried the desperadoes together with its owner, who was believed to have been their prisoner, was located this evening. In it were three youths from Oakland on a camping trip.

The youths told of being pulled from the mud on the Yuba Pass and of other movements which had caused posses to search the hills for twe days.

While active search for the men has been given up here, all roads leading into Nevada from California will be closely guarded to prevent the entrance into this State of the wanted pair.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 8.—Heavily armed with rifles and sawed-off shotguns, a large posse of Kern county deputy sheriffs and private citizens is keeping watch on the Fresno Highway near Delano tonight following a report from Visalia authorities that Tanko and Hall, convicts who escaped from San Quentin recently, were seen heading toward Bakersfield in a big car.

According to the report, two men who were identified as the convicts, dashed through the northern city at a reckless rate of speed shortly before noon. Efforts of Visalia authorities to stop the speeding machine were futile and, the car was out of reach before motorcycle officers could be summoned to carry on the chase.

A Visalia officer who attempted to stop th car in the heart of the city was forced to leap from the speeding machine to save his life. The driver of the car is declared to have made a deliberate attempt to strike the officer, it was reported from the northern city.

SPANIARDS DEAL BLOW AT RIFFIANS

Severe Defeat Inflicted in Melilla Sector, Says Military Bulletin

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MADRID, May 8.—It was officially announced here this evening that the Spaniards had inflicted a severe defeat upon the Riffian tribesmen in a battle near Sidi Mesa, in the Melilla sector. The Riffians are said to have suffered heavy casualties.

The military directorate today issued a note saying "fifteen hundred rebels who at first appeared to be marching toward the Quergha battle front to engage the French forces, suddenly received orders to attack the Spanish front in the Melilla sector. During the night of the 5th inst., and at dawn the following morning, the tribesmen penetrated the Spanish front near Sidi Mesaud and immediately entrenched themselves with the intention of a still further advance into the Spanish zone."

he Spanish forces consolidated, the note adds, and with the arrival of three flying columns and a reserve column, they dislodged the rebels from the trenches and drove them outside the Spanish front line. The tribesmen lost heavily in dead and prisoners, says the note.

"The Caid of the Amarusen, a native chief, supported our movement with characteristic loyalty," it concludes.

"The Spanish casualties numbered about fifty, many of whom were only slightly wounded."

Cat Good Horse Feed, Declares Report on Oats

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Department of Agriculture has prepared a printed bulletin saying:

"The cat crop ranks third in importance. Cats traditionally constitute the banner horse feed of the world and 3 per cent is used for human consumption. The cat crop is subject to several diseases, chief of which are loose and covered smuts, stem rust and crown rust."

Then follows a discourse on wild cats, tame cats, broken cats and wilted cats. The main varieties in the United States are given as Swedish Select, Silver Mines and White Tartar.

The trouble was that the linotype operator consistently hit the letter "c" instead of the letter "o" and had turned a treatise on oats into one on cats. The bulletin will not be distributed.

CARPENTER SINGS AS HE SAWS THUMB OFF

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 8.—While singing merrily to himself and sawing vigorously at the same time, H. Haas, a carpenter, 77 North Fair Oaks avenue, today sawed off his thumb by mistake. He was treated at the Emergency Hospital.

G.A.R. TO PARADE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Adjt.-Gen. Mittelstaedt of California will act as grand marshal of the parade of veterans on May 20, during the Fifty-eighth annual encampment of the Department of California and Nevada, Grand Army of the Republic, in this city May 18 to 23. Owing to the age of the veterans, it is believed this will be the last procession of G.A.R. men ever held in California. The Sons of Veterans have been assigned the honor of acting as escort for the veterans.

PRELATE URGES SPANISH STUDY

Declares Pure Americanism is Bilingual

Cultivation of Friendships in South Advocated

Closer Relationship Seen as Peace Insurance

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 8.—One hundred per cent Americanism cannot be attained until the people of the United States learn to speak Spanish and to think of Latin peoples as Americans, according to Bishop George A. Miller, in charge of the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Mexico. He has just returned to the States to advocate closer relations between the two language groups. Bishop Miller comes from Fresno, Cal., and is a graduate of the University of Southern California, Leland Stanford, and the College of the Pacific.

"Few of us have stopped to notice," says Bishop Miller, "that while more American people speak the English language than any other, the second most numerously spoken language is the Spanish (including its cousin, Portuguese;) that all of American soil from Baffin's Bay to Cape Horn is exclusively inhabited by the two civilizations represented by these two languages; and that the Latin group of countries occupies about two-thirds of all American soil. Really, we are not so near to being the whole of America as some of us have supposed.

RESOURCES ARE MANY

"This sister civilization of fellow-Americans has some very valuable things to contribute to the final blend and brand of Americanism. The overflowing wealth of the tropics is all in Latin America. The gold and silver and copper and nitrate and tin and rubber and wheat, meat and corn and linseed supplies are in Latin America. The only underpopulated considerable area on earth in the temperate zone, now open to settlement, is in Latin America.

"What we of the north and we of the south need is to get acquainted with each other. The trouble is that we are strangers. And we shall never really know each other till we can speak the two languages that monopolize the speech of two continents. Educated Europeans think nothing of speaking three, four or five languages. We of the United States make a fumble of language study in high school and colleges and go out into life wholly unable to express our thoughts in any other tongue than that of our birth.

"There are reasons for believing that we may yet develop a bilingual civilization on American soil that will include 100 per cent of the Americans. Such a civilization should be able to form a vast and powerful bloc in favor of world peace. Pan-American good-will and friendship can do much toward keeping turbulent Europe in line. Before the end of the century, it is probable that more than a fourth of the people in the world will be Americans, of some sort. The big population increases will be in Latin America for the very simple reason that here and here alone we have room and resources for such increases.

FRIENDSHIP NECESSARY

"What we most need just now is a will to get along with our American neighbors and cultivate their friendship. There are two distinct tendencies in Latin America. There are the Latin lingoes who regard the United States as the "terror of the north," waiting to swallow alive every other American nation. But there are also the men of vision and wisdom who are working for increase of interracial respect and all-American friendship. The Latins are by all natural tendencies a friendly people and they will never fail to meet us halfway or more in any effort toward real 100 per cent Americanism.

"Just at this time there is abundant scope for the work of inter-racial interpreters who shall by their intelligent sympathy and friendliness and their consciously directed efforts to establish good relations, render high service to the welfare of all America by bringing together the best minds and principles of English and Spanish-speaking peoples and doing away with the prejudices that always arise when two men or two nations cannot understand what each other is saying."

Portland Phone Station Gutted by Fire; Two Hurt

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND, (Ore.), May 8.—Fire swept the main telephone exchange of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company here at noon today, put 15,000 telephones out of commission and caused damage in excess of $100,000. One hundred telephone girls, by hasty and orderly exit escaped the rapid sweep of flames, which originated in the basement from a burned cable. Two firemen were slightly injured. Company officials said the equipment of the building was worth $600,000 and they could not say definitely the amount of the loss until a check was made. Fire department officers said the damage would exceed $100,000.

ATWATER KENT GIVES CONCERT

Romance and Trade Meet in Offering Over Radio

Lillian Sargent is Presented to KHJ Audience

Talented Artists Appear on Noon-Hour Program

BY CLAIRE MELLONINO

Romance and commerce, considered strangers by the majority of opinion, have struck a remarkable friendship through the intervention of radio. It has developed a strong bond between two factors of existence which heretofore could never be introduced to each other without one or other immediately making its departure. But in radio, its very essence of romance has made it one of the world's great forms of commerce. It has united in one cause the broadcasting station, the artist, the educator, the listener, who is consumer of radio products, the radio dealer and manufacturer. In addition to that it has developed a new type of benefactor, the radio patron who, purely as an expression of good will, contributes his time and money to secure the best talent available for the benefit of the radio audience.

Last night there came to KHJ a radio manufacturer in the role of patron to minfest its appreciation of the courtesies extended to it by the consumers of its product. It was the Atwater Kent Radio Company, a name familiar to many radio fans, which expressed its thanks with an excellent evening of entertainment.

ARTISTS IN DEBUT

The program, arranged by "Uncle Remus," presented Rosalie Barker, contralto; Kesumoko Louis, baritone; the Columbia Trio; Maggie O'Shea, the Blarney Girl; the Atwater Kent Trio; Paul Adams, and Lilliant Sargent, pianist.

A contralto voice with a wide range which functions with equal facility in all registers and which is flexible enough to instantly meet every demand of the artist, is not often encountered but in Rosalie Barker we found a vocalist who possesses these attributes.

Lillian Sargent, another new figure to Radioland, contributed two piano solos with artistic respect for the composer's requirements, combined with a splendid technique. At the Knabe she rather assisted than accompanied her fellow artist, furnishing a tonal background that added color to the picture.

The Columbia Trio of Hernandez Brothers are thorough musicians and intersperse their regular numbers with novelties often tried but seldom delivered with the same finish and good style exhibited by these gifted young men.

RICH BARITONE

The rich baritone voice of Kesumoko Louis has been the object of many superlatives in this column in the past. It suffices that his performance last night bore the same indelible stamp of the artist.

Uncle Remus, Paul Adams and Maggie O'Shea formed a triumvirate of mirth producers that fairly shook Radioland with laughter.

A delightful evening was rounded out by the talented Atwater Kent Trio, an ensemble of feminine youth, personality and dignity.

The afternoon hour, given through the generosity of the Pacific States Electric Company, brought the Titian Trio, Karl Brandenburg, tenor; Grace Curry, harp, and Olive Hazell, reader. Composed of Wilfred Schutten, violin; Marion Mathews, 'cello, and Mona Content, piano, the Titan Trio is a combination of talented young ladies whose excellent interpretations are devoted to the semi-classics. "Shorty" Karl Brandenburg has been blessed with a voice particularly adapted to radio and his appearance on a program is always welcomed by Radioland.

CHILDREN'S HOUR

The noon hour consisted of the Orange Blosson Kids, Betty Gardner, soprano, who was accompanied by Edyth Petesch and Frederick Lloyd, baritone, who played his own accompaniments on the banjo.

With our good friend Marshall Stedman as guest announcer, the children's hour went merrily on its way. It was opened by Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog, the radio historian, and then followed a procession of youngsters including Richard Headrick, screen juvenile, buoyant Viola Von, who now represents fifty-eight pounds of enthusiasm, Catherine Cotter, who was christened the "Sweetheart of Radioland," Virginia Wells Townsend, 8-year-old reader, Billie Haynes, child singer, Nathan Kleinberger, 12-year-old violinist, who has the mark of a great future, and Urban Thieiman, pianist. The Piggly Wiggly Hawaiian Trio also contributed their share to making the children happy.

From 10 to 10:30 p.m. the stage was graced by the Piggly Wiggly Girls, whose delightful variety of music overcame any desire to sleep that may have existed in Radioland.

MINING MEN TO DISCUSS PLANS HERE

Conference Will Work to Again Put State High in Ranks of Producers

California will not only again claim mining as her leading industry, but also work for recognition as the leading mining community of the world. Plans to bring this about are now being formulated for presentation at the State mining conference here the 15th and 16th inst., under the auspices of the California Development Association.

More than 300 leaders of all phases of the industry will gather from all sections of the State to make this first co-operative effort of the mining interests an epoch in California's industrial development.

Among the problems that will be discussed are: A survey of production and consumption of mineral products, with a view to develop new markets for minerals and to encourage new manufacturing pay rolls using mineral products; an investigation of tariffs to obtain just protection against foreign competition, in relation to iron, cement, clays, magnesite and other mineral products; a study of taxation, transportation and other important problems pertinent to the mining industry; a publicity program to inform the public of the true conditions and opportunities for development of the mining industry in California and on the Pacific; to obtain the co-operation of the other western States in this program to develop the vast mineral resources of the West.

More than fifty chambers of commerce are working on problems of mining development.

North Wilcox Courts Leased for $1,500,000

A ninety-nine-year lease involving $1,500,000 has been made on property at 1723 and 1725 North Wilcox avenue, it was announced yesterday by Thomas D. Barnett, realty man in the deal. The lessees, composed of a syndicate headed by Edward W. Stanfield and Mr. Barnett, plan to hold the property and to operate it as a residence court.

The property, improved with ten buildings, containing thirty-two apartments valued at $125,000, is known as Court Loch and Court Williams.

MINE ENGINEERS TO MEET

The mining engineers will hold their last meeting of the year on Tuesday evening at the Hollywood Country Club, where they will be addressed by Ralph Arnold and M. O. Baily, who will acquaint them with the Federal Reserve Bank and business. Mining engineers and others, visitors or guests in Southern California who desire to be present, are requested to telephone MEtropolitan 7341.

Trial Next Year for $100,000 Alienation Suit

The suit brought by Harold J. O'Rourke for $100,000 damages against his mother-in-law, Mrs. Katharine C. Iten, widow of a wealthy Omaha (Neb.) biscuit manufacturer, for asserted alienation of his wife's affections has been set for trial May 6, 1926, in Department 16 of the Superior Court.

O'Rourke charged Mrs. Iten enticed his wife, Helen O'Rourke, away from him to a separate residence. He declared Mrs. Iten had injected herself into his marital affairs virtually since the day he married her daughter and blamed her for whatever domestic difficulties arose between him and Mrs. O'Rourke.

Mrs. Iten has filed an answer to the suit, entering a categorical denial of the charges made by her son-in-law.

LAWYERS TAKE FLOOR IN SECURITY BUILDING

Announcement was made yesterday that Attorneys Frank F. Oster, Edgar C. Smith, A. H. Swallow, John Mellen and William R. Litzenberg have taken over the seventh floor of the Security Building, formerly occupied by the Board of Education. Although maintaining their individual identity as attorneys, they will be associated together.

RAISE VITAL DIVORCE POINT

Judge in Morgan Case to Decide If Plaintiff Must Name Co-Respondent If Known

Motion for a dismissal of the contested divorce suit of Mrs. Selida E. Morgan, former wife of Thomas Thorkildsen, borax king, against Walter G. Morgan, floor manager of a local shoe store brought the trial to an abrupt halt yesterday afternoon in Judge Burnell's department of Superior Court.

The motion was made by Griffith Jones, attorney for Morgan, on the ground that Mrs. Morgan had failed to name and serve with a copy of the complaint a woman with whom she charged her husband had been intimate. Judge Burnell continued the case to Monday morning to look up points and authorities on the issue.

RULING TO BE VITAL

It was pointed out that a decision dismissing the action on this ground will be of far-reaching significance in the prosecution of divorce cases in California, as it will eliminate the name of "Jane Doe" co-respondents in cases in which the actual names of the women were asserted to be known to the plaintiff.

In her divorce action, Mrs. Morgan did not give the name or purported name of the woman with whom she said she found her husband in a south Flower-street rooming-house in February, 1924, but it was brought out during the testimony yesterday that the girl had told those present at the time that her name was Kitty Lee and that she lived in San Diego.

Morgan, in an answer and cross-complaint to his wife's suit, charged he had been made the victim of a "frame-up." He asserted the girl came into his place of business and addressed him by name, that he later took her to dinner and suggested a theater afterward. The girl, according to a deposition given by Morgan, insisted that they go to her room and have a drink, and after they were there a short while, the deposition continued, Mrs Morgan and two detectives gained entrance to the room with a pass key.

PLOT IS DENIED

Mrs. Morgan, who occupied the witness stand a greater part of the court session, denied any conspiracy against her husband. She said she employed detectives to trail her husband and that they called on her on the day in question and took her to the rooming-house. After waiting a few minutes, she said, one of the detectives opened the door and she walked into the room.

In his deposition, Morgan denied intimacy with the girl and asserted he left with one of the detectives. The detectives denied that they had employed the girl to trap Morgan.

SUSPECT IN SALE OF LIQUOR TO GIRL HELD

Charged with giving liquor to a 12-year-old girl and causing her to become intoxicated, Sylvester Jones was arraigned before Judge Archbald in Juvenile Court yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. His preliminary hearing was set for the 12th inst. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Florence Woodhead, who prepared the complaint, stated Jones's arrest was in line with the campaign begun by the District Attorney's office to stamp out bootlegging activities among minors.

STAR'S WIFE STAR

MRS. LOU TELLEGEN SIGNS WITH UNIVERSAL

By Grace Kingsley

Even though the lovely Nina Romano, whose secret marriage to Lou Tellegen was made public recently, will fall heiress to a lot of money one of these days, she isn't going to sit down and let her acting talents go to rust.

Universal has secured the rights to the services of Miss Romano, who yesterday, according to announcement from Universal City, signed a long-term contract with that organization, under the terms of which she will appear exclusively in their pictures.

The contract is a direct result of Miss Romano's work with House Peters in "Titans," a Universal picture just completed. Although she has been a leading woman on the stage for several years, this was her first work before the camera.

Miss Romano began her stage career in New York, playing the lead in "Blind Youth" and other productions. It was while she was in New York that she met Mr. Tellegen. Their marriage was kept secret for more than a year, and was discovered here a few months ago.

The new Universal star made her bow in Los Angeles as a feminine lead in the Anita-Loos-John Emerson farce, "The Whole Town's Talking," at the Playhouse recently.

MUSICAL COMEDY IS BOUGHT BY M-G-M

Now that "Sally" and "Irene" have both gone into the deathless fame of the films, what more fitting than that "Sally, Irene and Mary," noted musical comedy by Edward Dowling, which enjoyed a run at the Biltmore not long since, should be made into a picture?

Anyway, Louis B. Mayer figured that three of these popular ones should be better than one and also should do as well in a picture as on the stage, and therefore, according to his wire, he has purchased for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer the picture rights to the production. He is quite proud of the acquisition, too, as he stated that a number of film men have been after it.

Three original stories have also been purchased by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, according to announcement by Harry Rapf. "The Light Eternal," Benjamin Christiansson's first original story under his contract with that organization, has been completed and will go into production in the near future. "I Can Do It," a comedy-drama by Max Marcin, and Carey Wilson's "Paris," said to be a daring tale of life in the French capital, are both to be produced at an early date.

But wait a minute and hear the rest of it. M-G-M have also acquired the rights to Rafael Sabatini's noted romance, "Bardelys the Magnificent." Besides which, Irving G. Thalberg also recently bought Lawrence Stallings's novel of the great war, "Plumes," also "When We Were Twenty-one," the play in which Nat Goodwin starred a number of years ago, as well as "The Garden of Eden," a novel by Max Brand, and "Tongo," a play by John Balderston.

Wilkes Sells Topsy

Topsy has been sold down the river once more. Or at least Thomas Wilkes has sold out his interest in "Topsy and Eva," the purchasers being Topsy and Eva themselves, otherwise the Duncan Sisters, stars of the production now appearing in the show in New York. The consideration is something over $100,000.

"My contract with the Duncans expires the 31st inst.," explained Mr. Wilkes last night. "I had already sold them half the show. They wished to remain in New York despite the fact that they are doing only fair business, and I couldn't see it that way. So I decided either to sell to them or to buy out their interest. The upshot of the matter is that I no longer own any part of 'Topsy and Eva.'"

Grace Gordon Among Us

Grace Gordon, who went to New York last November to play the ingenue lead in Blanche Upright's play, "The Valley of Content," starring Marjorie Rambeau, under management of Thomas Wilkes, is back among us. But before she returned she not only scored in Miss Rambeau's play, but she also stopped off in Chicago for several weeks, where she appeared under the management of Lester Bryant as the ingenue lead in "Shipwrecked."

The young actress will remain in Los Angeles until August, when she returns to Chicago to undertake a road tour of "Spooks," in which she will play the lead, taking over the role from Elise Bartlett, who has been playing the role in Chicago.

Youngest Coogan Travels

It does seem as though traveling runs in the blood of the Coogan family. Now it is Robert Anthony Coogan, small brother of Jackie Coogan, who is to take his first trip. He leaves tomorrow for his first continental trip on Sunday. He will not go alone, however, but will be accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Jack Coogan, Sr.

After a week in New York little Robert Anthony will see to it that his devoted mamma takes him to Syracuse where his paternal grandparents will get their first glimpse of their new grandson.

During the past week Jackie and his dad have been the house guests of Marcus Loew at the film magnate's Long Island estate. The Coogans expect to be back in Hollywood by the first of June, at which time announcement will be made regarding Jackie's new production affiliation.

Miss Corbin Goes Away

Virginia Lee Corbin has advanced another round upward on the ladder of screen achievement.

The delightful little child star of pictures, who so recently made her bow as an ingenue leading woman, has been going great guns during the last year and a half. At her present rate of progress she will soon be a recognized star as "grown-up" actress.

She leaves in the morning for New York, where she is to be starred in "Head Lights," a St. Regis picture for Associated Producers and Distributors. The picture will be directed by E. H. Griffith, who recently filmed "White Mice," the Richard Harding Davis novel.

Virginia has been thrilled for days, during the "wire" conferences with the New York company, at the thought of returning to New York. She was there for several weeks last winter when she was featured in the F.B.O. production, "Lilies of the Streets." It was her first trip to the eastern city and she was fascinated with it. She will be accompanied east by her mother. At the close of the engagement they will return immediately to their home in Hollywood.

"A Night in Mexico"

The International Artists' Club will present a program titled "A Night in Mexico" tonight at Choral Hall in the Philharmonic Auditorium Building. The program is under the direction of Senor Hernando Villa. President of the Club Paul Lupo will speak, and singing dancing and playing will follow. Among those who will appear are Nell Pennington, Ligia De Golconda, Carlotta Eberts, the Honorable Mexican Consul Senor Don Raphael Areleyra, Enrique Robles, Catalina Ortiz, Miguel Laris, Ruth Overton, Alma Real, Hortensia Herrera and Jose Peman.

"An Afternoon of Nonsense"

The Marta Oatman School of the Theater presents the Children's Class in "An Afternoon of Nonsense," under the direction of Gwendolyn Logan, at the Sum-Toy-Show Theater, Saturday, today, at 2:15 o'clock. The children who are to participate in the program are: Annette Sayers, Margaret Hard, Priscilla Day, Dorothy Preston, Mimi Volan, Betty Hope Reese, Pat Fair, Judith Frances and Charlotte Weinberg. The following one-act plays are now in rehearsal for early presentation: "The Valient," "'Op-o'-My-Thumb" and "The Maker of Dreams."

Tamon Dancers Active

The Masonic Lodge of the Southwest presented Pauline Becker, Serge Utimoff and Doris Russell in original dances under the direction of Arnold Tamon. The Kiwanis Club of Beverly Hills featured Verna Fulton, Dorothy Ward and Andrew Samuel, child artists of the Arnold Tamon Dance Studio, at a dinner-dance held at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

This week at three of the leading theaters are male dancers coaching with Mr. Tamon. Arthur Springman at the Metropolitan, Sergei Utimoff and Charles Scott at Grauman's Million Dollar, and Alfred Howell, who, with Marguerite Weary, is appearing at Loew's State.

SELZNICK COMING BACK TO FILMS?

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Lewis J. Selznick, former head of the Selznick Motion Picture Production Company, may soon join forces with P. A. Powers in the latter's expansion in the production and distribution of films. Now that Powers has formed the Marshall Neilan Company and bought a studio in Hollywood in which the director will make motion pictures with Peggy Hopkins Joyce as the star, he is seeking further expansion.

As his interests expand, it is now rumored, he will enlist the executive services of Selznick. This report was neither denied nor affirmed today in the Powers offices. Selznick has not been active in the film industry since the failure several years ago of his own producing and distributing organization, when he had the Talmadge sisters and several other stars under his management.

Featured in New Morosco Offering

Ann McKay,
Appearing in Martin Brown's sensational play, "Cobra," which opens at the Morosco Sunday.

Sophie Tucker Heads Orpheum Bill Monday

Sophie Tucker, queen of syncopation, with Ted Shapiro and Jack Carroll at the pianos, will be at the Orpheum Monday for her annual joyfest.

The festive Sophie brings new songs, gowns and effects, but the same old personal charm and appeal.

Nitza Vernille, a California dancer, will make her debut in "Wonderland" with her own company. Glersdorf sisters with their company will put on music and dance numbers and Mazie Clifton and Billie de Rex will demonstrate that "They're Different" by their comedy make-ups and antics. Keane and Whitney will offer a new play, "The Gossipy Sex," while Pablo de Sarto, a great violinist, and the four Sensational Wiltons complete the great bill.

"NANETTE" COMPOSER GETS NEW COMMISSION

Alfred E. Aarons general manager fof A. L. Erlanger and producer of "Tell Me More," the New York musical comedy hit by George Gershwin, who also wrote the music for "Lady Be Good," which will be produced on the coast by Macloon and Smith, has commissioned Vincent Youmans, composer of "No No Nanette," to write the score for a new musical production.

Youmans is one of the most successful of present day musical comedy composers and in addition to "Nanette" has such hits to his credit as "Wildflower" and "Lollipop." Macloon and Smith have taken time by the forelock and already have the Coast rights to the new Youmans musical comedy.

OBER ON DOUBLE SCHEDULE

Robert Ober, who is characterizing a picturesque gypsy knife-thrower in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Mystic," finds at least one merit in his current schedule of night "shooting." It affords him an opportunity to spend a part of each day at work in the garden of his Laurel Canyon home.

Frank Egan's successful comedy hit, "White Collars" enters its sixty-eighth week at the Egan Theater Monday evening, which is said to be the longest run ever recorded in America, with the exception of New York City.

Potboilers Play is Attracting Large Audiences

Los Angeles society and members of the motion-picture colony are turning out in large numbers to witness the splendid presentation of Leonid Andreyev's stage play, "The Life of Man," which the Potboilers are now presenting.

"The Life of Man" is this playwright's most unusual work. The theme of it is odd and the characters are unique.

The Potboilers have given the play a lavish production and Jacques Darcy's stage setting is a real artistic treat. Darcy is a noted Paresian artist and is responsible for many wonderful paintings and sketches.

The cast includes such players as Hanley Stafford, Sylvia Fennington, George Lamont, Gretta Morgan, J. B. Lowe, Francis De Curtains, Jerome C. Death, Marie Dyches, several members of the Dennishon aggregation of dancers and many others.

"The Life of Man" will enter the second week of its local engagement Monday. It had a remarkable run in New York City and was patronized for more than four years in Moscow, Russia.

MALCOM MacGREGOR LEAVES FOR NEW YORK

It's not such a bad old world after all," said Malcolm MacGregor, as he stepped aboard an eastbound train with New York as his destination. It sure has been very good to me, and I'll see you all in about a month."

This is MacGregor's first trip east since his arrival here almost five years ago.

When he left his home to embark on a moving-picture career, unknown and unaided, he threatened never to return until he had became a star. Nobody took his word seriously but Mrs. MacGregor, she understood his Scotch determination and helping him over, many a hard time. Now success is his. He has been a popular box-office attraction for more than a year, and has been kept busy, jumping from one studio lot to another, beginning one picture as soon as a previous one has been completed. On several occasions he has had to work on two productions at the same time.

The Vitagraph Company starred MacGregor in "The Happy Warrior," and immediately after Renaud Hoffman did the same with him in "The Overland Limited," and the day following the completion of the latter, he took the train with his wife and daughter for New York, where he will play the title role in "Headlines," with Alice Joyce opposite, under the direction of E. H. Griffith, for St. Regis productions, to be distributed by Associated Exhibitors.

PLAYS SHAKESPEARE WITH BOBBED HAIR

Carol Kohl

A bob-haired Ophelia? A bob-haired Portia? Juliet? Impossible" well, that's to be seen.

Carol Kohl, the young star who is featured in Edwin Burke's sketch, "Human Nature," at the Hillstreet next week, appeared as co-star with Fritz Leiber in Shakespearean repertoire for two years—and with bobbed-hair!

That may be a strain on your imagination—picturing a bob-haired Shakespearean heroine, but according to Miss Kohl, it's an aid to a modern interpretation of the Bard's classics.

"People today look on bobbed hair as a sign of youthfulness. And there is something youthful about its appearance. Why do old women bob their hair—to look young, or merely for comfort and convenience? You can choose your own answer, but I'll take the former for my answer.

Miss Kohl's vaudeville vehicle is a satirical study of married life, or better still, of married strife, providing more than the average amount of laughter in its strain of sentimental comedy, and beautifully interpreted by the charming young star.

COWL COMPANY PERMANENT

Jane Cowl, the distinguished star who will open at the Playhouse Monday evening in "Romeo and Juliet," brings with her from New York all the old favorites in "Juliet," including Rollo Peters as Romeo, Jessie Ralph as Nurse and Vernon Kelso as Benvolio.

Miss Cowl is famous not only for her splendid interpretation of Shakespeare's best-known heroine, but equally because she has established a permanent company of players for her support. Several years ago when Miss Cowl said that this was her intention, the statement was not taken seriously. Most seasons hear some such promise by a star or manager but meantime the time-honored method is adhered to. In other words, the play is produced; if it succeeds it runs indefinitely; if it loses the public's interest the management takes it off, the star perhaps gets a new play and forthwith also a new supporting cast.

But Miss Cowl's serious purpose has been proven in the most effective way. The company that she organized two years ago is practically intact, and in the cast of "Romeo and Juliet" there happen to be parts for all. In her last previous play, less than half the organization were actually employed but their salaries went on just the same. Naturally in so just and generous an arrangement is found the ideal way of developing the intense interest that all of Miss Cowl's company manifest in their work.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Manual Arts, 17; Polytechnic, 9.
Jefferson, 7; Hollywood, 6.

Realizing that the majority of the thousand wild-eyed high school fans in the stands were more interested in the State track meet on today at Palo Alto, than in baseball, the Manual Arts and Polytechnic high ball teams staged a thrilling trackfest at Manual yesterday. The Toilers had the better sprinters and Weber and Cutshaw looked good in the distance, so Manual won the game, 17 to 9.

Despite the fact that Voyle Brennen's pets tried hard and never let down, they simply couldn't check the Manual batting attack. The Artisans pounded the diminutive King around the lot for thirteen safeties in seven innings and started out the same way, hitting Bush's offerings for four safeties in the eighth.

Goodman, Weber, Dudley and Crowley were the big guns in Manual's artillery. Goodman crashed out four hits in six times at bat. Weber got three out of five. Dudley slammed out four hits in five times at bat. Crowley got three out of five. Watanabe and Newman starred for Poly. Watanabe hit a home run with the bases loaded in the eighth, while Newman got two long singles.

Manual started off with four runs in the first inning and picked up another in the second. The Toilers were ahead, 6 to 2 at the end of the fifth. Poly scored in the sixth. Then the storm broke loose. In the

STAR SPRINTER WHITE-WASHED

Telegraphic Vote Favors Trojan Athlete

May Compete in National Track Meet

Likely Winner of Sprints in Big Affair

BY BRAVEN DYER

Keith Lloyd, the fastest varsity sprinter on the Pacific Coast, was yesterday declared eligible for intercollegiate track competition by the Pacific Coast Conference. An announcement to this effect was made by athletic authorities at the University of Southern California, the institution at which Lloyd studies and the school under whose colors he is slated to compete for the rest of the season.

It is now expected that the demon Trojan sprinter will take part in the I.C.A.A.A.A. meet at Franklin Field, University of Pennsylvania, the 29th and 30th inst.

Lloyd was O.K.'d by the Pacific Coast Conference after a telegraphic vote had been taken.

PECULIAR CASE

His case is one of the most peculiar and many-sided in the history of local intercollegiate circles. Some months ago Lloyd awoke to discover that his alma mater —U.S.C.— had declared him ineligible for track competition. Trojan authorities said he would not run for U.S.C. during the 1925 season. He was branded with the mark of ineligibility for acting as an official at a local high school football game, receiving pay for performing his duties.

KEITH LLOYD

The morning after being declared ineligible by U.S.C. Lloyd jumped out of bed to find that the local A.A.U. had covered him with a nice coat of whitewash, refusing to consider him as a professional. Things remained in this state until about a week ago when U.S.C. officials were questioned as to whether an attempt would be made to have Lloyd declared O.K. for the national intercollegiates. At that time it was stated that U.S.C. would do nothing along such lines.

WHITEWASHED AGAIN

Yesterday Lloyd got another coat of whitewash, this time from the Pacific Coast Conference. Tomorrow he may receive still another daubing, depending on how the national intercollegiate officials look at the matter.

Entries closed last night for the national meet. In spite of the fact that U.S.C. has repeatedly said that they would not seek to have Lloyd reinstated he has been entered in this meet, subject to the approval of the I.C.A.A.A.A. authorities. Apparently he was not eligible in the eyes of U.S.C. officials until the Pacific Coast Conference O.K.'d him. Eastern officials can either accept him or reject him and inasmuch as Lloyd is counted on for the ten points which U.S.C. needs to win the meet their decision will be awaited with bated breath here.

There are so many angles to the case that Sherlock Holmes would delight in trying to solve the puz-

ASCOT BOXERS TUNE IN

Hudkins, O'Brien and Salvadore Gradually Working Into Condition for Big Outdoor Show

All things appertaining to the super double-event boxing carnival scheduled at Ascot Park, June 6, by Promoter Dick Donald are shaping themselves nicely. Word received yesterday from the training camps of three of the principals, Hudkins, O'Brien and Salvadore was to the effect that each lad was pegging along nicely and gradually tuning himself up for the eventful struggles. None of the boys will indulge in a hard grind until about the middle of this month, from which time until June 6 they will bear down heavy on the gloves and general gym stunts.

Many boxing followers who had banked on getting tickets yesterday at the office, 39 Spring-Broadway Arcade, were rather disappointed. The tickets will not be on sale until Monday morning at 10 o'clock, owing to the fact that the order was the largest ever made in California for a boxing bout, and the printer was absolutely unable to get them out before Monday. The tickets will be in the nature of a souvenir, and will be printed in seven colors.

Salvadore is pegging away under the keen eye of Elmer Leary at the Lyceum gym. Phil is very methodical in his work, and does his daily dozen under set rules. Ace Hudkins is scuffing the floor at the newsies' gym, where Gig Rooney, the Irish strategist, holds out. Ace cuts in for the speed stuff. As a shadow boxer and rope skipper he is in a class by himself.

Light Workout Taken by High School Athletes in Preparation for State Meet Today

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 8.—More than 100 athletes from the southern and central sections of the C.I.F. arrived here tonight and nearly 100 more from the northern and north coast sections are expected late tonight and tomorrow morning to take part in the State high school track meet which will be held in the Stanford Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Those who are already on the campus have been quartered in Encina Hall, men's dormitory. The high school coaches are being entertained at the various frat houses. All the visiting athletes took a light workout to familiarize themselves with the fast stadium track, which is in excellent condition for tomorrow's championship struggle.

GANS TOPS LYCEUM BILL

My, how the gloves should fly tonight at the Lyceum when Baby Joe Gans and Joe Layman clash in ten-round main event. Among boxing followers opinion are about divided as to the winner. Along Central avenue, however, where Gans is known as the "Black Marvel," it is generally agreed that he has a good chance to put Layman in fairland before the tenth round.

JOE LAYMAN

Layman has bet on himself to turn the trick. A large contingent of Gans's admirers from Central avenue will be on hand tonight to give him its moral support. Both lads have trained faithfully foh the bout, and will enter the ring in the best condition of their career.

The rest of the card is as follows: Semi-wind-up, Joe Burns vs. Louis Jordan, 128 pounds, six rounds; special, Frankie Layman vs. Pee Wee Nolan, 118 pounds, four rounds; Joe Burch vs. Bud Garber, 124 pounds, four rounds, and Johnnie Alesander vs. Joe Garcia, 135 pounds, four rounds. SEALS WALLOP BENGAL SQUAD

League Leaders Slam Locals for 17-to-2 Victory

Marty Griffin is Big Noise as Hurler and Hitter

Bill Essick Uses Five Tiger Pitcher During Fray

BY ROBERT E. RAY

Turning what was supposed to be a ball game into a hitting orgy, the league-leading Seals larruped five Vernon pitchers for twenty-three hits, most of them timely, and went into the lead in the series by walloping the Bengals by the convincing score of 17-to-2 yesterday at Washington Park.

Marty Griffin, husky young Seal right-hander, who resembled Charley Keppen as far as ears are concerned, not only toyed with the Tiger swatters, letting them down with six hits, but also rammed out four hits, including a home run, double and two singles, in an equal number of times at bat on his own hook. One of Griffin's singles came within a foot of clearing the wall for another homer, so taking it all around like a doughnut, it might be safe to say that Marty had quite an enjoyable afternoon.

Ken Penner, who last year was the ace of the Tiger hurling staff, started on the mound for the home guards, but as far as the Seals were concerned he was the deuce of an off-suit. Buzz Eckert, Ed Bryan, Ed Groat and Evar Swanson followed Penner on the mound, and all but Swanson were treated like step-children by the Seals, who hit the ball with reckless abandon.

EVERYBODY HIT

Every player on the Seal squad with the exception of Bert Ellison got at least two hits. Ellison, the weak sister, got but one blow. However, it is thought that he will still be able to hold his job, inasmuch as he's manager, because Ike Wolfer robbed him of at least a triple in the eighth when he pulled down a drive after a long run.

Paul Waner, youthful San Francisco left fielder, turned in the next best batting performance to Griffin's, getting a double, triple and home run, the latter drive going into the right-field stands with one man on in the eighth.

Hap O'Connor umpired behind the plate yesterday and got by in fine style. President Harry A. Williams is pleased with O'Connor's work and is thinking of putting him on regularly. At any rate, O'Connor will be first alternate. Ed Finney returned from his Imperial Valley ranch yesterday and both he and Jack Carroll umpired on the bases, thus giving the slaughter a quasi-big league appearance, but only as far as the umpiring was concerned.

The Seals scored enough runs in the second inning to win the tussle, putting over four markers and driving Penner to the land of the luke-warm waters. An error by Wes Griffin on Ellison's easy grounder started the trouble, while Kilduff's single, Rhyne's sacrifice Ritchie's single and Griffin's homer finished up the dirty work. Eckert then took charge and retired the side.

GET TO ECKERT

In the third, however, the visitors got to Eckert for a tally when Kilduff singled and scored on Rhyne's double to left. Eckert was also batted to the showers in the fourth when Griffin doubled and Valla followed with a triple to right, scoring Marty. Valla continued right on home when Warner let Griffin's relay get past him. Ed Bryan then came on the scene and he, too, was batted for a run before the inning was over, Wan-

GRIZZLIES SEEK "NIBS" PRICE

Steve Cunningham, graduate manager at Southern Branch, was in San Francisco yesterday for the purpose of conferring with Andy Smith, California coach, over the selection of a new mentor for the Grizzlies. It is rumored here that "Nibs" Price, who used to aid Andy and who has been credited with being the brains of the old wonder team at Berkeley, may come to the local post.

FINN STAR PERMITTED TO COMPETE

Rubien Allows Nurmi to Race in Meets Today and Monday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Paavo Nurmi, Finnish middle-distance runner, today was granted permission by the Amateur Athletic Union to appear in meets at Fitchburg, Mass., tomorrow, and Worcester, Mass., Monday.

Nurmi and his American manager, Hugo Quist, who had just returned from the West, appeared before Frederick W. Rubien, secretary of the A.A.U., to explain their connection with the recent Drake relays at Des Moines where officials charged that an excessive demand for expenses was made. The hearing findings will be made public tomorrow.

The Finnish marvel expects to leave for Fitchburg tonight.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Paavo Nurmi, Willie Ritola, Ilmar Prim, Gunnar Gunnar Nilsson and Juno Fagre were indefinitely suspended tonight by the Philadelphia district A.A.U., on charges of having excessive expenses for their participation in the College of Osteopathy track meet in this city last February 17. They have been notified to appear before the local board of the A.A.U. next Monday to answer the charges.

Miss Ann Webster, continuing the championship golf that has carried her through the California as well as many other tournaments, trailed Mrs. T. H. Pike to the nineteenth green to win a hard-fought 1 up match for the championship of the first flight in the women's invitational golf tourney at the California club yesterday.

Mrs. Pike deserves much credit for her gallant fight and forced the Hollywood star to play sterling golf before winning the feature trophy. Miss Webster played her usual accurate game and while pushed on every hole—laid her shots well on the inside and won the premier honors only after a fine match.

Mrs. Roy Green managed to score a beautiful 3-and-1 win over Mrs. Harry Borde for the trophy in the second flight. The match was more than 100 per cent better than the score would indicate but Mrs. Green shot unbeatable golf to win through—and Mrs. Borde forced her to play every shot accurately.

California Yachtsmen Respond to Open Season Call Tomorrow

FIRST RACE IS FREE-FOR-ALL

California Club Scene of Opening Event

R-Class Sloops Begin Annual Scrap for Honors

Banquet and Dance at Club This Evening

Thirty sailing yachts are scheduled to answer the gun in the outer harbor tomorrow afternoon in the opening race of the California Yacht Club season, it was announced yesterday by Vice-Commodore Paul Jeffers. Spectators who are on hand at Point Fermin and Minor Fill will be treated to an unusual sight as the fleet of windjammers gets under way at 1 p.m.

The event will be a free-for-all for all classes, with each type of boat also competing against others of its class. Entries include schooners, yawls, ketches, handicap sloops and R-class and Star-class racing sloops.

Henry Warren will begin his new duties as official starter in the opening race and the course will be from Minor Fill to Breakwater Light, to the Point Fermin whistling buoy, thence to the Long Beach channel buoy and back to the starting line—a run, a beat, a run to Long Beach and a beat back home.

ALL-SEASON FIGHT

Of particular interest will be the fight between the R-class sloops, for which craft the race opens an all-season fight for the club championship. There will be four of these sporty boats out Sunday—the Lipton Cup winner Angela, now owned by Owen Churchill; Lyman Farwell's California, Harry Fisher's Peggy and the renovated Active, now the Canuck and owned by Al Christie. The club champion Debra is now at San Francisco, where she will attempt to lift the San Francisco Perpetual Challenge Cup on the 17th inst., while the Patrician will also be absent, her owner and skipper, Pierpoint Davis, being on sojourn in Europe.

Tonight the summer's activities of the California Yacht Club will be started with the annual opening banquet and dance in the clubhouse. Vice-Commodore Jeffers will be the host of the evening, Commodore Ben Weston being absent in San Francisco as the head of the expedition that will attempt to capture the Perpetual Challenge Cup with the Debra.

TO BE ON HAND

The motor cruiser Padariva II, owned by Sylsby Spalding, who also flies his flag from the Debra, will sail for an Francisco this morning to be on hand for the race. In addition to Mr. Spalding and several of his friends, there will be another distinguished guest aboard, Edson B. Shock, designer of the Debra, who hopes to see his creation trim the Bay City sloop.

Mr. Shock is now completing plans for a thirty-two-foot water-line schooner for Don Ayres of this city. The new boat, with an overall length of forty-five feet and rigged with a jib-headed mainsail, will be in commission during the fag-end of the present season. Though larger, her lines are similar to those of Ed Bosbyshell's schooner Scaramouche, which Mr. Shock designed and which won the championship of her class at the San Diego regatta last August.

and looks to be fully capable of repeating his performances. Unruh runs with his "specks" on, but they don't seem to worry him in the least. Ed Gloege, the Covina flash, who holds the Southern California interscholastic record at 1m. 59 1-10s., is a husky lad with a nice stride and plenty of strength. His work tomorrow will be watched with a great deal of interest.

Floyd, dusky Lincoln High School sprinter, is one of the best built lads in the lot. He is lithe with smooth muscles which are none the less powerful. Floyd ran in for a third on the century last week but came back strong to win the 220 in 22 2-10s. Akers, the surprising sprinter from Riverside, who won the 100 in 10s. flat, when he wasn't conceded a chance last Saturday, is another well-built youngster. Floyd and Akers will be out to take the measure of Schmidt of San Jose and Wilson of Palo Alto, who have been having things pretty much their own way in this sector.

COLLEGE STARS TO SWIM

Annual Southern California Conference Water Event Slated for Today at Brookside Park

Southern California conference aquatic stars have their biggest test of the season this afternoon when they battle for the conference championship at the Brookside Park (Pasadena) plunge. The meet is being held under the auspices of Occidental College.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that the Southern Branch swimmers will nab off first place as they recently showed their supremacy in the Southland when the Trojan varsity was unexpectedly defeated. The big battle of the day will be between Pomona College and Caltech for second place. Redlands, Whittier and Occidental are not conceded a chance of finishing in the money, but each school is expected to grab a few points and possibly a first place or two.

Although the Engineers defeated the Sagehens in their dual meet held Tuesday evening in the Sagehen plunge, it is possible that the Occidental and Grizzly crews will grab off points in certain events that will bring Pomona in second.

One of the outstanding battles of the meet should be between Morehardt of Pomona and Fogel of the Grizzlies in the dives. Fogel won when Pomona journeyed to the Branch for the dual meet several weeks ago, but the board was not what the Sagehen star had been accustomed to and this afternoon may find the first-place honor reversed.

Among the sprinters on the afternoon's program, Capt. Lincoln Hall of Pomona is expected to offer stiff competition in the dashes, with the Grizzlies relying on the fine work of Drummond, who should cop his share of the gold medals.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry

THINGS have been humming promotionally in Dick Donald's palatial suite of offices in the Arcade Building for the past week, but starting tomorrow the pugilistic aspect—the part that interests the public in the greatest lightweight festival ever staged in California—will assume added color.

Tommy O'Brien, who meets Ace Hudkins in one-half of the big double bill at Ascot June 6, enters on his training campaign with a skit in Joe Pierrone's ball orchard on the East Side. The walloping Irishman goes on at 2 o'clock, affording the sport bugs an opportunity to see him punch the bag, shadow box and spar, and then watch the ball game which follows at 3 o'clock.

For this hook-up Tommy cuts in on the gate receipts with Pierrone, which proves that the local Irish lad who had to go east to win leading recognition in the lightweight heap is as smart with figures as he is with his gloves.

Generally speaking, stars of the stage and screen are acknowledged to have a corner on the temperamental market. That was a belief shared by Donald until he signed Sammy Mandell, Phil Salvadore, Ace Hudkins and Tommy O'Brien for the lightweight "scramble of the century."

Of the quartet Salvadore is the only one who has evinced tendencies of being one of the common or garden variety of citizen. The others have more temperament than Lou Daro when he bets on the wrong ball team.

Donald had 20,000 gorgeous yellow envelopes printed for publicity purposes. In the upper left-hand corner he had the names of his star performers in large type. Hudkins and O'Brien insisted their names must go on top. Mandell wired that his name must occupy that position. Salvadore, busy for the fight with Mandell, didn't give a whoop where his name went.

So Donald had to compromise. Ten thousand envelopes with Ace Hudkins-Tommy O'Brien listed first were printed and an equal number carrying Sammy-Mandell-Phil Salvadore at the top were run off the press. Donald lost another hair settling this temperamental outburst, and he hopes it's the last, though he's shaking in his boots.

Young Stribling, the Georgia schoolboy, certainly wasted no time in establishing his right to travel the heavyweight trail when he knocked out Quentin Romero Rojas, the Chilean heavy, in the fourth round of their scrap at Boston Thursday night.

Stribling's victory is particularly convincing because Charley Weinert, who meets Harry Wills, the Black Panther, in one of the big New York bouts this summer, was unable to do anything with Rojas in twelve rounds last May. The Georgia kid, outweighed about fifteen pounds, had Rojas on the floor twice in the third round, according to the wire dispatches, and the referee stopped the massacre after the Chilean hit the canvas again in the fourth session.

Some time ago it was announced locally that Eddie Huffman, the ex-navy light heavyweight champ, was to meet Stribling in New York this summer. We took the matter as a joke, convinced it was somebody's cute little publicity trick, and that it would be plain suicide to send Huffman and his paper chin in against the slashing Georgian.

Since the Rojas fight we are more convinced than ever that it was a joke, or that somebody is seeking a quick way of exterminating young Huffman.

Max Richman saw the comment about Mike Grealis's new Mexican toreador heavyweight hope, and dashed in to tell us that he has one himself. His name is Sandy More, 21 years of age. He is a Chicagoan, weighs 180 pounds, and he won the heavyweight championship in the Central A.A.U. He started as an amateur fighter fourteen months ago, and is now on his way from the Windy City to meet Floyd Johnson in the Wilmington arena the 27th inst., according to Max.

After graduating from the amateur ranks More is said to have had eighteen fights, and was only beaten once. His record includes twelve knockouts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Billy Southworth, outfielder of the New York Giants, was the hero in one of baseball's great situations today—ninth inning, three men on, two out, and two runs needed to win. He drove a home run into the right-field stands, giving him team a 5-to-2 victory over St. Louis. Previously Southworth had hit a triple which scored the only Giant run obtained in eight innings of excellent pitching by Leo Dickerman. Score:

BRAVES CELEBRATE

BOSTON, May 8.—The Boston Braves defeated Chicago, 5 to 2, here today, in the golden jubilee game of the National League, celebrating fifty years of baseball history. Prominent citizens, State, city, military and naval officials, high baseball dignitaries and about fifty gray-haired "old-timers," some of whom played in the first game of organized baseball half a century ago, saw the contest. The Braves got to Alexander early and hit him hard for six innings. Genewich pitched well for the Boston club and held the Cubs in check while his team-mates ran up a winning score. Score:

JUNIORS TIE SENIORS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA COLLEGE (Claremont) May 8.—In the first round of the local interclass tennis championship, juniors and seniors played each other to a tie. Darwin Hand teamed with Walker Gabbert met George Peterson and Harold Moyer of the seniors with the result that the juniors won the doubles after three red-hot deuced games. Gabbert lost to Moyer by the same route in the singles. Play will be continued in the championship tourney next week.

JACKIE FIELDS DEFEATS SALAS

SLIPS AWAY

On the other hand, Salas stopped Jackie's winning streak in the fifth when he chased him around the ring hitting out with both hands and landing most of his punches. Salas repeatedly backed Fields to the ropes, but the latter always slipped away before anything happened.

From start to finish, things looked bad for Salas. Even during his best rounds, he wasn't on a par with Jackie. Gig Rooney's boy rarely took a punch without giving one and he missed few. Salas beat him to the punch several times. But the main reason for Fields's victory was the fact that Salas couldn't get over any sleeping potions.

Both boys turned out to be bears for punishment. Time after time, they took sizzling punches in the face and stomach for the sake of scoring with their own. On the face of things, there is little to choose between them, but Fields was a little too clever.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

ROUND ONE

Salas landed the first blow, a right to the head, and then drew blood from Fields's nose with a left to the nose. Fields backed Salas into a neutral corner and landed two hard rights to the face. They clinched during the rest of the time, little other action being done. Fields's round.

ROUND TWO

Fields hits Salas with a hard left to the head. Joe kept boring in, attempting to land a right. Fields caught Salas with a hard right to the jaw and staggered him. Salas brought over a right uppercut, but it did little damage. Salas had a hard time keeping track of Jackie, who kept moving around him at a fast rate. Fields landed four short rights and lefts to the face as they clinched. Salas backed up against the ropes after a hard right to the jaw. Fields's round.

ROUND THREE

Salas chased Fields around the ring swinging rights and lefts, but had a hard time getting within Jackie's guard. Fields landed a light left to the head and Salas retaliated with a right to the head. Fields landed a right and left to the head. Salas swung three rights to the head, staggering his mat. Salas backed Fields into the ropes, but the former champion slipped out before Joe could do any damage. Fields landed a right to the stomach and followed with a right to the jaw. He scored with body punches in the clinch. Round even.

ROUND FOUR

Salas landed a hard right to the head as they came into the center of the ring. Fields missed a left to the head, but landed a right to the stomach. Fields scored with a right to the chin and followed it up with a right and left to the chin. Later he backed Salas into the ropes, landing with a right to the body in the clinch. Salas hit Fields with a hard right to the jaw. Fields ducked his left to Salas' face. Joe came back with a right to the mouth. Salas missed a right to the jaw, but scored with a left to the jaw. Salas landed a left to the stomach. Salas's round.

ROUND FIVE

Fields smashed Salas with a hard right to the head and followed that with rights and lefts to the jaw. Salas landed a hard left to the stomach and followed with a right to the same place. He backed Fields into the ropes and opened with punch after punch to the head and body. Fields landed a light left, but Salas rushed matters and kept boring in. Salas missed a right, but landed a left on Jackie's jaw. Salas backed Fields into the ropes again and hit him with hard rights and lefts to the jaw. Salas won the round by a big margin.

ROUND SIX

Fields started his boxing tactics again as they opened the round, landing light punches on the jaw. Salas scored with a right to the head. He backed Fields around the ring trying to score. He scored with a right to the head. Salas landed a right to the ribs and as they clinched, landed a right to the stomach. Salas soared with a right to the body. Fields started to land with a right, but Salas beat him to the punch. They fell into a clinch. Fields landed a left to the stomach and Salas brought over a hard right to the jaw. Fields landed two rights to the body as they clinched. Salas landed a hard right to the jaw. Fields missed a right and followed up to land a hard left on Salas's mouth. Salas's round.

ROUND SEVEN

Salas stepped in close, working on Fields's body. They exchanged rights and lefts to the jaw. They traded rights and lefts to the body in the clinch. Fields landed a left to the jaw. Salas brought over a left hook to the chin, but took a right in the face. Fields scored with rights to the body. They clinched. Salas landed a left to the stomach. Fields brought over a hard right and followed it with another to the jaw. Salas caught Fields with a right to the jaw. Joe scored with another. Two right uppercuts dazed Fields. Fields danced away and landed three light lefts to the face. Fields's round.

ROUND EIGHT

They both swung and missed. They traded hard rights to the face. They exchanged rights and Fields scored with a left. Salas missed a right to the jaw. Fields landed a right to the chin and Salas drove over a right to the head. Fields was short with a right to the face. Salas backed Fields to the ropes and they exchanged right-hand punches. They were mixing it on the ropes when Salas slipped and fell. He took no count. Fields whipped rights and lefts to Salas's face. Fields caught Salas with a left to the head, but took a left hook to the body. Fields missed a right and they clinched. Salas missed a right. Fields was short with a right, and Salas scored with rights and lefts to the face. Fields's round.

ROUND NINE

Salas landed a hard right that sent Fields back on his haunches as they started the round. Fields scored with a right to the head. Salas missed a right to the head. Fields landed a left hook and followed it up with a right to the jaw. Fields caught Salas with a left hook to the jaw. Salas got over a left uppercut. Joe was short with a right to the jaw. They traded rights to the head. Fields landed two left hooks to the face. Fields made Salas's legs wobble with a right to the jaw. Salas rushed back, landing two body punches. Fields drove home a left hook and scored with a right to the stomach. He whipped a left to the stomach. Fields landed two lefts to the face and a right to the stomach. Fields's round.

ROUND TEN

Fields landed a light left to start the tenth. Fields missed a right to the head. He got Salas in a clinch and scored with a right to the head. Salas was trying hard to land a knockout punch, but couldn't touch Fields. Fields took a left to the head and returned a left to the jaw. Salas landed another left to the jaw. They clinched. Fields drove a short left to the jaw and Salas landed a hard right to the head. Fields caught Salas with two rights to the jaw. Fields landed a right to the jaw and followed it with a left hook to the same place. They were swapping punches in the center of the ring as the round ended. Fields's round.

Lou Rollinger defeated Eddie McGovern in the six-round semi-wind-up but Referee Harry Lee called it a draw. The decision was so extraordinary, and the fans so stunned by it, there wasn't a boo in the house and not a cushion paraboloed through the air. Rollinger opened up two cuts on McGovern's eye and had him in a bad way throughout the fight. McGovern was slow and couldn't hurt Rollinger.

Tiger Jack Burns and Rufe Canlon (no relation to the Grand Canyon) fought a draw just before the semi-wind-up. The decision was not popular, it being the general consensus of opinion that Burns had the edge. Jackie Sherman got a decision over Don Levy in four rounds and Jack Hester defeated Sailor Carter in four rounds.

EXPECT GODFREY TO FILL ARENA MONDAY

A sellout house at the Assembly Club is expected next Monday night when George Godfrey — the black shadow of Leiperville—boxes Victor Alexander and Steve Villa. Young Sam Langford and Sailor Joe Carter will headline the regular bill with a ten-rounder. Langford claims the lightweight title of the Coast among dusky fighters. He recently held Jack Thompson to a draw at the Lyceum. Carter beat Bobby Pierce and held Baby Gans to a draw in recent battles.

Ralph Lincoln and Young Chico, Mexican featherweights, will meet in the six-round semi-wind-up. Two other fast battles are also carded. They are: Battling Paul vs. Chris Romo, 140 pounds, four rounds, and Warnie Walker vs. Dave Mustafo, 140 pounds, four rounds.

CHISOX WIN

CHICAGO, May 8.—The White Sox defeated the Senators, 4 to 3, here today in the first game Washington has played in the west since winning the world's title last fall. Both the starting pitchers were forced to retire and Lyons and Mogridge, who succeeded to the hill, engaged in a pitching duel with Lyons having the shade. Lyons's single followed by Ruel's fumble of Leibold's throw to the plate enabled the locals to score their winning run in the eighth inning. The fielding of Collins, Sheely and Davis was the feature of the game. Score:

COVENTRY COPS TURF FEATURE

Backbone Finishes Second on Pimlico Track

Jockey Kummer Pilots Rank Outsider to Win

Youngster Beats Favorites in Race With Ease

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIMORE (Md.) May 8.—Clarence Kummer today piloted Harry Gifford's A. Cochran's entry, Coventry, to victory in the fourth race run by Negotai-Sun Queen, to score victory in Maryland's premier classic, the Preakness, for two-year-old colts and fillies, at a distance of a mile and three-sixteenths at Pimlico this afternoon. Coventry, rated low in the betting field, was four lengths in front of Harry Payne Whitney's entry, with Almadel, belonging to Hal Price Headley, another length away in third position, coupled with Backbone, the H. P. Whitney entry, was fourth. Then came, in the following order, By Himself, Gold Stick, Sir Voltaic, Single Foot, Prince Rhodes, Maid at Arms, with Peter's Sweep, ridden by Johnny Rode, last of all. Coventry's time was 1:59 flat, two-fifths of a second back of the track record held jointly by The Porter and Big Ben.

DARK OUTSIDER

The race was worth $52,725 to the winner, $5000 to the second, $2500 to the third, and $2000 to the fourth.

Coventry and the horses classed to be tied with him, were rank outsiders, paying $45.60 straight, $17 to second, and $10.90 third. Backbone's second price was $6.40 and his third $8. Being tied with Coventry in the field, Backbone's third price was the same as that of the winner.

LATEST DEMPSEY BULLETIN

PARIS, May 8.—Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight pugilist, now aboard the liner Berengaria in mid-ocean, on his way to Europe, will receive aboard ship his first offer for a fight in Europe either with Ermino Spalla, European heavyweight champion, or Paolino Uzcuden, the Spanish pugilist, at Deauville, France, next August, with a guarantee of 1,000,000 francs for his end.

A wireless dispatch with this offer was filed here this evening by Richard Kiegin, the American fight promoter who organized the Willard-Johnson bout at Havana and also Luis Firpo's matches on the Riviera last winter.

The French and the English boxing promoters are eager to obtain Dempsey's signature to contracts for bouts and the champion probably will find his expected vacation in Europe a continuous job of dodging the promoters' offensives.

OAKLAND, May 8.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion announced at the home of his mother here today that he is negotiating the trading of the Wilshire apartment house in Los Angeles, owned jointly by Dempsey and himself, for the King C. Gillette ranch outside of Santa Barbara, and a cash consideration. Dempsey placed his approval on the proposed trade in a long distance telephone conversation with Kearns from New York last Tuesday, Kearns said.

"Dempsey is in complete accord with the proposition," Kearns said. "I have been negotiating for this ranch for some time.

"I also asked Jack if he was going to do any boxing abroad. He replied: 'No, I left that to you'. I asked him if he planned an early return to the ring and he said yes'.

"It will take him five or six months to get into condition, but I know that he is weary of the motion pictures and anxious to enter the ring again."

TITULAR PLAY GOES 19 HOLES

flight finals after a match that thrilled both contestants. Mrs. W. R. McConnell, shooting everything in golf that was good, won a 3-and-4 match from Mrs. L. P. Ferguson. Mrs. Ferguson had difficulty in the first nine—recovered, but was unable to cut down Mrs. McConnell's deserving lead.

Mrs. William Moeller defeated Mrs. Lydia Mills, 2 and 1, for the fifth-flight prize.

In the defeated eights, Mrs. Gregg Lifur, playing par golf, scored a sizzling 4-and-3 win over Mrs. Lee Horan for the championship flight. Not satisfied with her beautiful trophy in the morning, Mrs. Lifur increased her day's golfing pleasure by competing in the second most enjoyable foursome on the course.

Mrs. Wallie Lohman, with all the earmarks of a champion, forgot just enough golf to lose a heart-breaking 1-up match to Mrs. Harry Pressler of Hacienda. Mrs. Pressler really deserved to win, and won, but Mrs. Lohman—under normal conditions—would have played a much better game than her score card yesterday indicated. It would have taken a lot more golf to beat Mrs. Pressler, who traveled in front for many gratifying holes, also.

Mrs. J. L. Martin traveled twenty holes to win, 1 up, from Mrs. A. Roberts in the third flight. Mrs. James Donahue, after winning three of the toughest matches in the tournament, was called upon yesterday for a still more difficult one but managed to score a deserving 2-and-1 win over Mrs. A. J. Sherer. Mrs. De Silva and Mrs. R. C. Conant traveled twenty holes before Mrs. Conant lost, 1 up, for the fifth defeated eight trophy.

Mrs. F. S. Hardin of Flintridge increased her silver trophy collection yesterday when she tied Dr. P. A. Moulton, former Rancho president, home with an 80 to tie for low gross honors in the special two-ball mixed foursome that closed the enjoyable California. Besides tying Mrs. A. C. Lillie and J. Kemp for low gross, Mrs. Hardin and Dr. Moulton, with a 71 net tangled with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Daley, whose 91-20-71 also tied with Mr. and Mrs. Faulkers, 94-23-71 in the triple tie for low net.

Nearly two scores foursomes teed off in the foursome classic—and Stanley Hughes, Earl Neitzel, W. P. Lohman, Frank Deleot, Asa Keyes and other local stars were enrolled in the fast field. Mrs. L. P. Ferguson and Mr. A. Compbell of Brentwood lost a beautiful trophy through two bad holes and Mrs. Ike Wentworth, given the support of even an ordinary golfer, would have been well up among the winners. Mrs. Wentworth's game was really worth a prize and the diminutive Sunset Canyon star was much too lady-like to criticise the golf of her partner, who escaped before the news of her misfortune had spread.

Yesterday's results were as follows:

FIRST FLIGHT

Miss Ann Webster defeated Mrs. T. H. Pike, 1 up, 19 holes.

FIRST FLIGHT, DEFEATED EIGHTS

Mrs. Gregg Lifur defeated Mrs. Lee Horan.

SECOND FLIGHT

Mrs. Ray Green defeated Mrs. Harry Borde, 3 and 1.

SECOND FLIGHT DEFEATED EIGHTS

Mrs. Harry Pressler defeated Mrs. Wallie Lohman, 1 up.

THIRD FLIGHT

Mrs. C. H. Willsie defeated Mrs. C. A. Rife, 2 and 1.

THIRD FLIGHT DEFEATED EIGHTS

Mrs. J. L. Mason defeated Mrs. A. Roberts, 1 up, 20 holes.

FOURTH FLIGHT

Mrs. W. R. McConnell defeated Mrs. L. P. Ferguson, 3 and 4.

FOURTH FLIGHT DEFEATED EIGHTS

Mrs. James Donahue defeated Mrs. A. J. Sherer, 2 and 1.

FIFTH FLIGHT

Mrs. William Moeller defeated Mrs. Lydia Mills, 2 and 1.

FIFTH FLIGHT DEFEATED EIGHTS

Mrs. De Silva defeated Mrs. R. E. Conant, 1 up.

SUDS SELL YEARGIN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, May 8.—Sale of Jim Yeargin to Atlanta in the Southern League was announced today by the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast baseball league. Release of Jim Bagby for the Indian hurler, to Atlanta, was announced Sunday. Both are right handers. Yeargin came from the Boston Braves this spring.

COMBS WINS IN VIRGINIA GOLF

Virginia Stars Eliminate Outside Contenders

Neitzel Advances Notch in Championship Play

Two Rounds Including Title Matches on Today

E. E. Combs, Sr., stellar Virginia golfer, shot a 75 yesterday to trip Stanley Hughes, Hollywood ace, in a second-round championship play of the Invitational Golf Tourney at the Long Beach Club. Hughes's medal totaled two strokes more than the home club champion's, a 77, and was more than enough golf to trip the majority of championship contenders.

Earl Neitzel, fast traveling young golfer, rode through to a 5-to-4 win over G. Leedom, another Virginia star, for his second sterling win of the Invitational. Neitzel seems to have at last located his game and his medal of 76 yesterday is a fair example of what the coming star should consistently shoot.

W. W. Campbell, boasting a membership in both the Virginia and Los Angeles clubs, continued to the championship finals with a 1-up win over F. W. Hicks and will meet Earl Cody, another home ace, who defeated a clubmate, J. F. Rothwell, 3 and 2, in the semifinals in the lower bracket of the first flight this morning.

There will be two rounds in all flights today—all finals being scheduled to play through in the afternoon round. Yesterday's results with todays pairings and time of play are as follows:

Starting time, 10:30 a.m.—R. E. Combs, Sr. (75) defeated Stan Hughes, 5 and 1, medal, 77; Earl Neitzel (76) defeated C. Leedom, 5 and 4; W. Campbell defeated F. W. Hicks, 1 up; Earl Cody defeated J. F. Rothwell, 3 and 2.

Second flight, starting time, 10:15 a.m.—G. B. Hodge defeated W. G. Young, 5 and 4; W. Bust (80) defeated E. M. Jones, 1 up, 19 holes; Al Gruber (75) defeated L. W. Vale, 3 and 2; A. C. Bullery defeated A. T. Jergins, 3 and 2.

Third flight, starting time 10 a.m.—A. L. Wilson defeated A. A. Sugg, 7 and 5; M. L. Campbell defeated W. A. Morrell, 4 and 3; C. J. Kadau defeated H. F. Cole, 1 up, 19 holes; C. Spencer defeated T. H. Emerson, 1 up.

Fourth flight, starting time 9:30 a.m.—H. McGree defeated F. R. Richardson, 1 up, 20 holes; B. R. Reid defeated E. R. Keiss, 3 and 1; E. V. Pickett defeated P. T. Wright, 3 and 2; R. Pratt (80) defeated E. G. Richardson, 3 and 2.

Fifth flight, starting time 9:30 a.m.—C. J. Colby defeated R. G. Rowland, 3 and 2; H. B. Westbrook defeated F. D. Davis, 3 and 2; Harry Maxwell defeated W. H. Robinson, 1 up, 19 holes; V. Martin defeated L. Montgomery, 3 and 4.

Sixth flight, starting time 9:30 a.m.—H. McGree defeated C. D. Holmes, 3 and 2; F. J. Perry defeated Tom Schroeder, 1 up; F. H. Dolan defeated F. N. Shiles, 1 up; Verna Wickham defeated H. D. Benton, 5 and 4.

Seventh flight, starting time 9:05 a.m.—E. R. Harvey defeated G. Bettle, 4 and 3; L. Van Myers defeated C. F. Wentzel, 6 and 5; J. W. Pennebell defeated John Hewitt, 1 up, 20 holes; G. B. Welch defeated P. E. Hatch, 3 and 2.

Eighth flight, starting time 9:45 a.m.—W. B. George defeated F. B. Damron, 4 and 3; D. Smith defeated W. J. Duncan, 1 up; H. B. Clark defeated H. S. Busby, 1 up; F. Waldron defeated C. A. Redman, 1 and 6.

Ninth flight, starting time 9:30 a.m.—G. E. Thomas defeated W. H. Smith, default; R. Hamilton defeated F. H. Miller, 1 up; C. R. Nelson defeated F. F. Ross, 4 and 3; C. Heffley defeated H. V. Ketcherside, 3 and 2.

Tenth flight eights will start immediately following their respective flights.

zle. Those who know Dean Cromwell, Trojan track coach, say that he doesn't want Lloyd to run this season at the nationals. Lloyd has already lost most of the year, and Cromwell would rather not use him at all now and have him for all the big meets next season. That's a possibility and, with Lloyd running the sprints next year U.S.C. would probably mop up on Stanford and California.

There's another puzzler for somebody to answer. Who started this business of having Lloyd O.K'd by the Pacific Coast Conference. At U.S.C. the authorities say the action was a distinct and pleasant surprise to all concerned. Did the Pacific Coast Conference, having nothing else to do, go out and select Lloyd as the logical candidate for a bit of voting? If so, who asked for the vote? Who collected the votes and tabulated 'em? Probably the secretary, a Northwest man. Who asked him to get the vote? Not U.S.C., because U.S.C. had said Lloyd was not to run for the Trojans this season. But who else would ask for the vote? Mebbe it was Judge Landis.

Batteries—Brice, Moar and Mears; Grossman and Brayton.

"Aladdin" Lopez's Jefferson High School baseball team rolled merrily along its way toward the city championship yesterday, defeating Hollywood, 7 to 0, at Jefferson. The Foothillers had about as much chance to win as a barracuda has to die from drowning. Phil Grossman, erstwhile outfielder, and premier prep hitter in 1924, was on the mound for Jefferson and allowed Hollywood but six hits.

Brayton, Koller and Blackman got eight of the Democrats' ten hits and scored most of their runs. Koller smacked out three hits in three times at bat. Capt. Blackman got three out of four and Brayton bingled twice in three chances. Kerwin, at the top of the shuffle with a .1000 per cent average, slipped, getting but one hit. The score:

HUNNEFELD BACK ON JOB YESTERDAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 8.—After a conference with Manager Lewis before the game today William Hunnefeld, Portland outfielder and intielder, was reinstated and sent in at shortstop.

Hunnefeld was supended by Lewis Wednesday when he refused to play a position assigned, first base, saying that he believed his place was in the outfield.

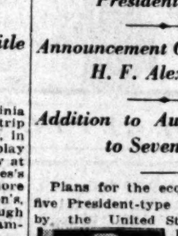
DOLLAR IN DEAL FOR NEW SHIPS

Plans to Buy Five More of President Type

Announcement Given Out by H. F. Alexander

Addition to Augment Fleet to Seventeen

Plans for the acquisition of the five President-type liners owned by the United States Shipping Board and operated out of Seattle to the Orient by the Admiral Oriental Line, are being effected by the Robert Dollar interests, it was announced yesterday by H. F. Alexander, president of the Pacific Steamship Company, upon his arrival at Los Angeles Harbor from a business trip in the East. Mr. Dollar said he thought the sale would be effected before the end of the present year.



H. F. Alexander

Purchase of the five ships, the only ones of their type on the Pacific still in government ownership, would give the Dollar interests complete control of the trans-Pacific passenger and express freight trade, they having previously purchased the seven President-type ships now being operated in around-the-world service and but recently acquired the five sister ships which have been operated out of San Francisco to the Orient by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

In commenting on the prospective purchase, Mr. Alexander said: "There is but one company able to handle these ships. We have the organization. On the coast and in the Orient; we have the around-the-world ships and the five of the San Francisco-Orient Line; our Admiral Orient Line, affiliated with the Dollar Line, already has had these ships under a managing operator's agreement for several years."

"There will then be seventeen fast passenger liners in offshore trade under control of the Dollar Interests, in addition to a fleet of first-class steamers in Pacific coastwise trade.

Mr. Alexander also announced that his company has plans under way for the operation of the liner H. F. Alexander, fastest merchant ship under the American flag, in the trade between New York and Miami, Fla., during the coming winter season. She will probably be taken off the Los Angeles-Seattle run in November, he said, and will return from east coast service in the early spring.

BITS OF GOSSIP OF DAY'S DOINGS AT PORT

Augustino Castano, a waiter on the General Petroleum tanker Los Alamos, may lose the sight of one eye as the result of a freak accident at Harbor Boulevard and First street, Wilmington, yesterday morning. Castano and a friend were crossing at the corner when a truck, making a short turn at the intersection, bowled him over and caused a laceration which may blind his right eye. He was given first aid and removed to the Marine Hospital, Los Angeles.

The Panama-Pacific intercoastal liner Mongolia is due from San Francisco at 1 p.m. tomorrow, and will depart for Honolulu and Orient the following day with more than 400 passengers. The Manchuria of the same line is reported to have arrived at Balboa yesterday morning, where she will make temporary repairs, following an explosion in her engine room two days ago. She will continue to New York tomorrow morning.

The Pacific Mail intercoastal liner Ecuador is due this morning from San Francisco and will sail at 5 p.m. for Balboa and Panama and New York with a full passenger list and several thousand tons of Pacific Coast cargo.

The J. H. Baxter & Co.'s pole yards at Long Beach were initiated yesterday when the steamer Stefano C. Baxter delivered 140,000 feet of poles at the new yard.

The Calawali, popular cabin liner in the Los Angeles-Honolulu run, will sail from her Wilmington dock for Honolulu at noon today with eighty-five passengers and her usual cargo of merchandise and mail for the Hawaiian Islands.

On her return trip to Los Angeles from Honolulu the Calawali will carry a large passenger list comprising, in addition to the usual tourist and business travel, a hundred members or more than 12 per cent of the Aloha Temple of Shriners in Honolulu, who are coming to the mainland to participate in the coming Shriner's convention in Los Angeles. Among the latter members of Aloha Temple will assist in the escort, band, patrol and drum corps duty and will return to the islands the following week on the Calawali.

Among the passengers sailing today are Robert C. Bruce, producer of scenic motion pictures, who will spend many weeks photographing the beauties of the Islands; Frank Elder and wife of Ross, Ind., Perrey W. Arnold and wife of Los Angeles, and Albert Handly and family of Palms, Cal.

First colored missionaries to India, Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Carter and three children, sailed from here yesterday on the Japanese liner Korea Maru of the T. K. K. Line, bound for the Orient. They will proceed to Calcutta to establish an outpost mission for the Holy Church of Southern California. The pastor is a negro, his wife a Mindu. They met while being converted at church eleven years ago, shortly afterward wed and dedicated their lives to Christianity. For the last several years they have been doing evangelical work in Southern California. Their departure for a long term of years was attended by several score of white and colored church folk, whose songs and prayers filled the pier shed for the first time in the pier's history, according to dock workers. One hundred and nineteen passengers boarded the vessel here, most of them Japanese, en route home.

Three Japanese vessels, two of them establishing new services here, and one discontinuing from the port, steamer Hakutatsu Maru of the Tatsuma Kisen Kabushiki Kaisha Line will arrive from the Orient, via San Francisco, on her inaugurating a new transPacific service, with McCormick Line as agents; the Rakuyo Maru of the T. K. K. Line is due with passengers and freight from Chile, and the Manila Maru of the O. S. K. globe-circling service will make her first regular appearance from the East. Three other Japanese steamers and three motorships will follow her in the new round-the-world service.

This tank barge Fullerton, of 1494 tons net, has been reported sold by the Associated Oil Company of San Francisco to Capt. H. C. Monstad of Los Angeles, as a fishing barge at Long Beach. The old barkentine Lahaina, recently was converted into a fishing barge by Capt. Monstad and anchored off Redondo.

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $3, $2, and twelve of $1 each. A list of theaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes, are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgment.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 8. — When the whistles drive their chant of victory night and day, day in and day out, Elbert H. Gary says, all will be well with the land, the people prosperous and content, business booming along and there is no reason why any man may not consider himself remains — "an incorrigible optimist."

Speaking in terms of bookings and shipments and balances, steel production and tin plate, the chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation yet manages to get into his pronouncements that business is strong and healthy and vigorous, that there is plenty of reason for expecting it to continue so, perhaps to increase.

MILLS NEAR CAPACITY

Judge Gary, perhaps the highest authority in the country on business and economic conditions, is in town for the corner-stone laying for the building he is giving Northwestern University. During his stay he made an inspection of the far-flung properties of the steel industry. He asserted that conditions "everywhere are good."

Output of most of our properties is pretty near to full capacity, he said. "The Gary mills and those down in Birmingham, Ala., are running full time. The South Chicago plants are running about 90 per cent of capacity. Some of our eastern plants are running a little below that, but they can do. But that, when considered, is nothing to worry about.

"The steel business is a pretty good business, however. I will say that it is a basic industry, its condition reflects the general industrial situation. Thus, when the wheels keep rolling, we may infer that conditions all around are good."

TONNAGE DROPS

While bookings of new business have not been as large as our shipments, consequently the balance of business on hand is running below normal, I presume that one of our reports to be issued, I think Saturday noon in New York, will show a falling off of between 300,000 or 400,000 tons in March.

"This decrease is seasonable and not surprising in view of the fact that, as I have last year, especially forecasted. Indications are that business in the country is healthy and vigorous, and I expect it so to continue. Notwithstanding the fact that things are not quite satisfactory, one of the chief troubles is that taxes are much too high, both National, State and local.

"The worst thing," he continued, "is that building costs are much too high. But all of these will adjust themselves. Generally, everything looks good, and I think I may say that I remain a conservative optimist."

Judge Gary on his inspection trip was accompanied by a dozen other officials of the subsidiaries of the steel corporation.

RIVERSIDE, May 8.—That prosperity is becoming a reality in this district is indicated by the reports of local banks. The latest of these show an increase of $1,000,000 in deposits in the past month, and rediscounts of $700,000.

Further results from the orange groves having splendid prices and money being able to clear off of incumbrances made during the past years of depression in the citrus market, the crop brought the Pomona Valley over $6,000,000, with the crop of oranges partly harvested. There has been increased activity in real estate during the past few weeks, and citrus lands are now moving rapidly after being idle for many months.

The following bulletin on check writing was issued today by the forgery department of the Los Angeles police department detective bureau:

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The Formax Oil Company, whose success in the Hovey Hills field northwest of Taft last year made it one of the best-known small companies of the State, has brought in its No. 18 well in that field, extending the field several hundred yards to the northwest of the area proved up by the Formax operations of 1924.

According to Paul Paine of the Formax, the new well is making 150 barrels a day from a depth of 1313 feet. The drill picked up the oil sand at 800 feet and penetrated it continuously to 1313 feet, except for a six-foot streak of shale, and was still in the sand when drilling was stopped and the well completed.

No. 18 is the first well to be put down on the Formax company's new 160-acre lease, located northwest of the original Formax ground and in a direct line with the old production in this district.

Quit Deep Test

The Union Oil Company is preparing to abandon the deepest test well yet drilled in the San Joaquin Valley, according to officials of the company. The Rio Bravo well, drilled in the flats seventeen miles west of Bakersfield, which was put down to 6053 feet without an oil showing, is tearing down the derrick after drilling for nearly a year.

The Union Oil Company holds 3000 acres around the Rio Bravo well, said to be the largest community lease in California. The log of the well showed blue shale practically all the way to the bottom of the hole, it is said. Teninch casing was set at 4166 feet.

Recomplete Old Well

The General Petroleum Corporation's No. 45-A in the Santa Fe Springs field has been plugged back from the Meyer sand to the Foix zone and is making about 300 barrels a day, according to field reports. Bottom of the well is at 3575 feet.

Test Wildcat Well

The Manhattan-Pacific Oil Company is making a bailing test in its wildcat well in the Manhattan Beach district, but has had negligible oil showings so far, according to field reports. The well stood cemented for several weeks and was drilled out early the week, but the test so far gives no indication of whether or not a water shut-off has been effected.

The Manhattan Beach well is being watched with considerable interest, particularly by the large companies which have considerable acreage in the vicinity. The Shell company, the Standard Oil Company, the Superior Oil Company, the Union Oil Company and the Petroleum Midway Company all have holdings in this district. The Shell company recently added a ninety-acre tract to its acreage.

To Resume Operations

The Van Nuys Oil Company, formed to explore the oil possibilities near Van Nuys, expects to resume operations in the immediate future, according to field reports. The project is being financed by Van Nuys people and has been idle for several months because of financial difficulties. The well was drilled to about 1000 feet, it is said, but plans are under way to finance further development, involving the drilling of the well to 4000 or 5000 feet if necessary, it is said. The well is located in the outskirts of the town of Van Nuys, at Saugus avenue and El Nido street.

Nearly 7000 Stations

According to figures compiled by the statistical department of the Independent Marketers' Associations of California, there is a total number of 6855 gasoline service stations on the Pacific Slope, not including garages and curb pumps which also dispense gasoline.

Service stations of the five leading marketing companies, including the Standard Oil Company, Union Oil Company, Associated Oil Company, and the Richfield Oil Company and Pan American, total 1763, while stations of other minor companies number 151, bringing the total company-owned service stations to 1913. An estimate of the privately owned service stations places that number at 4942.

According to these figures the privately owned service stations outnumber the company-owned stations on the Pacific Slope almost three to one.

There is a total of 1085 service stations in California owned by the five big oil companies, including Standard Oil Company, which has 538; the Union Oil Company, which has 274; Associated Oil Company, with 157; Pan American Petroleum Corporation, with 43, and the Richfield Oil Company, with 73.

MARSTON ELECTED TO CHESEBROUGH BOARD

Hunter S. Marston of Blair & Co., Inc., was elected yesterday a director of the Chesebrough Manufacturing Company at the annual meeting, according to advices received by the Los Angeles office of the Blair organization. It was also reported that the Chesebrough annual report will show satisfactory earnings for 1924.

Earnings of the company for the first three months of 1925 are estimated by the president to run ahead of the same period last year. He also states that this year should as a whole return greater profits than 1924. The Chesebrough Manufacturing Company makes vaseline and other products and formerly was a member of the Standard Oil group.

RAISIN OUTLOOK CHEERFUL

Wishon Recites Accomplishments of Industry; Supply and Demand Now Adjusted

BY EARLE E. CROWE

A Emory Wishon, vice-president and general manager of the San Joaquin Light and Power Corporation, recently announced a significant victory for the San Joaquin Valley. He told the directors of the California Development Association that the raisin industry has emerged from its difficulties and now is standing squarely on its own feet. And since in large measure the prosperity of the San Joaquin Valley is closely related to the affairs of the raisin growers, this victory is good news to business interests in Los Angeles.

The San Joaquin Valley is considered one of the richest sections in the hinterland contiguous to Los Angeles, and its business fortunes are of vital import to the economic progress of the entire Pacific Southwest. Business relations between this valley and Los Angeles are constantly growing, and much of the capital for development has come from here. In a large part it was the financial assistance from Los Angeles that enabled the raisin industry to reorganize and solve its many problems.

CROPS EXCESSIVE

Surplus production was the chief problem confronting the industry. It was the familiar story of maladjustment of production and consumption. Several successive years left the growers and the marketing association with large carryovers and heavy debts. The situation demanded a complete reorganization of marketing policies and strict curtailment of new planting. In overcoming these difficulties, as proclaimed by Mr. Wishon, the raisin people have accomplished several noteworthy achievements.

He asserts first of all that the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers of California, the co-operative marketing agency, will clean up the 1924 crop and there will be no carry-over. It will also repay the $7,500,000 borrowed on the crop to make advances to members prior to delivery of the 1925 crop.

Furthermore, the carry-over from the 1922 crop has been sold and $8,000,000 borrowed has been repaid. The 1923 crop, of which the Sun-Maid organization handled 260,000 tons of the 300,000 produced in the State, has been moved successfully.

The Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' Association now has cash assets of more than $1,000,000 and owes less than $200,000 in current liabilities.

Back of this story of accomplishment is a tale of hardships beginning with the high prices for raisins and grapes during the war years and the later days or prohibition. The raisin industry overexpanded under the delusion that the prices level was permanent. Production in January, 1923, was estimated at more than double the largest tonnage ever sold in any one year.

Also, as Mr. Wishon told the California Development Association, the raisin-growing areas of the world tripled production as the result of the high American prices between 1919 and 1921. As a consequence the world production was more than double world consumption.

The direct result was a series of reversals for the co-operative marketing organization then known as the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers, and days of depression for a good part of the San Joaquin Valley. The association still owed $8,000,000 borrowed on the 1922 crop and held 120,000 tons carried over from 1922. It had lost the confidence of the trade and was threatened with further government prosecution for violation of the Federal laws.

More than 100,000 people directly or indirectly were involved and an investment of over $150,000,000 represented by 200,000 acres of raisin grapes was threatened. The members of the Sun-Maid association were discouraged over the collapse of high prices and the inability of the association to fulfill its contract with them.

AFFAIRS READJUSTED

In the middle of 1923, a new Sun-Maid company was organized with adequate capital and with the approval of the government and the support of its members. Whether or not this company would succeed depended on its success in marketing the enormous crop of raisins in that year, and especially the large carryover from the previous season. This task was accomplished and now the industry is looking confidently at the future.

Mr. Wishon believes that the success of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers points the way toward the sound marketing of all dried fruits. Through its selling agency, called the Sunland Sales, the association has cut the cost of marketing in half and increased sales by 80 per cent in 1924. It has opened a new sales outlet through the creation of a new product known as Raisin Syrup, which will be made in a plant costing over $500,000.

But of the greatest importance is the stabilization of the entire industry through a reduction of new plantings and the solution of the carry-over problem. The entire Pacific-Southwest benefits from this achievement.

MUNICIPAL FINANCING LESS

For the first four months of the year the amount of State and municipal borrowing through the issuance of bonds is reported by the Daily Bond Buyer of New York as $401,718,397. The total for the corresponding period last year was $424,031,448. This reduction in the volume of financing occurred in the month of April. Last year the loans floated in that month aggregated $132,957,416, as against only $92,692,818 in April this year.

An even greater shrinkage in volume of financing on behalf of States and municipalities will probably be recorded when figures for the next four months' period are published. In 1924 there were $634,000,000 of loans negotiated during May, June, July and August. This year, even with the $60,000,000 New York City bond issue included, borrowings should fall far short of that abnormal figure.

The following table gives a comparison of State and municipal bond sales for ten years:

	April, ending April 30	Four mos. ending April 30
1925	$ 92,692,818	$401,718,397

Steel Problems Discussed at State Meeting

Steel chiefs, members of the executive committee of the California steel conference at Del Monte in February, journeying from all sections of the State, bringing sectional and group problems, met yesterday at the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. Charles S. Knight, director of the industrial department of the California Development Association, who is guiding the destiny of the State-wide campaign to place California in the vanguard of the steel communities of the world, states that notable progress in bringing steel to the front in California has been made since the first of the year.

Members of the executive committee, representing the six steel groups who attended yesterday's meeting are Maynard McFie, chairman, W. T. McFie Supply Company; Charles M. Gunn, vice-chairman, Gunn, Carle & Co.; Charles S. Knight, secretary, California Development Association; E. S. Houdlette, Pacific Steel Company; J. Fenstermacher, Columbia Steel Corporation; F. J. Bruzzone, Baker Hamilton and Pacific Company; L. C. Scheller, Union Hardware and Metal Company; N. E. Dawson, American System of Reinforcing; P. F. Gillespie, Judson Manufacturing Company; Robert P. Miller, Union Iron Works; J. M. Culverwell, Kortick Manufacturing Company; W. J. Boyle, Boyle Manufacturing Company; H. H. Whiting, Best Steel Company, and Martin Madsen, Madsen Iron Works.

Extension of markets and closer co-ordination of all steel development activities were the principal topics of discussion.

MARKET FLASHES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Stocks firm; motors and public utilities at new highs. Bonds steady; speculative rails advance. Foreign exchanges irregular; sterling barely steady.

Cotton higher; spot houses buying. Sugar irregular; rallied on trade support.

Coffee firm; Wall street buying.

CHICAGO, May 8.—Wheat higher; prices rally 2 to 3 cents a bushel. Corn firm; decreasing stocks. Cattle steady. Hogs firm; big packers buying sparingly.

Offer County Road District Serial Bonds

An issue of $100,000 Los Angeles county road district improvement No. 272 6 per cent bonds, due serially about October 1, 1926, to October 1, 1940, is being offered by G. Brashears & Co., at prices ranging from 101.43 to 107.89 according to maturity.

The principal and semiannual interest are payable at the office of the County Treasurer of Los Angeles county, and the bonds are entirely exempt from Federal income tax, and from personal property tax in California.

The district is located about two miles southeast of the city of Whittier and has an area of about 3971 acres, practically all of which is under cultivation, and embraces some of the best agricultural land in the State.

The bonds are secured by a tax lien and rank prior to all mortgages, including those of banks, life insurance companies, Federal farm loan associations and Federal joint stock land banks. The assessed valuation of the land in the district totals $1,056,870 and the actual value of the land is placed at $2,500,000.

WESTERN COMPANIES AUTHORIZE DIVIDENDS

Dividend announcements yesterday included the following declarations from western companies:

Marine Corporation, regular monthly dividend of 1 cent a share and 1 cent extra. Payable the 31st inst. to stock of record the 20th inst.

California Petroleum, regular quarterly payments of $1.75 on the preferred and common stocks. Common payable June 1 to stock of record the 20th inst., and preferred payable July 1 to stock of record June 20.

May Department Stores, regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on common, payable June 1 to stock of record the 15th inst. Also declared one quarterly dividend in advance, payable September 1 to stock of record August 14.

A spring seesaw that may be enjoyed by one child alone has been invented.

WHO'S WHO

Stewart McKee of the foreign department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles will speak before the foreign-trade forum of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday. His subject will be "Gold Basis as It Affects Our Foreign Trade."

J. R. Scantlin of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank delivered the last of a series of educational talks on banking given by representatives of the First National Bank and Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank group through the high schools at the Franklin High School auditorium yesterday. His subject was "The Federal Reserve System."

R. R. Barr, resident partner of Peirce, Fair & Co. of Los Angeles, left yesterday for New York and other eastern points to investigate the business and market conditions in that territory.

L. M. Maynard, consulting economist of this city, will address this evening the spring meeting in Fresno of Group No. 2, California Bankers' Association. He will speak on general business conditions. Early next week he will leave for the West Coast of Mexico to compile a survey on business opportunities there for a syndicate of Los Angeles and San Francisco business men.

Heavy Buying Carries Wheat Prices Higher

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 8. — Heavy commission-house and local buying carried all deliveries of wheat and corn to a new high on the present movement, expectations being that a decidedly bullish government report on winter wheat would be issued after the close, this view being strengthened by an estimate issued by a New York trade paper suggesting 583,000,000 bushels, or 60,000,000 bushels less than the average of the figures by local statisticians. Outside interest in both grains was materially larger than of late, and while immense profit taking was on, the close was at net gains of 2⅞@4¼c on wheat and 1⅝@2c on corn, while oats were 1@1¾c and rye 3c higher. May wheat acted tight and closed at 1.68⅛@1.69, or 1¾c over July. September finished at 1.48¼@1.49. May corn was 1.14, July 1.16⅝@1.16⅞ and September 1.14⅝@1.15.

Government report when issued showed 445,000,000 bushels, or slightly in excess of trade expectations, and for that reason was regarded as slightly bearish, although it was bullish when compared with the 550,000,000 bushels harvested last year.

Little change was shown in the general character of the domestic crop reports and further recommendations were forecast for the greater part of the belt, including the Northwest, which has been sending in a few complaints of dry weather during the past few days. Foreign cables indicated a firmer undertone prevailed abroad, and Liverpool closed 2@3¼d higher on expectations of small world's shipments and a decrease on ocean passage.

Argentine exports of 1,350,000 bushels for the week were about as expected, but about half of the total went to non-European countries and none to the United Kingdom. Export sales at the seaboard in all positions were 800,000 to 1,000,000 bushels, largely Duluth springs, and messages for the Northwest indicated that the bulk of the available Duluth wheat had been disposed of, with sales of 500,000 to 1,500,000 bushels for the week. Minneapolis sold 100,000 bushels to Montreal.

The public is paying more attention to the corn crop and there was aggressive buying of the July on the belief that supplies would be short before another crop was harvested. The increased speculative buying more than offset larger country offerings to arrive from Illinois and Iowa, and only a fair cash demand. Heavy recommendations in Argentina, which promise to delay the conditioning of the new corn crop, had some effect on values.

Cash oats were in better demand, with sales of 200,000 bushels here to exporters and 150,000 bushels in the domestic trade. Futures were firmer in sympathy with other grains and closed about the top, with May at a slight premium over the July. The seaboard reported 300,000 to 400,000 bushels sold abroad.

Trade in rye was only fair, with the strength in wheat the main influence. Charters have been made to bring down 1,000,000 bushels from Duluth and 13,000 bushels were bought at Minneapolis. No export sales were reported.

Timothy seed, 5.75@6.75; clover, 18.00@26.00 per 100 pounds; flaxseed, 2.82⅛ per bushel.

Lard was sold by longs and closed 2⅛@5c lower, with ribs 10@30c and bellies 25@27½c higher. There was liberal buying of lard early, but the market eased later on profit taking.

Revival of Public Interest in Motor Issues

Oils Continue to Show Firm Undertone

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8.—The upward movement of stock prices, which had been under way for about a week, was checked temporarily today by a heavy volume of profit-taking sales. Net recessions, as a rule, were limited to fractions. Trading was in reduced volume, today's sales falling below 1,750,000 shares.

Revival of public interest in the motor issues, based on reports of high current earnings, was one of the day's features. Willys-Overland common moved up more than 2 points to a new high record for the year at 21 1-4 on total transactions as well in excess of 100,000 shares, and the preferred touched a new top at 97 1-2. Packard, Hudson and Continental Motors also attained new peak prices, while the Pierce-Arrow issues and Jordan sold 2 to 5 points higher.

NEW HIGH PRICES

Bullish demonstrations in the public utilities were on a smaller scale although Montana Power, West Penn Power, Columbia Gas and Electric, Brooklyn, Union Gas, American Water Works and Pittsburgh Utilities preferred all established new 1925 high prices, the extreme gains running as high as 5 points.

Oils displayed a firm undertone on the announcement of an increase in smackover crude prices. Revival of speculative interest in Transcontinental Oil, which closed nearly a point higher at 52 1-4, in apparent reflection of a marked improvement in the company's financial position, was one of the features of that group.

Steels turned reactionary in anticipation of a poor April tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation, which will be issued at noon tomorrow. Chairman E. H. Gary estimated that it would show a drop of between 300,000 and 400,000 tons of unfilled orders. United States Steel common closed 5-8 lower at 115 1-8. Crucible dropped a point to 68 3-4, and Republic fell back 1-2 to 43 1-4.

U. S. RUBBER UP

United States Rubber issues responded to a further hardening of crude rubber prices, the preferred crossing 98 to a new high price for the year, and the common showing a gain of 1 5-8 to 43 3-4. American Sumatra Tobacco preferred soared nearly 12 points to 51 1-2 on a retreat of the short interest which was built up as a result of the recent receivership proceedings against that company, the stock later slipping back to 47.

Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent and then dropped to 3 1-2. The time money and commercial paper markets were unchanged.

The feature of the foreign exchange market was a jump of 15 points to 16.90 cents in Norwegian kroner. Other European rates were irregular, demand sterling ruling slightly lower around 484 1-2, while French francs were about 2 points higher, around 521 1-2 cents.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE: Demand was not overly active for yesterday's small supply. However, a fair clearance was made. Prices on all killing classes were rather uneven, and closed generally steady to 25 cents lower. Three cars of 1090-pound grass steers cleared for $7.75, while a load of 1393-pound weights realized 8.50. A few common kinds sold downward to 6.25. Late Thursday three cars of good 1158-pound grass steers realized 9.10.

Fat cows and heifers, mostly in odd head and small lots, cleared from 4.50 to 6.50, although odd head were fairly numerous upward to 7.00, with a choice 880-pound heifer at 8.00. Canners and cutters turned largely from 2.00 to 3.75. The bull supply consisted mostly of beef kinds and these turned largely around 5.00.

CALVES: Yesterday's small supply of vealers was slow to move and prices generally were steady to weak with the week's sharp decline. The bulk of offerings were common kinds and overweights that cleared from 4.50 to 8.00, while good and choice milk calves sold upward to 10.00 and above.

HOGS: Yesterday's offerings were five cars of good and choice 173 to 201-pound Texas and Nebraska butchers. All offerings were cleaned up at prices around steady to 15 cents higher than Thursday's close, the five cars bringing 13.25. A few light weight pigs realized 11.75.

SHEEP: Nothing was offered in this division and, in the general opinion of the trade, good and choice spring lambs are quotable from 13.00 to 13.50 with good and choice lightweight shorn ewes from 4.00 to 5.00.

CRUDE RUBBER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Stubbornness of dealers in refusing to place enough rubber on sale to flood the market and to reduce prices is held responsible for today's further rise in crude rubber. As yesterday, the advance today was substantial and simultaneous with the London advance. London's near-by closing price was 25½d.

New York close: Ribbed smoked sheets, spot, 25c; June, 25¼c; July-September, 26½c; first latex crepe, spot, 23½c; June, 24½c; July-September, 25c; clean thin brown, 23c; No. 2 amber, 22½c; arriver fine pale, 40½c; No. 1 rolled brown, 24c.

Motor-ship building throughout the world is now growing rapidly.

BOND QUOTATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8. — Bond prices moved ahead at a somewhat faster pace today, but new high records were established in most sections of the market. Public utilities led with the rails for the majority of the advance and gains of 1 to 2 points were scattered among the representatives of these groups.

The revival of interest in standard investment railroad obligations was measured by a 1-point advance in Atchison general 4s, which moved to 92 for the first time this year. Moderate gains also were scored by Norfolk and Western convertible 6s, St. Louis Southwestern consolidated 4s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Denver and Rio Grande consolidated 4s, and Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis 6s.

The recent upturn in public utility shares, based on prospects of combinations, reported high-level earnings and increased dividends, brought a more general advance in the bonds of these companies today. Among the issues which rose 1 to more than 2 points were Louisville Gas 5s, Northern Ohio Traction and Light 6s, Pacific Telephone 5s and Consumers' Power 5s.

Another large turn in Japanese bonds featured trading in the foreign list. The bonds declined fractionally but French municipals were in demand at higher prices.

New financing included a $6,425,000 issue of Southern Pacific thirty-year 4s, which were sold at 91 without a public offering. A $15,000,000 Florida East Coast Railway issue is in prospect for next week and a $2,000,000 issue of Los Angeles Sugar 6 per cent bonds is scheduled for early sale.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Continue Upward

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Realizing sales brought about considerable irregularity in today's curb market; but the price movement continued upward. New favorites were brought forward in the public utility group. Adirondack Power and American Light and Traction each soaring more than 12 points to 72 and 173¾, respectively. Commonwealth Power crossed 128, for a net gain of more than 4 points. American Power and Light and some of the other low and medium priced issues fell back on profit taking.

Oil shares displayed a better tone on reports of stiffening commodity prices. Cities Service closed 3 points higher at 183, and Standard Oil of Indiana moved up nearly a point to 64¾. Revival of speculative interest in Curtiss Aeroplane sent that stock up nearly 2 points to 19¼. The motor shares failed to reflect the improvement shown by these issues on the big board. Electrical Refrigeration shares held firm. Car American Rayon Products yielded fractionally, but was still quoted well above the recent subscription price.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb Market, furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 639 South Spring street:

The Times presents herewith another installment of Jack Boyle's new detective mystery yarn, especially written for The Times and in a Los Angeles setting. There will be daily installments until May 13, the last chapter being the vehicle for a novel contest in which The Times will pay $555 in cash prizes for the best solutions of the mystery. Don't miss any of it!

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS

Sonia Lathrop, a beautiful girl registered at the Biltmore Hotel, recovers from a swoon to find herself handcuffed to a policeman murdered in Westlake Park with a jade handled dagger which matches another with which a Chinese gentleman had been occupied by a second girl, who disappeared during the night. "Pep" Kirby, Times reporter, finds that Sonia has vanished from the hotel. He locates her suite at the Biltmore, which has been ransacked.

The girl, meanwhile, has been recaptured just before the arrival of the police, summoned by Robert Thornton, by a Chinese tong chief who has her conveyed, unconscious, to a stone walled dungeon. Her hours of horror in the darkness of the cell end with the arrival of an aged Chinese woman and a young Chinese girl who brings food. The girl seems inclined to befriend the prisoner and promises to return. The long chief appears and when the girl denies knowledge of a mystic jewel which he demands, conducts her to the Chamber of Justice, an oriental torture room, where she is forced to watch the merciless rites performed by a red-hooded executioner upon a Chinese prisoner. She is taken back to the dungeon and told by the chief that the man's fate will be her own if she does not surrender the jewel.

"Pep" Kirby finds that a package addressed to Sonia at the Biltmore has been received from San Francisco. The sender's name is given as "Sonia Lathrop." He goes to Chinatown, where he endeavors to arrange with Lee Yuan, aged Chinese sage, for dangerous privilege of sharing Sonia's captivity.

Now go on with the story.

CHAPTER VII

Shortly after noon on the day on which Sonia Lathrop first saw the tong master's hidden chamber of torture and on which "Pep" Kirby discussed ancient wisdom with Lee Yuan, a rusty and fenderless flivver rattled painfully up the Franklin-avenue hill just east of Cahuenga avenue in Hollywood.

"Stop at the apartment house on the right," the man in the rear seat instructed the tow-headed youth who was driving and then, to the girl who sat beside him cuddling a small and very ugly monkey: "Well, we've arrived safely — at last."

The tired girl murmured her whole-hearted thankfulness as her companion paid the driver and dragged a number of heavy handbags from the car.

"Take care of our car until I send a garage man out for it," he instructed.

"Sure," the lad agreed and, pocketing the generous tip just given him, he patted the battered wheel of his Ford as he murmured affectionately: "Liza, you may be old, but you're a gold-digging kid and papa loves you." Joyfully whistled bars of "Oh, Gosh, How the Money Rolls In," sounded even above the pounding of the motor as he drove off.

The girl's feet dragged heavily with utter weariness as she followed her companion into the lower apartment-house. A keen observer would have noted a sort of relaxed furtiveness in the cautious backward glances of the pair as the man unlocked the door of an apartment and stood aside for the girl to enter. Once within the handsomely furnished room with the door closed and bolted behind them, the girl sank into the nearest chair with a sigh of exhaustion as the monkey wriggled from her arms to the floor and darted about the unfamiliar place with eager curiosity. The man dropped the baggage, slipped out of his overcoat and stood beside the girl's chair looking down at her with tender solicitude.

"We've had a hard trip, but it's over," he said. "There's nothing more to fear. I'll leave you here to rest for a couple of hours and then we'll go into Los Angeles and you can rid yourself, at last, of that package of dynamite we've been carrying."

"No, no," the girl protested with a shudder or dread. "I don't want to rest. I don't want you to leave me. I'm still afraid. I imagine I see eyes everywhere peering in at me as they did at that station where you saved me by changing trains."

"That was at San Jose," explained the man. "We dropped off the Lark when I saw we were threatened and took the Padre which follows it. You can be sure that an oriental reception committee was badly disappointed yesterday morning when both trains arrived without us. If we had come through by rail instead or dropping off at Santa Barbara, hiding a day to be sure we weren't watched and then taking an auto, I wouldn't dare to let you out of my sight for half a second. The auto ride was rather terrible after our car broke down and we commandeered that flivver of ancient vintage, but we're here and it's perfectly safe for you to rest. Please do, won't you?"

The unconscious tenderness in the plea was answered by a faint flush on the girl's pale cheeks.

"I can't. I dare not," she protested. "I shall never have an instant's peace until that accursed jewel is out of my possession. Besides, Sonia must be wild with anxiety. She hasn't had a word of explanation since she went to the train to meet me."

"True. But we'll remedy that instantly," the man declared taking up the phone and calling the Biltmore.

John Dawson, once known to the police of every city from Maine to California as Boston Blackie, shrewdest, coolest, and most daring master-crook of his generation, had never lost, during the long years since he had abandoned the path of crookdom, those instant, intuitive perceptions of danger which had so often saved him in the adventurous days of the past. In consequence, when the hotel switchboard operator replied to his commonplace request for Miss Lathrop's room with an excited "Miss Lathrop's room!" Did you say Miss Sonia Lathrop's room?" Blackie, as old friends and new still persisted in calling him, instantly hung up the phone without replying.

"What's the matter?" questioned the girl as he rose, grave and perplexed.

"I don't know, but I'm afraid something is wrong at the Biltmore —something connected with Miss Lathrop. Don't be frightened, please, please," as the girl cried out in alarm and sprang, trembling, to her feet. "I may be unduly suspicious, but I didn't like the phone girl's excited manner. We can't risk having phone calls traced here until I know what, if anything, has happened. I'll go out and use a public phone."

"Please hurry," the girl pleaded nervously.

"I will, and while I'm away don't open this door to anyone on any pretext whatever," Blackie unslung the revolver which had been hidden beneath his armpit. "I'm leaving this," he said. "Use it if anyone tries to enter. I won't be gone ten minutes."

Boston Blackie hurried to Hollywood Boulevard and called the hotel from a drug store booth.

"Are you the same party who called Miss Lathrop five minutes ago," the operator asked instantly.

"Yes, my dear, why? I was disconnected before," Blackie answered. "Just a minute," the girl requested, and then a man's voice said: "This is Miss Lathrop's suite."

Blackie clapped his hand over the phone and ejaculated: "Cotterell! I'd know his voice if I hadn't heard it for a hundred years instead of five." Then, speaking into the phone: "I'd like to talk with Miss Lathrop, please."

As Blackie had done, the detective covered the phone and exclaimed amazedly: "Boston Blackie! That means our work is cut out for us. Quick, have this call traced," he ordered of one of his men.

"She's not here just now. If you will leave your number I'll have her call you as soon as she returns," he then answered.

"Do you expect her soon?" Blackie inquired, ignoring the suggestion. "I hope so. I'll be glad to take a message for her," the detective offered.

"Thanks. I won't trouble you." But, in the hope of relieving Sonia Lathrop's anxiety at once in the event she was with the detective, he changed his mind. "I believe I will leave a message. Tell Miss Lathrop, please, that the friend she was to have met at the Southern Pacific station is safe and well," he said.

Forestalling further inquiry, Blackie hung up. Cotterell murmured an imprecation and snapped out a series of commands which scattered his men precipitately. The subordinate sent to trace the source of the phone call returned a moment later to report that it was from the booth in a Hollywood drugstore.

"Naturally, being from Boston Blackie, it wouldn't be anything but a blind trail," Cotterell exclaimed resignedly. "If he's the man who used the dagger on the train and in the park he's going to be hard to find."

An hour later Boston Blackie's photograph had been identified positively by the Pullman conductor as that of the man who accompanied the girl who disappeared on the train. Every policeman and detective in Los Angeles and Hollywood immediately received instructions to arrest him on sight.

On his way back to the apartment, Boston Blackie bought a copy of The Times containing "Pep" Kirby's story of the Pullman car murder and the subsequent discovery of the similarly slain policeman with an unknown girl handcuffed to his wrist—a girl who vanished before the arrival of the police.

His face was furrowed with grave concern as he let himself into the room where the girl awaited him.

"It's worse than I feared," he announced regretfully, handing her the newspaper. "The girl in the park was Sonia, without a doubt. I'm afraid she's in the hands of the tong men. That means we must act quickly. She's in real danger. They must believe she has the jewel we're carrying.

As Blackie's companion read the grewsome account of the two jade dagger murders, every drop of blood seemed to flow from her cheeks.

"Let's go instantly," she cried to Blackie.

"We will," he agreed. "I'll take the jewel, but we'll not surrender it unless they release Miss Lathrop to us."

He hastily opened one of the bags and, throwing aside the wrappings in which it was packed, took out a small idol of teakwood which was a replica of the mammoth one Sonia had seen grinning above the altar in the tong chief's Chamber of Justice.

"For safety's sake I'm going to take the jewel from its hiding place and put it in the lining of my overcoat until they agree to return Sonia to us," he explained, unscrewing the idol's ugly head from its body. Carefully hollowed out within the image was a cavity — an empty cavity.

Boston Blackie uttered a cry of surprise and consternation.

"The jewel's gone," he gasped.

"Gone, impossible," echoed incredulously. "Oh, it can't be gone. The bag hasn't even been opened since I hid the accursed thing there."

Blackie, his brow furrowed by deep lines of perplexity, dejectedly exhibited the empty hollow within the idol's body.

The cunning of the yellow race on one side, the daring of the white on the other, in the next chapter these forces are engaged in an epic battle for Son

PRICES OF WOOL SHOW STRENGTH

Downward Trend in Market Values Appears to Have Been Stopped

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, May 8.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: "The downward trend in wool values appears to have been stopped, temporarily at least, with the London auctions being curtailed and a suspension of sales in Australia until July, it would seem as if a stable basis might soon be found upon which to do business. Prices have changed only slightly here during the past week and it is evident that the decline at London of 10 to 15 per cent on Merinos and 5 to 10 per cent on cross-breds was fully discounted.

"In the West little has been done in the way of new city operations. For best bright fleeces 35 cents is being offered, with little bought, while for the territory sections hardly anything has been done, except for a few consignments being made.

"The mill situation appears to be without material change, although some of the manufacturers, even of the larger worsted outfits, have been looking for business and not always finding the wool that want plentiful.

"Mohair is slow, but probably 2,500,000 pounds have been offered in Texas at 52@55c for grown hair and 67@70c for kid."

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

Domestic—Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces, delaine unwashed, 49@50; one-half blood combing, 48@49; three-eighths blood combing, 46@47; fine unwashed, 41@42.

Michigan and New York fleeces: Delaine unwashed, 44@47; one-half blood combing, 47@48; three-eighths combing, 46; one-fourth combing, 45@46; fine unwashed, 41@42.

Wisconsin, Missouri and average New England: One-half blood, 46@47; three-eighths blood, 45@46; one-fourth blood, 44@45.

Scoured basis: Texas fine, twelve months (selected,) 1.23; fine eight months, 1.12@1.15.

California northern, 1.20@1.23; middle county, 1.10@1.12; southern, 1.06@1.07.

Pulled Wool Higher

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, May 8.—There is little more encouragement among wool traders today over reports received from the sales at London than yesterday. Prices here, however, continue nominal and in most instances on about the same basis. Pulled wools have been quoted at 1@2 cents lower figure. Late reports from London indicate that the market there is somewhat firmer and competition more general.

COTTON CLOSES NET UNCHANGED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Spot cotton closed net unchanged at 23.35. Futures reacted moderately today after an initial upturn on an accumulation of overnight buying orders from local shorts and commission-house interests. The upturn carried values some 20 to 25 points higher, but the renewed selling subsequently from brokers with southern and western connections canceled this in most instances and final quotations were 2 points higher to 4 points net lower.

RANGER IS PAID AFTER FIFTY YEARS

Texan Collects Salary for Services of Half Century Before

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 8.—Having just collected a 52-year-old debt, Frank L. Huebner of San Antonio, pioneer Texan and early-day Ranger, has settled himself in his favorite porch rocker.

The morning mail has brought him a warrant bearing the seal of the State of Texas and the signature of the State Comptroller, for $80. It represented remuneration for his last month's services as a member of the State police force. It was his salary for the month of February, 1873.

Nearly fifty-two years after he had severed his connections with the State police force, Huebner was rummaging in an old strong box. He found a due bill signed by F. L. Britton, Adjutant-General, in 1873, as evidence that the State owed him $80 salary.

He remembered that at the time the due bill was made the Democrats had just taken office, and as he had been appointed by and served under a Republican administration, he concluded that it would be useless to try to collect salary due him. He sent the due bill to Senator Real, and at the last session of the Legislature a special appropriation was made to pay Huebner his $80.

LONG BEACH MAN'S WIFE IS DROWNED

Suicide is Suspected in Mrs. E. C. Saylor's Death in Sacramento Hospital

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Mrs. Edith C. Saylor, 55 years of age, wife of O. M. Saylor, wealthy Long Beach realty man, was drowned in a bathtub in her room at the Sutter Hospital early today. From a disjointed and somewhat meaningless note which the attendants found in the room the authorities believe Mrs. Saylor committed suicide.

"My husband: Be brave and do not grieve," said a portion of the note.

Screams from Mrs. Saylor, who suffered a nervous breakdown a week ago, attracted the attention of nurses who were forced to break down the door which had been locked. Mrs. Saylor was found in the bathtub filled to overflowing and efforts to revive her were futile.

FORECAST SHORTAGE OF WHEAT

Acreage of Crop Sown is Less Than Ten-Year Average

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A forecast of 444,833,000 bushels of winter wheat and this year's crop was made today by the Department of Agriculture. A month ago 474,255,000 bushels were forecast. Last year 590,037,000 bushels were harvested.

The crop carried was based on the condition of the crop on May 1, which was 77 per cent of a normal, compared with 68.7 on April 1 this year, 84.8 on May 1 last year and 85.2, the May 1 ten-year average.

The area of winter wheat remaining on May 1 to be harvested was about 47,815,000 acres, or 9,504,000 acres (22.5 per cent,) less than the acreage sown last autumn and 3,926,000 acres (9.9 per cent,) less than the acreage harvested last year.

The average harvested acreage for the last ten years was 39,304,000 acres and the average abandonment to May 1, in the ten years, was 11.1 per cent.

Rye production this year was forecast at 57,949,000 bushels, the forecast being based on the crop's condition May 1, which was 86.8 per cent of a normal, compared with a forecast of 61,652,000 bushels on a condition of 84 a month ago, and a production of 63,146,000 bushels last year when the May 1 condition was 88.2.

The area of rye on May 1 standing and intended for grain is estimated at 4,184,000 acres, compared with 4,173,000 harvested last year and 4,831,000 the ten-year average harvested area.

Yields of May on farms May 1 are estimated at 15,679,000 tons, or 15.9 per cent of the 1924 crop, compared with 12,835,000 tons, or 13 per cent of the crop in May 1 last year.

The condition of meadowlands on May 1 was 87.9 per cent of a normal, compared with 89.6 the ten-year average. The condition of pastures was 86.5 per cent of a normal, compared with 84.1 the ten-year average. Of spring plowing, 82.7 per cent was completed to May 1, compared with 71.3 per cent the ten-year average. Of spring sewing and planting 65.8 per cent was completed to May 1, compared with 58.3 the ten-year average.

The condition on May 1 and the forecast of production (in thousands of bushels, i.e., thousands omitted,) for principal producing States, follows: Winter wheat—Pennsylvania, condition 95 and production 21,085; Illinois, 85 and 44,940; Nebraska, 77 and 37,979; Kansas, 75 and 93,997; Texas, 38 and 4102; Montana, 68 and 2846, Colorado, 84 and 20,846; Washington, 76 and 6530; Oregon, 80 and 5620. Rye—Pennsylvania, 91 and 2453; Illinois, 89 and 2442; Minnesota, 96 and 9100; North Dakota, 88 and 13,810.

COOLIDGE URGES AIRCRAFT STUDY

Feels That Courses Should be Given at West Point

Approves Wilbur's Plan for Annapolis Instruction

Engineering Council Votes General Air Quiz

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—President Coolidge feels that the study of aviation should be encouraged further at the West Point Military Academy, along lines as outlined by Secretary Wilbur for the Naval Academy.

The President has been taking a personal interest in the aviation instructions given future officers at West Point and Annapolis. The recent decision of the Navy Department to extend the course at the Naval Academy met with his approval, and he will lend his personal influence to encouragement of a similar expansion at West Point.

An exhaustive study of aviation problems, including that of instruction, is now in progress under the supervision of the Army General Staff and it is regarded as very likely that the number of hours now devoted to the subject by the cadets at West Point will be substantially increased.

PROVIDES BEGINNING

There is no project, however for attempting to make qualified air pilots or observers out of all graduates either at the Military or Naval Academy. The expansion in aviation courses has to do more with giving them, from the start of their military careers, a thorough understanding of this new branch of both services.

Through such instruction, officials hope to eliminate the difficulty now experienced in finding men of high rank for responsible positions who are sufficiently well grounded in aviation to co-ordinate as commanders of all military or naval elements at their disposal in time of emergency.

TO LAUNCH GENERAL QUIZ

PHILADELPHIA, May 8. — The American Engineering Council, through its administrative board, today voted to undertake what was described as the first exhaustive investigation of the entire aircraft situation ever made in this country. All aspects of the problem, military and civil, will be taken up by a special committee. The task is expected to occupy one year and to cost between $50,000 and $100,000.

The action of the administrative board followed the adoption of the report of the council's aeronautics committee of which Prof. Joseph W. Roe, head of the department of industrial engineering in New York University, is chairman. Pointing out that the present "confused situation" is a national menace, both as to preparedness and commercial development, the report declared that because of the "uncertain" conditions there also was great danger to investors.

PREPAREDNESS ADVISED

In a discussion over the question of whether the preparedness factor should be emphasized in the inquiry, Dr. H. E. Howe of Washington, D. C., said that the possibility of war should not be ignored. He added that Japan and Germany were working closely together in developing chemical warfare.

Its work having been completed with the presentation of the report, the committee on aeronautics was dismissed. The president of the council, former Gov. James Hartness of Vermont, will appoint a new committee of experts to conduct the aircraft investigation. Work will begin at once, the first task of the committee being the provision of funds and the mapping out of procedure.

Charles T. Main of Boston was appointed to represent the council in aiding the War Department's preparedness plans as they relate to construction work.

MEAT, BREAD DEALERS OF LONDON HIT

Royal Food Commission's Report Says Prices Have Doubled Since War

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, May 8.—The royal commission on high food prices, for which Sir Auckland Geddes is chairman, issued a preliminary report today dealing with the questions of bread and meat.

The commission's chief recommendation was to set up a permanent food council of twelve, of whom two should be practical housewives, whose duty it would be to watch the retail food prices. Nothing is said about what they should do in case abuses were discovered.

The commission reports that the London bakers' and butchers' incomes have doubled since before the war, and £1 only buys as much 11s 2d bought in 1914. The butchers could sell half of their meat a penny a pound cheaper, while the bakers also are making too much money, the report says.

She's Silent on Salary Differences

Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett

TELLS STAR'S RISE TO FAME

Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett, Wife of Local Man Hailed in New York Grand Opera, Awaits Him Here

Let not the public waste its tears weeping over the reported fact that the Metropolitan Grand Opera managers at New York are frightfully underpaying Lawrence Tibbett, Los Angeles young man who leaped into world-wide fame in one night for his wonderful singing at the Metropolitan Operahouse.

Whatever they are paying Tibbett, his wife, Mrs. Grace Mackay Tibbett, is not running around the country telling the world what a raw deal he is getting. Mrs. Tibbett is in Los Angeles with the 5-year-old Tibbett twins, waiting for Dad who is singing his way from New York to his old home town here. He will arrive in the city on the 30th inst. after having sung at practically every great spring festival from here to the east coast.

Mrs. Tibbett was the guest of honor at the ball given by the Woman's Lyric Club at the Ambassador Auditorium last night. She told something of the remarkable story of the rise of the Los Angeles high-school boy to the dizzy heights of fame via the New York Grand Opera route. Mrs. Tibbets and her husband were classmates at the Manual Arts High School. She knows her husband. A lot of foolishness has been published about the Tibbett rise to fame, a life of despair, denial, near starvation, poor wife working and a lot of other fairy-book stuff.

Here are the cold facts as related by Mrs. Tibbett last night.

The young man's father, William Tibbett, as Sheriff of Kern county, was shot and killed by a bandit in a Chinese hash-house in Bakersfield, in 1903. The widow and her four children, 6-year-old Lawrence, the youngest, came to Los Angeles. Along with the other children, Lawrence went through the Los Angeles grammar schools and the Manual Arts High School. It was there he met the young woman who is now his wife. Both of them took the two-year junior college course at Manual Arts.

When Lawrence was 17 years of age, still in high school, he took up the study of voice under Joseph Dupuy. For six years he studied under this teacher and made great progress. After his instructor's death, Tibbett studied for two years under Basil Ruysdael, former bass in the Metropolitan Opera Company and later a resident of Los Angeles.

He and his classmate were married in 1919. They rented a little cottage at La Crescenta. Tibbett continued his studying. He made

Many Flowers at Funeral of Japanese Girl

Hisako Hori, 6-year-old daughter of T. Hori, one of the leading Japanese merchants of Los Angeles, was laid to rest yesterday and the Japanese colony of Los Angeles expressed its sympathy for the family in the immemorial fashion followed in Japan.

The services for the child were conducted in the Japanese Union Church on South San Pedro street. The church was converted into a veritable bower of blooms, the offerings of friends. A half dozen trucks were required to carry the flowers from the church to Evergreen Cemetery, where the little girl was laid to rest. Hisako died Wednesday after a lingering illness.

Henry Chapman, Capitalist, Will be Buried Today

Funeral services for Charles Henry Chapman, capitalist, will be conducted today. At 8:30 a.m., there will be preliminary services at his home, 1593 West Adams street, and at 9 a.m. a requiem high mass at St. Agnes's Church, followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery. O'Connor, Cunningham and O'Connor are in charge.

Mr. Chapman died at Angelus Hospital Thursday night of complications, which followed an operation performed two months ago. He was 37 years of age. He leaves his widow, who was Miss Conchita Sepulveda, member of one of the city's oldest families, and two children, Conchita, 7 years of age, and Carlotta, 2. He was widely interested in both real estate and oil.

GOVERNOR INVITES OPINIONS

Executive Arrives Here For Few Days Stay and Will Confer With Citizens on Pending Bills

Gov. Richardson arrived here yesterday and will remain for several days, during which time he expects to discuss with citizens of the Southland the various bills that are before him. He announced that he will be in his office in the Pacific Finance Building every day and will be glad to meet citizens and get their views on legislative measures awaiting his disposal.

Gov. Richardson said that during the present session of the Legislature he had signed 118 bills and had vetoed eighty-six and still has 750 bills to go over. He expects to dispose of the remainder of the bills before the 29th inst. Among the important bills being considered by the Governor are the gasoline-tax bill, the oleomargarine bill and the municipal court measure.

Legislation affecting motor vehicles was discussed by Gov. Richardson yesterday at a noon luncheon with officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

On his trip, the Governor is accompanied by his secretary, Fletcher Bowron, and Thomas M. Gannon, legislative counsel.

CEREMONY AT TEMPLE

The ceremony of "Siyum Hatorah" will be followed at Temple Emanu-El Wilshire Boulevard and Manhattan Place, next Tuesday at 8 p.m. Three torahs presented to the temple will be formerly completely and installed.

LUMBERMEN WAR ON FIRES

Chapter of Hoo-Hoot to Co-operate in Work to Save Forests and Promote Flood Control

[illegible] chapter of the Order of Hoo-Hoo, the national lumbermen's [illegible], announced yesterday the appointment of a committee to co-operate with the Conservation Association of Southern California in the matter of preventing forest fires and promoting flood control.

[illegible] of the lumbermen [illegible] a result of interest in [illegible] the mountains, [illegible] conservation association [illegible] ing on Mt. Lowe [illegible] personnel of the [illegible] committee of co-operation is as follows: Curtis [illegible] & Cooper; [illegible] president of the [illegible] Company; M. [illegible] Lee Gay Lumber [illegible] Germain, Germain Lumber Company; H. T. Didesch, manager Millwork Institute; Edward Tennant, manager Los Angeles Lumbermen's Club; Phil B. Harf, president Hoo-Hoo Lumbermen's Club.

H. S. Ryerson, manager of the conservation association, declared that the support of the lumbermen is all the more gratifying because there are no lumber activities in the mountains of Southern California. Since the Mt. Lowe meeting, said Mr. Ryerson, all interests in this part of the State have united in the battle for the conservation of the watersheds.

COLORADO ISSUE GOES ON BALLOT

Sentiment for Enabling Act to be Determined

Second Measure to Permit Busses on Hill Street

Plan Would Permit Line to Circle Pershing Square

Two propositions, in addition to the bond issues, were ordered placed on the June 2 ballot yesterday by the City Council.

One is for the purpose of determining public sentiment in regard to an enabling act for securing water from the Colorado River by means of the proposed aqueduct, the other is for the amending of the present jitney ordinance to allow busses to traverse Hill street, between First street and Sixth street.

Lyman Farwell of the Citizens' Water and Power Committee requested the Council to place on the ballot a question substantially as follows: "Do you favor a law forming a metropolitan water district?" The Council acceded to the plea. A bill, said to be faultily drawn, was defeated last month by the State Senate.

Edward A. Dickson and James Martin, representing the Central Business District Association, appeared before the Council, requesting that the people be allowed to vote on an amendment of the jitney ordinance, removing Hill street from First street to Sixth street from the restricted zone. The ordinance at present rules busses from Main, Spring and Hill streets and from Broadway.

It is understood that the Los Angeles Railway busses, which run on Fifth and Olive streets and Grand avenue, will be allowed to circle Pershing Square or use the Second-street tunnel in the event of the ordinance being changed. The proposition must be submitted to the voters, as the ordinance was adopted by the electorate at an election about eight years ago.

The City Attorney was instructed to draw the necessary resolution.

LIONS CLUB OFFICIALS NOMINATED

Members Will Vote New Leaders for Coming Year at Next Meeting

The nomination of officers for next year was the principal feature of the Lions' Club luncheon program at the Biltmore yesterday. The names submitted by the nominating committee, which will be voted on at the meeting to take place the 22nd inst., follow:

For president: E. M. Gore and Allen Leonard; first vice-president, Clark Dunnington and Sam Carpenter; second vice-president, Col. Decker and Clyde Unger; sergeant-at-arms, Thomas Bridges and A. D. Clevidence; secretary and treasurer, Henry Stevens and J. M. Foreman; directors, J. A. Cattell, Tom Protheroe, P. E. Woods, Harry Botsford, E. J. La Fon and Charles Kohler.

The principal speaker on yesterday's program was Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue, who made a brief address on the significance of Mothers' Day.

The club members were reminded of the convention of the Fourth District of Lions' Clubs, comprising California, Nevada and Hawaii, to take place in San Diego on the 26th, 27th and 28th inst.

ROTARIANS GIVEN BID TO FIESTA

Monrovians, Attended by Queen of Carnival, Visit Local Club Luncheon

Dressed as dashing Spaniards, representatives of Monrovia's clubs and civic organizations attended the luncheon of the Los Angeles Rotary Club yesterday and invited the members to Monrovia's fiesta on the 16th inst. Little Tootsie Good, who will be Queen Isabella for the carnival, accompanied the party.

For the annual carnival day, which also will mark the opening of Monrovia's Merchants' and Manufacturers' Exposition, a bull fight, field sports, Elks' parade, lantern parade of automobiles and a Spanish dance have been arranged.

In the party, who visited the Rotary luncheon yesterday were: Harve Wilson, Chamber of Commerce; Walter Keefe, president of citizens' committee; O. R. Good, Exalted Ruler of Elks; Hugh Kelly, Rotary Club; F. J. Wiffler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Thomas Hayes, Board of Trustees; Lincoln J. Backus, secretary of Rotary; Coast Wilcox, Chamber of Commerce, and George Blamer, country club.

CITY URGES BELT LINE EXTENSION

Council Plans to Resist Attempt to Revoke Grade Crossing Permit

The City Council yesterday requested the Board of Harbor Commissioners to extend the municipal belt line 3000 feet north across Anaheim Road to connect with the terminus of the Santa Fe Railway, thus complying with the contract between the city and the railroad, and instructed the City Attorney to resist before the State Railroad Commission the motion of the Greater Harbor Committee of Two Hundred asking the revocation of the temporary order permitting the railroad to cross Anaheim Road at grade.

Both resolutions were adopted unanimously, Councilman Allan being absent.

The Harbor Commission now has under consideration the extension of the belt line, which will permit the Santa Fe to connect with the harbor. Meanwhile, efforts are being made to have all rail lines enter the harbor through the $400,000 Dominguez Slough project, a set of tubes which will eliminate grade crossings.

The Railroad Commission's order permits the Santa Fe to cross Anaheim Road at grade for a period of two years, until the Dominguez project is completed.

The Southern Pacific, the Pacific Electric and the Santa Fe have not yet signed the Dominguez Slough agreement.

HARVARD PROFESSOR WILL LECTURE HERE

The department of political science of the University of California, Southern Branch, has announced three lectures on the general subject of "The Invisible Government of the United States," to be delivered by William Bennett Munro, professor of municipal government and chairman of the division of history, government and economics in Harvard University. The first lecture will be on "Government and Propaganda," the second on "Government and Sectionalism" and the third on "Government and National Traditions." The lectures will be delivered at 10 a.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, next, in Millspaugh Hall Auditorium on the university campus, 855 North Vermont avenue.

ARMY CHIEF TO BE GUEST HERE

Military Men's Banquet to Honor Maj.-Gen. Hines

Will Stop on Way Back From Hawaiian Maneuvers

Twelve Hundred Officers to Welcome War Leader

Maj.-Gen. John L. Hines, Chief of Staff of the United States Army, will be here next Friday as the guest of the Association of the Army of the United States. A dinner will be given in his honor at the City Club next Friday evening. He leaves Honolulu today on the City of Los Angeles.

Some days ago Col. Perry W. Weidner, president of the association, invited Maj.-Gen. Hines to come here for the dinner and yesterday Col. Joseph D. Lietch, liaison officer and special representative here for the Corps Area commander, announced that the chief had accepted the invitation.

It is believed here that he will go to San Diego on Saturday. The Association of the Army of the United States there has invited him to be its guest. Representatives of the association here and of the Chamber of Commerce will receive the chief at the harbor.

Maj.-Gen. Hines has been in the Hawaiian Islands as senior umpire in the combined Navy and Army maneuvers there. Army notices describe the chief as "the typical fighting commander of the United States Army." He served in the Santiago campaign, Philippine insurrection and was Chief of Staff with the punitive Mexican expedition. At the outset of the World War he commanded the Sixteenth Infantry, later the First Brigade of the First Division, and was in important operations prior to August, 1918. During the St. Mihiel and early Meuse-Argonne offensives he commanded the Fourth Division and subsequently the Third Army Corps through the closing of the Meuse-Argonne offensive and the Rhineland occupation.

Last fall he succeeded Gen. Pershing as Chief of Staff when the latter retired. At that time he was Deputy Chief of Staff. Maj.-Gen. Hines has been decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Service Medal and has received several foreign decorations including that of a commander in the Legion of Honor (French.)

About 1200 officers of the Army, National Guard and Reserve belong to the Association of the Army of the United States here.

Reservations for the dinner next Friday evening may be made by calling Maj. Frank Drake, secretary, 625 Dewiler Building, VAndike 5055. The dinner will begin at 6 p.m.

MAZATLAN EXPOSITION HEAD HERE

Senor Labogui Says This City is Supply Depot for West Coast Business

Six Los Angeles business houses have taken space in the Regional Exposition to open at Mazatlan, Mex., the 16th inst., and continue until June 7, according to Senor Emilio Torres Labaqui, a leading business man of the West Coast section, who was a business visitor yesterday at the Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank.

The Latin merchant has opened a commercial account in Los Angeles, stating that "It is becoming necessary for business men in Mazatlan and other West Coast of Mexico cities to carry banking accounts in Los Angeles to facilitate handling of the constantly increasing trade between the two sections."

"With the early completion of the Southern Pacific line into Mazatlan, trade possibilities of the West Coast territory should be of great value to Los Angeles," continued the visitor. "That railroad will give direct connections, by several big ship lines operate boats from Los Angeles to the West Coast on a two-day schedule and the planters, merchants, miners, engineers and others who are developing the country in the Mexican States of Sonora, Sinaloa, Nayarit and others are looking to this great American city as the main source of supplies."

Senor Labaqui is a member of the executive committee arranging the Mazatlan exposition. He was sent to Southern California to obtain as many exhibitors as possible. Promise of aid was given by the Chamber of Commerce here, according to Labaqui, and several other exporting and importing firms are expected to make exhibits. He has been in Los Angeles nearly a week and plans to leave this afternoon by boat for home.

CITY WILL GET PARK FUND SOON

G. J. Griffith Bequest of $750,000 Made Available With Sale of Estate

A fund of approximately $750,000 will become available for the construction of a Greek theater, observatory, hall of science and other buildings in Griffith Park as a result of the sale completed yesterday by the Griffith heirs of their undivided one-half interest of the estate of the late G. J. Griffith. Their interest in the estate was sold to William Mead, and under the provisions of Col. Griffith's will approximately $750,000 of the sum realized must be used in the construction of the public buildings in the park.

The money will be expended in accordance with the terms of the will by the Security Trust and Savings Bank as trustees for the city.

The other undivided one-half interest of the estate has been sold by the bank, in its capacity as trustee for the city, to a syndicate represented by Laack & Williams and Edwards & Wildey. A friendly partition suit has been filed by Mr. Mead to have the court segregate the interests of the owners of the property so that it can be subdivided and sold. The property consists of 133 acres fronting on both sides of the Los Feliz Boulevard from a point near Childs avenue to the park and Riverside Drive and also includes 1400 feet on Los Feliz Boulevard near Vermont and 1500 feet on Vermont north of Los Feliz in addition to other small parcels.

N. D. RICHARDS SOUGHT

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

FOR some astonishing reason our government seems to find it necessary and essential carefully to explain that navy vessels are not being used in the fight against the bootlegger ships on "Rum Row" off New York.

WELL, WHY NOT?

I can't imagine any good reason why the Navy should not be so employed. These rum pirates are a lot of murderous ruffians engaged in open and armed rebellion against the United States.

The Navy might just as well be sinking them as giving the Japs the nervous heebeejeebees.

WHAT'S A MONGOLIAN?

The Los Angeles judge who decided that the Filipino on trial for murder was of Mongolian origin has the courage of his convictions.

One time another Los Angeles official ruled against giving a marriage license to a famous Jap author on the ground he was a Mongolian.

For a month the lawyers trotted back and forth with monstrous tomes and dignified references. The County Clerk finally gave a Solomon-like decision. He said the Jap had slant eyes anyhow, so he wouldn't give him a license—whether Malay or Mongolian.

POLITE, ANYHOW!

For politeness' sake I refrained from saying my say during "Better Boy Week."

But now I am going to say it.

"OH, DADDY, PLEASE!"

"Oh, fathers, play with your little boys," the lady uplift writers sob.

"When he comes to you begging you to play with him and his little companions do not turn coldly from him and read your newspaper."

That's what these emotional literary ladies tell us.

"HEY, YOU GOOF!"

This is great stuff to write about, but I hope that no father gets so worked up over it that he tries to horn in on one of the sand-lot ball games in which his cherub child is a player.

I think that what will happen to father will be a wild yelp of rage from his pleading little son and divers of his son's little playmates:

"Hey, git off the diamond, y' ol' goof!"

PLAYING PIRATE

Not long ago I tried to play pirate with some little boys.

It was a crushing experience. They couldn't get "clear under." They didn't know how to play.

We had a ship made out of an old piano box and some ladders.

I give you my word it was so real to me that I could smell the salt air of the sea. The line of trees that we had for pirates were real pirates to me. With a lath cutlass in my hand I could honestly feel my neck swelling with the savage lust for blood and killing.

Right in the middle of it one of the little boys yawned and said: "Aw, le's play marbles."

ARNOLL HITS CAPTIVE BALLOON OPERATION

Declaring that the operation of a captive balloon near the new library site on Flower street imperils lives and property in that vicinity, A. G. Arnoll, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday registered with City Prosecutor Friedlander a complaint against allowing the balloon within the city limits. The balloon, which is being used to lift sightseers to a height of 1000 feet, is said to be filled with highly combustible hydrogen gas which the complaint declared, is likely to be ignited by smokers.

BUS LINE PERMIT ISSUED

Permission to establish a motor-bus service along Florence avenue to Huntington Park, was granted to the Los Angeles Railway by the State Railroad Commission yesterday. The busses will operate from Moneta avenue along Florence to Pacific avenue, thence north to Zoe street. An application to operate a similar route was denied J. B. Stimpson by the commission.

Stories of Music

FOR MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST of the LOS ANGELES PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The Los Angeles Elementary Schools are preparing a remarkable music memory contest conducted by the Department of Music, under Kathryn K. Stone, supervisor, to take place the 19th and 20th inst. at Manual Arts High School. Through the courtesy of The Times radio station of The Times, will broadcast each afternoon from 3 to 3:30, seven selections included in the contest with a story in connection with them. These stories will be reproduced on this page of The Times daily, except Sunday, until the 20th inst., inclusive, in order that the 35,000 school children who tune in KHJ may have a complete record of the contest.

The first number yesterday was "Serenade," by Schubert. The composers of every nation have written serenades, because youth the world over pays tribute to its sweetheart by singing songs at night underneath her window in praise of her charms, and that is what a serenade represents. Schubert's "Serenade" is in the warm, quiet yet fervent vein of emotion which characterizes German sentiment.

The second number was also a serenade, but representing the feelings of an entirely different class of people. It was a Spanish serenade by Moszkowski. All the fire and spirit which courses in the blood of the Spaniard lives in this number by Moszkowski, who has depicted the young don strumming a guitar beneath the lattice of some proud Spanish beauty. And when the young man has finished his song a beautiful red rose is dropped into his hand from above. He kisses it and begins his song of love again.

The third number was "Elegie," by Massenet. "Elegie" is a song of sorrow. It's melancholy might be a memory of happy days described in classic romance, or preserved in an old love letter.

The fourth number was the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah." It is the custom for an audience to stand during its rendition, so great is the dignity and grandeur of its music, representing, as it does, the birth of Christ. It's plain, powerful rhythm and majestic chord structure seem a part of God's big creations—like the stars, moon and sun.

The remainder of the half-hour was devoted to the stirring hymns of our allies, the French "La Marseillaise," the British "Rule Britannia," the Belgian "La Brabanconne," and the Russian "National Anthem." These are all splendid, heart-stirring march rhythms, descriptive of the emotions of the common people, and the little boys and girls of these lands thrill with love of their country when they hear them, the way we do when we listen to our beloved "America."

GEM STORE PLUNDERED

The Golden State Gem Company, 726-728 South San Pedro street, reported yesterday that some one had pimmied the front door of their store and plundered the showcases of $2000 worth of jewelry.

THIRD ARREST IS NEAR IN MILLION-DOLLAR SWINDLE

Prominent Angelenos Included in List of Victims in Gigantic Railroad Merger Bunko

A third arrest in the million-dollar railroad swindle, for which Harry D. Hibbs and Thomas D. Hennessy were arrested when it was revealed that 200 prominent citizens of Los Angeles had been bunkoed out of sums varying from $50 to $50,000, was anticipated early last night by Dist.-Atty. Keyes and his investigators after they had interviewed scores of the victims of the gigantic bunko plot.

The identity of the third suspect was discovered during the perusal of the mysterious black book in which the two promoters kept their accounts of the fortunes gleaned from the victims. Though it is believed that this third man will not be as deeply implicated in the plot as Hibbs and Hennessy, the investigators are anxious to locate him and question him.

The third man, according to some of the unlucky investors in the so-called railroad merger, believed in the sincerity of the get-rich-quick plan of Hibbs and Hennessy and sank a considerable portion of his own money into the scheme. Put it was through his enthusiastic coaxing that so many prominent Los Angeles citizens made their generous and unwise investments with Hibbs and Hennessy.

STILL IN CUSTODY

Hibbs and Hennessy were yet in jail early last night. Though they had retained the law firm of Paul Schenck, prominent criminal attorney and defender of Arthur Burch, the combined efforts of the attorney and the defendants failed to raise the two bonds of $100,000 each which the District Attorney had placed against Hibbs and Hennessy.

Publication of the list of the two promoters' victims yesterday morning caused a wave of gossip to reverberate through the business marts of the city. It revealed the names of leading business and professional men, county officials and motion-picture executives, capitalists and working girls.

SUPERVISOR ON LIST

County Supervisor F. E. Woodley, chairman of the county finance committee and the custodian of the county's funds, appeared as the heaviest loser. The little black book revealed that Supervisor Woodley "sank" $31,000 into the scheme, for which he expected to win $480,000.

The record of Supervisor Woodley's deposits with Hibbs and Hennessy showed as follows:

April 14, 1923, $5000;
April 29, 1923, $5000;
June 16, 1923, $5000;
June 18, 1923, $5000.

Supervisor Woodley was promised ten for one for every dollar deposited on these dates and on the fourth deposit he was accredited with a $5000 bonus in the little black book. On the following deposits he was promised "fifteen for one":

July 11, 1923, $5000;
September 7, 1923, $5000;
August 9, 1924, $5000;
February 5, 1925, $1000.

OTHER LOSERS

Other heavy losers included:

Earle C. Anthony, president of Earle C. Anthony, Inc., $2000; Ray L. Chesebro, former police judge, $5500; J. A. Fraters, president of the Fraters Glass and Paint Company, $5000; Perley Poore Sheehan, motion-picture director, $1000; John Griffith Wray, motion-picture director, $5000; W. O. Kirkpatrick, oil promoter, $2500; L. M. Martini, restaurateur, $1000; J. L. Meehan, motion-picture director, $1000; James McLacklin, former Congressman, $10,000; R. R. Pollock, vice-president of the MacKecknie Bread Company, $5000; J. E. Ransford, investment broker, $10,000; Dr. Leonard E. Schock, $5000, and A. L. Tull, realty broker, $2000.

OTHER INVESTORS

Other investors, who lost sums of $1000 and more through Hibbs & Hennessy's activities, were as follows:

A. J. Ages, $5400; J. Atherton, $6000; A. Ambrose, $1500; Louise E. Black, $1500; Mary Brill, $1500; F. C. Bohrl, $5000; A. B. Calver, $1000; H. M. Cairn, $1850; J. W. Cole, deputy sheriff, $1500; C. C. Cooper, $1000; Wilbur Collins, $5000; N. Douglas, $1500; R. Durfee, $10,000; G. L. Eastman, building contractor, $1000; Evan Evans, $5000; Miss Irma Frankle, $1000; L. N. French, $2500; Dr. G. W. Forester, $1000; P. L. Gifford, $3775; Jane George, $1000; Mrs. J. H. Hall, $1000; J. F. Hall, $1000; H. G. Hawley, $16,000; T. J. Henderson, $5000; W. J. Hubbard, $5000; M. Huston, $2500; J. M. Huston, $1075; C. Louise Isham, $1000; T. B. Jones, $1000; A. Krause, $2000; C. B. Leffingwell, $5000; R. P. Luce, $2500; A. MacLennan, $1000; L. L. Malone, $1000; C. E. Moore, $1200; G. E. Morriell, $1000; C. W. McKinley, $1000; B. B. McCall, $1000; F. S. Nichols, $1500; R. R. Patterson, $1000; E. J. Peterson, $2500; Lida B. O'Connor, $15,000; Archie Pugh, $1000; A. J. Roe, contractor, $10,000; K. A. Schock, $7800; Mrs. M. E. Stokes, $1000; W. F. Thompson, $2500; George Valarius, $2000; G. E. Vinson, $5000; G. E. Vibert, $1000; E. F. Waite, $1000; Clarence Watts, $16050; H. H. Wright, $2500; Mrs. Elizabeth Winship, $4500; W. H. Weston, $1000, and L. B. Wood, $1590.

All others listed in the little black book lost sums ranging from $50 up to $1000. The list totaled 190 investors.

LOSSES RECUPERATED

A few of the investors recuperated their losses. These were the victims who were interviewed yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hamner and whose checks, deposited with Hibbs and Hennessy, had not yet gone through the clearinghouse. The largest amount returned to its owner was a check for $10,000 which Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hamner handed back to ex-Congressman McLacklin, who had given it up as lost.

County Supervisor Woodley frankly admitted last night he had placed $31,000 in the Hibbs-Hennessy deal, but referred to it as "simply an unwise investment."

"I have known Hibbs and members of his family for twenty years," he said, "and they are fine people. I believed in Hibbs or I wouldn't have invested. I put in $31,000 with the understanding I was to receive ten for one on my money if the railroad merger went through.

"That was in April, 1923. Two months ago I was told the deal had been closed and the money was about to be placed in a Los Angeles bank. But various reasons were given why the money was not forthcoming. I lost confidence in the entire plan some time ago, but I cannot say honestly that I have yet lost confidence in Mr. Hibbs."

DENIAL BY ANTHONY

A flat denial of any knowledge of the merger deal was made by Earl C. Anthony over the telephone from the Midwick Country Club.

"I don't know anything about it," he protested. "I never heard of it until the story appeared in local papers."

Asked if he would deny having invested $5000 with the Hibbs-Hennessy interests, Anothony declared, "I have nothing further to say," and abruptly hung up the telephone.

Dr. A. B. Stewart, dentist, who invested $500, went into the deal because of the insistence of a personal friend, who was working for Hibbs.

"That man is still my friend," the doctor said. "I believe he was deceived himself."

Dr. Stewart added that he turned over his $500 after the railroad merger had been represented to him as consummated.

"Then they gave me about 1,000,000 excuses for not paying off. The last word I had was that the commissions had been received and that I would receive my money and bonus between the 1st and 15th inst.

George L. Eastman's secretary professed ignorance of the report that her employer had invested $10,000 with Hibbs, Eastman, she said, is out of town on a fishing trip.

BROKAW RECOVERS

John Brokaw, retired capitalist, who caused the arrest of Hibbs and Hennessy, also retrieved his investments, but by a different method.

"I invested $30,000 with them," Mr. Brokaw stated last night, "but I got it back. I admit I fell for it—and it sounded pretty good to me. I have never made such investments before in my life and I never expect to again.

"I gave them three checks, each for $10,000. A few days ago I got a little suspicious. I called on Mr. Hibbs at his residence and demanded my money back. He said I couldn't get it back at that time. I told him I would get it back. Next day Mr. Hennessy called me by phone and made an appointment with me at the Ambassador. I met him and he gave me a cashier's check for $30,000, with interest, and I cashed it. I lost nothing."

ELOQUENT TALKERS

Mr. Brokaw added that he met Hibbs and Hennessy through a friend. They were persuasive talkers and, though they exhibited nothing to show they were the authorized western agents for the group of railroads supposed to be included in the gigantic merger, he believed them.

"Of course," he stated, "Hibbs gave me a little dicky-bird upon each deposit. The dicky-bird, you understand, purported to absolve them from any responsibility in the event there was to be no return for the money invested. They said the money was to be used in influencing certain men in Washington to sanction the merger of the railroads and which would return $10 for every dollar invested in the enterprise."

KEYES'S STATEMENT

"Los Angeles county is again becoming infested with our old-time enemies, the bunko men," said Dist.-Atty. Keyes in a statement issued yesterday. "They have been working in Los Angeles city and in other places in this county and are residing, most of them, in the various beach towns adjacent to the city.

"I am now starting a drive on this bunch of crooks with the assistance of the Sheriffs and the police officers of the cities throughout the Bay district.

"I am issuing this statement as a warning to the public in general not to be inveigled into any scheme outlining a plan to make easy money on the stock market, horse races, foot races, or similar schemes. As fast as possible I am going to drive this class of crooks from this community and do my best to keep them out of here."

MERGER PROJECT

Hibbs and Hennessy talked to their victims in billions. They outlined to their prospects a phantasmic plan whereby they expected to clean up $200,000,000. This plan, they told their customers, involved the consolidation of several middle-western railroads. The Western Pacific, Denver and Rio Grade, Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain railroads, already combined in one system, were to be reorganized by the Western Pacific Railroad Corporation, they said. The St. Louis-San Francisco, the International and Great Northern and the St. Louis-Southwestern were to be combined also in the great merger. This, with other consolidations that astounded the listeners, had been intrusted to the financial genius of Hibbs and Hennessy, according to their own stories.

Hennessy, a recent arrival in Los Angeles, resides at the Ambassador Gardens Apartments. Hibbs has lived here for twenty years. His home is at 567 Beachwood Drive, and in the little black book were found the addresses of several of his neighbors who had intrusted their money to him. The two men operated in a large suite of offices and employed a corps of clerks to circulate their grandiloquent literature and take care of the flocks of fortune hunters with funds to invest.

GRAND JURY OPENS QUIZ IN OIL CASE

Activities of Kansas and Oklahoma Companies Aired in Local Inquiry

Evidence obtained by government investigators in a sweeping inquiry into the activities of eleven oil companies operating in Oklahoma and Kansas was presented yesterday to the Federal grand jury. Included in the evidence are 7000 pounds of books of the companies.

The companies under investigation are said to be the Invader Oil Corporation and subsidiary companies of Muskogee, Okla., and the Owenwood Oil Corporation and its associated companies of Fort Worth, Tex.

The evidence was not presented in full yesterday and the remainder will be turned over to the inquisitorial body next Thursday.

Attorneys for the oil companies yesterday urged the government to complete the investigation so that the books of the companies may not be held up indefinitely. The matter was presented to the local grand jury because of the number of investors in stock of the companies who reside in California.

Pioneer Group Will Visit Port Historic Spots

Two hundred and fifty members of the Southern Historical and Pioneer Society, will visit historic spots in the harbor district today, under the guidance of Prof. Harry Hunt of the University of Southern California.

Assembly will be effected at 2 p.m. at the old Drum Barracks, Wilmington, the Union headquarters during the Civil War. In addition to a tour of the port the group will also visit the old military hospital, the Cerritos Ranch and the ruins of the homes which Richard Henry Dana built on the site of Fort MacArthur in 1835.

LIFE TERM FOR FILIPINO SLAYER

Guilty Verdict Recommends Imprisonment

Yatko Convicted as Killer in Love Rivalry

Jury Out Three Hours; New Trial to be Asked

Timothy Yatko, youthful Filipino love slayer, was found guilty of murder by a jury in Judge Hardy's department of the Superior Court after three hours' deliberation yesterday. The jury, however, recommended that the Filipino be imprisoned for life and thus Yatko will escape death by the hangman's noose.

The young killer took the verdict without a tremor. His face remained impassive and he gave no outward indication of his emotions.

Immediately after the jury's verdict of guilty, Attorneys Lane and Van Law, acting for the defense, announced they would seek a new trial and that if they failed in this they would appeal the case.

Their plea for a new trial, they indicated, would be based on the grounds that a grave judicial error had been committed in the conduct of the case in permitting Lola Butler Yatko to testify against the slayer after her marriage to him had been ruled invalid by the court because of an old State law prohibiting marriages between persons of opposing races.

The defense attorneys contend that the girl is still the wife of Yatko and as such could not testify against her husband. They maintain that though the marriage itself may be invalid, the girl must remain the wife of Yatko until the union is formally annulled.

Yatko was convicted of the murder of Harry L. Kidder, a dance-hall musician, during the latter part of February. The killing was due to the vagrant affections of Mrs. Yatko, known as the "Belle of Main street." Her affair with Kidder aroused the suspicions of the young Filipino and he followed her to Kidder's apartment and there stabbed Kidder to death. Mrs. Yatko was the chief prosecution witness against the Filipino.

FINED DRIVER DISAPPEARS FROM COURT

Judge Delays Action to See if Motorist Will Return With Money

Somewhere in the city is a motorist who gave the name of W. B. Schoen who, in the words of William Askin, clerk in Presiding Justice Baird's court, "knows his stuff either too well or not at all."

If he "knows his stuff," Schoen will pay dearly for his knowledge, Justice Baird indicated, but if he doesn't he will be treated gently.

The motorist, passing by the Ford-street school at Belvedere Gardens at noon yesterday, disregarded all stop signals and sped through the groups of children on their way home. County Motorcycle Officer Blaylock overtook Schoen and led him off to Justice Baird's court. On the way to the court, Schoen picked up an attorney.

Justice Baird promptly found Schoen guilty and assessed a fine of $150 against him. Then he turned to the next case. A few minutes later Clerk Askin tugged at the court's elbow. He wanted to know about the $150 fine imposed on Schoen. It then developed that the fine had not been paid, that all the records in the case had vanished and that Schoen, his unknown attorney and everyone else in the case had departed.

Justice Baird was nonplussed. He indicated that Schoen, possibly in complete ignorance of court procedure, had gone to the bank to obtain the amount of the fine. He stated he would delay action until today and if the fine is not paid "it will go hard with Schoen."

The Socialistic Idea

It was too rainy to go out, so Peggy and Tommy were entertaining themselves by picturing the wonderful things they would have when they grew up.

"I shall have a lovely motor car," said Peggy.

"So shall I," said Tommy.

"And a radio," continued Peggy.

"So shall I," said Tommy.

"Oh, Tommy," Peggy said in an exasperated tone. "I believe you are what they call a 'So-shall-ist.'" —[Boston Transcript.

SEIZED DOPE IS DESTROYED

Marihuana, Valued at $4000, Confiscated in Raid, Burned by Police Officials

(Illustration on Picture Page)

In the pungent smoke that ascended yesterday from a small bonfire in the rear of the University Police Station, was contained, if distributed in the proper quarter, enough potential violence to precipitate a young revolution.

The smoke emanated from some forty pounds of innocuous-appearing weed, valued at approximately $4000—marihuana.

"A worse menace than opium," observed William H. Rowe, Clerk of Judge Sheldon's University Police Court. "It's fortunate that its use is confined to a comparatively small area of the world."

The marihuana destroyed yesterday was seized with the arrest of Ysabel Trejo, an old offender, who drew 450 days' imprisonment for its possession. It was carefully packed in tobacco tins ready for distribution to addicts in the Mexican quarter.

Marihuana is smoked in cigarettes—straight or mixed with tobacco. It exhilarates and creates in the user a desire for violence that has been responsible for many murders in the Southwest since it was introduced from Mexico. The effects of two cigarettes will often last for several days, during which time the addict is constantly in a dangerous mood.

The marihuana peddler retails his drug in the form of cigarettes which sell generally for 25 cents. The stuff itself is worth more than $100 a pound although it grows readily any place in Southern California and requires little cultivation. The high price is the result of the stringent surveillance maintained by Federal, State, county and city authorities, who recognize in it the most dangerous habit-forming drug with which they have to contend.

The marihuana destroyed yesterday constituted the largest recent seizure in and around Los Angeles in some time.

MOTHER'S DAY AT CHURCHES

Elaborate Programs Prepared Throughout City; Jews to Dedicate Orphans' Home

Motherhood—the reflection and symbol of the Divinity which brings all beings to birth and keeps them in her loving care—will be honored throughout Christendom tomorrow. Arrangements have been made for elaborate Mothers' Day programs in almost 500 churches of Los Angeles.

One program of interest, in observance of Mother's Day, will be the dedication of the new Jewish Orphans' Home at Vista Del Mar at which institution scores of Jewish children are to be reared in an atmosphere of home-like surroundings. J. P. Loeb, president of the home, will be chairman of the program, which will begin at 2 p.m.

Among the speakers will be Rabbis E. R. Trattner, E. F. Magnin, Mayer Winkler and S. M. Nechez, and Dr. Boris Bogen, executive secretary of the Jewish Welfare Federation; George Mosbacher, president of the Jewish Welfare Organizations; S. G. Marshutz, chairman of the building committee; R. W. Pridham, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and Joseph Bonaparte, superintendent of the orphans' home. The new home is at Palms, near Culver City. The public is invited to the ceremonies tomorrow.

"QUEEN OF THE EARTH"

Another feature of the Southland's Mother's Day program tomorrow will be a sermon on "The Queen of the Earth," to be preached at 10 a.m. from The Times broadcasting station by Rev. Gordon Palmer, pastor of the South Park Baptist Church and chaplain of Post No. 8, American Legion. Mr. Palmer will return to his church in time to conduct the service at 11 a.m. when he will preach on "God Save Our Mothers." At the evening hour, at the church, Mr. Palmer will preach on "Can You Stand the Test?" and will sing the old favorite "Tell Mother I'll Be There." The honored guests will be the seventy members of the Gideon Young Men's Club and their parents.

MUSIC FOR MOTHERS

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian Church, will be the preacher tomorrow at the Church of the Open Door, Bible Institute, preaching in the morning on "Divine Decrees" and in the evening on "The Modern Gashmu." A feature of the morning service will be a musical program by the Mothers' Bible Class of the Sunday school. The Bible Institute Male Quartet will sing in the evening.

"SINCLAIR DAY"

The Brotherhood Class of the Magnolia-avenue Christian Church will observe tomorrow as "Sinclair day," in recognition of the fact that Rev. C. C. Sinclair, the pastor, will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his entrance into ministerial work. At the class meeting at 9:30 a.m. a review of Mr. Sinclair's first sermon will be given "by a lady who hgard it and still survives."

"ARRAYED IN WHITE"

"SLANG IN THE PULPIT"

"Is the Bible an inerrant book? Does the church suffer by the use of slang in the pulpit? Why did American Masons break with Masonic bodies in Belgium? Why have 50,000 Jews joined the Christian Science church in New York City? What is the best remedy for loneliness? Why was Bledsoe defeated? Is there any foundation for the statement that God used evolution as a method in the creation of man?" These are among the questions to be discussed by Rev. William MacCormack in his sermon tomorrow evening at St. Paul's Cathedral. The topic for the morning discourse is "Motherhood."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

A lesson-sermon on "Adam and Fallen Man" will be read at 11 a.m. tomorrow at each of the eighteen Christian Science churches of Los Angeles. The service at 8 p.m. at First, Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth and Thirteenth churches will be a repetition of the morning service. Wednesday evening meetings, which include testimonies of Christian Science healing, are conducted by all the churches.

"THE NEXT WAR"

Rev. S. T. Montgomery will be the preacher at the Immanuel Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning, speaking for Rev. Herbert Booth Smith, the pastor, who is now en route to Columbus, O., to represent the Los Angeles Presbytery at the general assembly. In the evening, Hon. Clinton N. Howard, chairman of the National Peace Commission, will speak on "The Next War and How to Avoid It."

FIRST BAPTIST

Rev. James A. Francis has almost entirely recovered from his illness and will be in his pulpit at the First Baptist Church tomorrow morning when he will preach on "Mother, As An Interpretation of God." Rev. Bruce Baxter of the faculty of the University of Southern California, will preach a series of sermons to young people on the evenings of the 10th, 17th and 31st inst., his subject for tomorrow being, "Safety Last." On the evening of the 24th inst., the speaker will be Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, who will also speak each night thereafter until, and including, the 29th inst. A "Campbell Morgan Chorus," under the direction of Alexander Stewart, will furnish music for the services.

TRINITY METHODIST

Mothers' Day will be observed at the Trinity Methodist Church tomorrow with women acting as ushers and with the baptism of a score of children. Rev. Bob Shuler, the pastor, will preach on "A Mother's Meaning and Message." The topic for evening is "Paganism of Romanism." Mr. Shuler will discuss the following questions: "Does Romanism deny conscious salvation? Does Romanism affirm human redemption? Does Romanism teach idolatry?"

"GLORY OF MOTHERHOOD"

A carnation will be presented to every guest at the services to be conducted tomorrow morning at the Hollywood Methodist Church, South, Vine and Lexington streets. A special musical program will be given preceding the sermon on "The Glory of Motherhood," by Rev. Theodore Kemp, the pastor. In the evening Dr. Kemp will preach on "In the Suburbs of Christianity."

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Mothers' Day will be observed at the First Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening with a special musical program of old-fashioned songs, solos by Arthur Merz and a sermon on "The Majesty and Magic of Motherhood," by Rev. Paul C. Elliott, associate pastor with Rev. Hugh K. Walker. In the evening Rev. John C. Worley will give an illustrated address on "Travels in Alaska and China." George Raseley, formerly tenor of the Rockefeller Fifth-Avenue Baptist Church, will be the soloist in the evening.

CHURCH CONFERENCE

The Southern California and Arizona District Council of the Assemblies of God will conduct its annual conference at Bethel Temple, 324 Buena Vista street, beginning next Tuesday morning and closing the following Sunday evening. An evangelistic service will be conducted each evening under the direction of Rev. J. W. Welch, chairman of the council, and Rev. David McDowell, assistant chairman of the general council. More than 100 ministers are expected to attend the various sessions. The public is invited to the sessions and especially to the evening meetings.

"FOUR-SQUARE GOSPEL"

"Are the healing, speaking in 'tongues,' and the emphasis laid upon sinlessness, purely physical manifestations, without relationship to the spirit of Christ, or do they truly represent the possession of greater spiritual power than is evidenced in the lives of most Christians?" This question will be discussed by Rev. G. A. Briegleb at the Westlake Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening, when he will preach on "Does the Four-square Gospel Square with Holy Scripture?" A Mothers' Day program of music and addresses will be given in the morning and Dr. Briegleb will preach on "More Than Queen—Mother."

"MOST POPULAR SIN"

Three services of interest have been planned for tomorrow by Rev. Frank Dyer and Charles F. Aked, pastors of the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church. At the morning hour at the Ambassador Hotel Theater the speaker will be Rev. Ernest M. Halliday of New York, an outstanding leader of Congregationalism. Dr. Aked will preach at the Forum Theater at 11 a.m. on "The Most Popular Sin in the World," and will also be in charge of the service at the Ambassador at 5 p.m.

ORGANIZE NEW CHURCH

A new Armenian Congregational Church was organized last week at a meeting of more than 100 Armenians at the Philharmonic Auditorium. Rev. Haig Adadourian, formerly pastor of the Second Congregational Church at Plymouth, Mass., was appointed pastor of the new church, which will conduct regular Sunday morning services in the Sunday-school rooms of the First Congregational Church.

CHURCH NOTES

"A Mother's Monument" is the subject of a sermon to be preached by Rev. H. E. Hebbard tomorrow morning at St. John's Evangelical Church, Fifty-first Place and Hoiliday avenue. Sunday-school will be conducted at 10 a.m. In the evening the Young People's society will be in charge of the program.

Rev. Benjamin Urquidi will be in charge of services tomorrow morning and evening at El Salvador Mexican Baptist Church, 1201 East First street.

Gospel Hall, 1225 West Jefferson street, Christians gathered unto the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Breaking of bread, 11 a.m.; preaching in the evening.

Swedish Baptist Church, Eleventh and Bixel streets, Rev. Carl Antonson, pastor. Services will be conducted in the morning and evening. Sermons in English are preached the second and last Sunday evenings of each month.

Rev. Fred E. Hahn, pastor of the Figueroa Boulevard Christian Church, will preach tomorrow morning on "Your Mother and Mine."

"Interior Decorating" is the subject of a sermon to be preached by Rev. W. P. Isett tomorrow morning at Ananda Chapel, Carthay Center.

Berean Congregational Church, Rev. W. P. Hardy, pastor. A Mothers' Day program will be given in the morning, and Rev. C. J. Mason will be the speaker. The preacher in the evening will be Rev. N. Farnese.

Dr. E. Nelson Allen will conduct services tomorrow morning and evening at the South Hollywood Presbyterian Church.

Manchester Messiah Lutheran Church, Rev. J. H. Pears, pastor. Morning, confirmation service; evening topic, "The Man Who Despised a Town."

Go To Church Sunday

Why You Should Go To Church

By William A. Brown, University Methodist Episcopal Church

William A. Brown University Methodist Episcopal Church

On a week-day morning, a man walking casually down the aisle of a Pullman car saw a friend of mine reading the Bible in his daily devotions. And the man exclaimed, "You read the Bible!" "Yes," my friend said, "I read the Bible." "You also go to church?" the man asked. "Yes," my friend said, "I go to church." And then with an air of patronizing condescension the man remarked, "You read the Bible and go to church I suppose, because your Mother did!" To which my friend replied in deep earnestness, "If you had known my Mother that would have seemed a sufficient reason!"

This Sunday is Mothers' Day. And some men will wear the white carnation, and some will wear the red—and all men ought to go to Church, particularly on this Sunday, in loving loyalty to their Mothers. For religion has ever been the major part in the making of Mothers. And Motherhood stands as the crowning glory of Creation, the noblest achievement in religious devotion, and the highest expression of sacrificial living. For almost all there is in MOTHERS is OTHERS.

THE NEXT THING

People who grieve for want of inspiration may safely try perspiration. It may not always seem as good, but it makes a good substitute.

GREAT SCOTT

Speaking of endurance contests, Everett Scott, the shortstop of the New York Yankees, laid off the other afternoon after playing in 1087 consecutive games. This is a wonderful showing when the hazards and possibilities of the game are considered.

THE FRANKFORT STYLE

The city of Frankfort will have no more highways named after kaisers or kings. One of the chief boulevards has just been renamed in memory of the late Fritz Ebert. There is no disposition to glorify the Hohenzollerns in the city of hot dogs.

SEATS OF THE MIGHTY

According to a magazine writer, the attack of Charles Gates Dawes upon the rules of the Senate is not an effort to suppress free speech, but fool speech. But possibly this is expecting too much. The Vice-President must needs be an irrational optimist to dream of that achievement.

THE PIONEERS

Recent discoveries in an English quarry section locate a regular industrial plant of the Stone Age. There were several thousand examples of the hammers, axes and other tools incidental to prehistoric times. The folks who began the steel industry in Sheffield must have had something in the blood, after all.

GOING STRONG

For an old man Tyrus Raymond Cobb is carrying himself grandly—in fact, most of the old-timers seem to be doing themselves proud. But Cobb is surely leading the fleet. He turned in five home runs in two consecutive days, which is something for the world to shoot at. In one game he poled out six hits in six consecutive trips to the plate and three of them were homers. With his own trusty club he garnered eight runs. For a boss who was getting so old that he thought he might have to manage his team from the stand Tyrus is doing right well. It isn't necessary to call out the fire department to help him around the bases.

THE BIG DOINGS

According to statistics, the motor industry now leads all departments in the business of the world. Last year the production of cars in America considerably exceeded 3,000,000. They were worth more than $3,000,000,000 and the industries incident to the production furnished employment to over 3,000,000 persons. There was an average value of cars and trucks of $1000 and each car furnished a year's employment for some person. This doesn't seem like much of a wad, but the ramifications of the trade are so vast that it reaches through and over all other fields. It is the wonder of the world and our own country still has and uses 86 per cent of all the motor cars in service.

PEACE TIME USES

The chemical division of Uncle Sam's war forces is seeking to find some peacetime service for the gases that are now used in battle. If they can be used for something else the government may accumulate some stocks of them—or of the materials of which they are made. It would be a good idea to try out some of the tear bombs in the suppression of the activities of some of our gopher pests. By shooting a few whiffs of chlorine gas into a gopher run the animal might be forced to move on or else turn up its toes. If the noxious gases of the army can be used to fumigate our orchards or drive out the mole and the boll weevil it would be all right for the government to go ahead with their production. If chlorine gas is good for diphtheria and tear bombs will drive off coyotes the War Department will feel relieved.

THE EARTH'S AGE

Speaking at the Institute of Technology last week, Prof. Henry Russell of Princeton University said the earth is at least 8,000,000,000 years old. The best way to appreciate the age of the earth, he says, is to go to the Grand Canyon, then estimate the time it would take for the Colorado River to carve such an abyss in solid rock. A better time gauge, however, has been found in uranium. This is one of the radioactive elements. It is spontaneously decomposing, throwing electrons in air, somewhat as water evaporates. But it takes a tiny speck of uranium some 50,000 years to decompose, and what is left after it has shot off all its active particles is lead. By measuring the thickness of the lead beds, therefore, it is possible to determine the time it took for them to form. By such means Prof. Russell calculates that the earth's crust must be at least 8,000,000,000 years old.

NORTH AFRICAN TROUBLES

The Riffians have been a malignant tumor in the midriff of Southern Europe for centuries; although formerly they were known as Moors. The new christening sits ill on an inveterate Moslem people which has never taken to the modernizing methods of the Turks or Egyptians. The Moors have held steadfast to the early traditions of the prophet and intend to carry on their principles of isolation in spite of the Algeciras Conference of 1906. The Riffian defeat of 1909 received at the hands of Spain has been a source of rancor among the hill tribes ever since.

The Riff is merely a chain of hills which is thrown up in Northern West Africa as a screen of 200 miles to camouflage the teeming hordes of sullen tribesmen in the hinterland whose implacable enmity of all white men keeps them animated with a spiteful malice which only broods on ways and means to take revenge. The legacy which the prewar intrigues between France and Germany have hatched is now coming into its own for collection. The agreement made by the principals to leave the Morocco government to work out its own salvation with the exception of the policing of eight coast cities under supervision of French and Spanish officers now begins to take its toll.

When India, Egypt and Turkey began to show signs of shaking off the white man's burden Morocco felt the same invigorating energy come back to it which Hamid showed in the tenth century, when he invaded Spain, Portugal and Southern France. The Berbers of the seventh and eighth centuries had already left their mark on the southwest peninsula of the European continent. The effect of that Moorish invasion still shows in that region. Visitors of Barcelona, the Basque Pyrenees and Marseilles cannot fail to recognize the traces of Moorish blood in the race which is now known as the Basques. Their literature and art are still tinged with Moorish coloring. Spain and Portugal were practically under the domination of the Moors from 988 till 1061, when the Franks removed their influence in the same manner as they overcame their power in Barcelona in 800.

The Entente Cordiale entered into between England and France, beginning 1904, had as one of its basic principles an understanding of pacific penetration regarding North Africa in particular. Spain and France reached an agreement on the same basis in the same year. Evidently, the Moors were not satisfied as to the degree of that pacific penetration or Fez would not at present be the scene of warlike activity. Had the French and Spanish observed the same tactics of smoking the pipe of peace which made Great Britain so popular in East and West and Central Africa around the camp fires of the Bantu and the Nilotic tribes the Riffian massacres which now figure in the daily papers would not have taken place.

To aggravate the situation it appears that the Riffians are dead shots and have carried sniping instructions, which they received during the great war, into their own mountain vastnesses to practice them on their former instructors. Airplanes and gas bombs are of no avail for the reason that the African's methods are not mass movements, but guerrilla trailing. Spain has seen her colonizing days and France has never figured prominently as a colored man's instructor, except in religion, and thus the world is following this campaign with the greatest interest. For Northern Africa aroused to hatred means the letting loose of a flood of reckless fanatics who stop at no mouths of guns or rocks of Gibraltar, but swarm like clouds of bees and locusts regardless of fire, as witnessed at Omdurman.

CONQUEST OF THE DESERT

The conquest of the arid regions of America nowhere has shown more magical results than in Southern California. Vast areas of the Southland have been placed under irrigation and there still remain millions of acres that await the coming of canals. Every year adds to the watered acreage, and the next five years may add far more than the previous ten if the new plans outlined by Brainerd B. Smith, receiver of the local United States Land Office, be favorably considered by Congress. These plans call for the drilling of test wells by the government in the Mojave Desert to establish the underground water levels in that immense "back country."

Over thirty years ago dry farming was undertaken in many parts of the Mojave region, but when exceptionally dry years came the farmers had to discontinue their efforts. About twenty years ago subterranean water was tapped at various depths, and since that time there has been an extensive development of agricultural areas in the eastern and western parts of the Mojave. If the plan to drill a well in each section of the richer land be carried out one can imagine the tremendous impetus that will be given to agriculture in that great district, where it is estimated that there are over 2,320,000 acres of potentially productive land, of which over 500,000 easily might be irrigated by wells during the next decade, if the vast subterranean lake can be tapped in a sufficient number of places.

Irrigation is as old as mankind. The glory of the Garden of Eden itself was a product of irrigation. "A river went out of Eden to water the garden," says the Bible, "and from thence it was parted, and became into four heads." The parting, or diverting, of the Colorado River into that California Eden, the Imperial Valley, where the results of the miracle of irrigation are seen in their most fruitful aspect, is analogous to that referred to in Genesis, and there is to be found in that southern region nearly every tree and plant that is "pleasant to the sight and good for food."

If the newcomer from the East had seen the arid, barren Imperial Valley thirty-five years ago, when it was known as the Colorado Desert, he would have considered the agricultural prospect there a hopeless one, as did many others, among them old-time Californians. What it is today, with its annual production of a carload of crops for each human being of its 50,000 population, calling to the imagination the picture of a freight train over 600 miles long speeding toward the world's markets, is due to the men of vision who, knowing what lay in the soil of that region by way of enormous productivity, had the courage and capital to make good what seemed their Utopian dreams. Hopes became realities. And yet even the most sanguine of those Imperial pioneers hardly could have foreseen that within so brief a time nearly every State in the Union would be breakfasting on Imperial melons and that eastern people would be eating strawberries, grapes, lettuce and other products sent to them by the solid trainload from a land which those pioneers first saw as an arid, desolate waste where coyotes howled to the moon. But the miracle of irrigation has been wrought with these surprising results.

In a less conspicuous way other California regions have worked other prodigies of agricultural magic, and now the great Mojave Desert, with alluvial soil that can be made wonderfully productive by irrigation, may be similarly exploited. Already that region has shown that it can produce the finest of pears, plums and apricots. Other fruits are successfully grown there, and so are cotton, milo maize and alfalfa.

Yes, the miracle of irrigation, wrought thousands of years ago in the Syrian Desert by "the streams of Lebanon," is being repeated here, and on a scale of which the ancient people of Damascus never dreamed.

THE DEAF MAY HEAR

Electric science is reaching out in so many directions that it is difficult to keep in touch with its progress. One of its most recent and most surprising developments for the benefit of handicapped humanity is the generation of sensitizing inaudible air waves which enable deaf persons to sit in a room, church or theater and hear the same as persons with normal hearing. The apparatus, divested of its electric nomenclature, is in the form of a loud-speaker which creates the waves that sensitize the ear drums, and yet the waves are declared to be unnoticed by either deaf persons or persons of normal hearing who sit in the room.

The discovery was made by Dr. Byron E. Eldred, who tells all he knows about it in Popular Radio, N. Y., and who was led into his investigations by riding in a closed automobile with a deaf friend. The discovery is yet in an experimental stage, and the scientist is not yet certain of its universal application. He cautions the public against overconfidence in the discovery because "it seems too good to be true," but he says "its truth has been demonstrated irrefutably in many cases, even in creating good hearing and normal-toned speech in a child of 6, who had been classed as a deaf mute."

He says in closing his explanation that he expects many aurists to disagree with his theories, but he feels compelled to give to the world "an idea which I fully recognize as requiring further effort to obtain ultimate results." The world can well afford to await the outcome of that which promises so much for the welfare of its handicapped millions.

MONEY TALKS

Money may not always have something to say; but that never especially seems to disturb it. Money talks.

It not infrequently does its talking in third-grade English; but it does not know it and nobody else dares to suggest it. Ignorance often is more loquacious than wisdom.

If it were not so garrulous it might pass current for much more than it is. If it were content to wag its head more and its tongue less it would receive more genuine homage.

However, money seldom talks that way. It may be stingy of itself; but it is not often parsimonious of its words. It opens its mouth, loosens up its lungs, throws back its coat, puts its thumbs into its vest and issues volumes of discourse. It tells the world.

It frequently secures its facts from painted shelves of books and these have never been particularly informing. It does not stop with Eliot's five foot bookshelves; it buys them by the rod from the lumber yard. They are built-in with other furniture.

If money would hold its gold tongue between its gold teeth and allow others to talk the world would be wiser. Its words are not always "apples of gold in pitchers of silver." Nor does it do its talking with a silver tongue. The silver tongues have usually been poor. The world has usually allowed the ravens to feed its prophets.

If some hardy soul would take his life and his job into his hands and tell money that silence is golden it would likely keep quiet for the sake of economy.

However, this much must be said. Whether it has much to say or not, money helps to put it across. Some mighty fragile propositions have succeeded, because money talks. It secures and holds an audience in spite of a dearth of knowledge and a paucity of wisdom.

LONG RANGE LOANS

The province of Tucuman, in Argentina, wishes to be enrolled among the numerous debtors of Uncle Sam. The government there seeks a loan of some 20,000,000 pesos from American investors, the money to be used in public works and road building. Tucuman is one of the smaller divisions of the Argentine country and lies at the edge of the Andean backbone, about 800 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. We are loaning a lot of money to various governments and peoples in Latin America and it was but natural that the dwellers in Tucuman should hear of it and join the parade. A loan in Tucuman may not be as good an investment as Los Angeles real estate, but that is no reason why it should be frowned upon.

Just About It
by James J. Montague

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

The honest crow
Through sleet and snow
His weary way
Wings to and fro.
With sturdy zest
He does his best
To fight against starvation.
A hero he,
Who scorns to flee
When winter freezes
Land and sea!
But don't forget
He never yet
Has won our admiration.

The robin stays
Through summer days.
But in the fall
He goes his ways
To where, beside
The tropic tide,
The fronded palms are springing.
But people yearn
For his return,
Their eager praises
Does he earn
When far and near
They pause to hear
The little coward singing.

Poor honest crow
We scorn him, though
He's wise, and brave and clever.
The gift of song
The world has long
Preferred to high endeavor!

THE DEBT WE OWE

There's a debt we owe our mothers
That can ne'er be fully paid,
Though we work all day with others
For the fortunes that are made.
Though we stray from virtue's pathway,
Though we from the highest fall,
We may find it true that each day
Places mother first of all.

We may plan on gaining treasure,
Prompted by the lust for gold,
We may even have full measure
Of the joy of wealth untold,
But we must be also caring
As the years we swiftly scan,
For the brave heart and the daring
In the mother of the man.

Not Pulling Together

The patient rather fancied his many illnesses, and the doctor, calling on his morning visit, was amazed to find him in the depths of despair.

"Ah, doctor; you've come. I'm afraid nothing will cure me but a warmer climate."

"Hoots, man," said the doctor. "Haven't I been trying to save you from that for the last six months?"—[Montreal Gazette.

Ofttimes silence is the sounding board of wisdom.

LETTERS TO The Times

Not for a Minute

EAST ORANGE (N. J.) May 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Yesterday there came into my hand a copy of a paper styled Minute Man. It contains some statements that should be noticed. It complains of the tyranny of the Eighteenth Amendment and talks of fighting for liberty as did the heroes of '76. Think of comparing those valorous sons with a group of men who are seeking to gratify a selfish thirst.

As to this beer and wine question, the people do not want it shackled on them. About two years after adopting prohibition by a popular vote the States of Washington and Michigan had beer and wine amendments submitted to a vote of the people. They both turned these amendments down overwhelmingly, the majority in each State being much larger than that originally given for prohibition.

That slogan of theirs, "Beer and light wines now, but no saloon ever," might be generalized and used in other realms; for instance, how would this sound? "Boots and shoes now, but no shoe shops ever"? One is just as reasonable as the other. Don't our friends know that more than three-fourths of the stuff sold in the old saloon was beer. Wherever beer or wine are sold the place will be practically a saloon. The name does not matter. The name and building in the old days were comparatively harmless. It was the stuff sold there that did the mischief.

Agin Vaccination

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The people are informed through the press that there is a smallpox epidemic raging in the nation's capital. The President and some 70,000 workers are being vaccinated to prevent their being taken down with that disease.

Jenner's son died of vaccination poisoning, so will millions to come. When it is remembered that in this grand and glorious country there are nearly 40,000,000 souls that do not believe in any form of medicine whatever it proves that the medical octopus has control in this country to force the vaccination, serumization, on every man, woman, child. This is being done by that cult of the healing art (?) known as allopathy. It is a fact that scientific medicine so-called has wiped out the family of Harding, and the Coolidge family has a wonderful chance of being a good second triumph of medicine.

The Supreme Court of the United States has repeatedly held that to forcibly vaccinate, inspect, anyone against his will is as much an assault as to hit one on the head with a sledge hammer, yet it is being done daily in our schoolrooms by political doctors. These political school boards and doctors should be informed that it is the school that is public, not the children.

H. C. SAUNDERS.

Real Mates Needed

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your editorial in this morning's paper, "The Divorce Evil," leads me to write a few words on that subject. When we lose something that God gave us we keep trying to find it again. When we lose our health we run from one quack doctor to another trying to regain it. But, worst of all, when we lose love we are nervous, irritable, never satisfied and keep on looking for it. Poor hungry souls—we go from one theater to another to see love flashed upon the screen. Most of us are not fit to be loved or to truly love. At home is the place where the everlasting picture of love should be shown and that love should reflect upon the neighbors. This would not stop the places of amusements, we could go to fine arts or comics.

God intended there should be born a female for every male and that everyone should have a mate who is worthy of the love and respect of the other. He expected every male to be able to command the respect of the female. In order to do that he must keep himself healthy and honorable.

Divorces are caused by overindulgence and the lack of understanding of the laws of mental and physical health. Every woman is entitled to a real man for a mate and the happiness of both of them.

Monarchy Defended

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I always read The Times editorials because of their fair conservatism, but your editorial of today anent British Royal Tours was not characterized by your accustomed fairness, because it tends to create a false impression.

Regarding the crown lands—without giving the facts, you report some statement about using these funds for certain objects instead of using it for state trips of the royal family. Most of the income from the crown lands is used for the common good and not for the monarchy, for the King himself pays for almost everything to do with his regal state out of his own income (for the income allowed him by the country is his own.)

Your statement that a republic is cheaper than a monarchy is also, I think, open to contradiction, for, excluding the surplus from the crown lands, the institution of a monarchy is very good for trade. I will venture to say that the trade of England during the London season, with its royal courts, increases sufficiently to pay the upkeep of royalty—and Republican America provides much of this increase in trade, which would not take place were there no monarchy—gay Paris would benefit, not foggy London!

I hardly think that many Englishmen will agree with your criticism regarding the expenditures necessary to keep up the state of the King, and we all know the sacrifices they have made for a monarch during the [illegible]

[illegible], dear, yes! There are washing machines galore. Many good [illegible] too. But, there isn't the [illegible] least use in getting an ordinary clumsy-looking machine, [illegible] thing that annoys you and [illegible] one who comes near it, so [illegible] as there is a Maytag Washing [illegible] on the market. The superiority of the Maytag Washer is [illegible] mentioned. Even would-be rival [illegible] dealers admit that. And, Dear [illegible] Los Angeles, you can readily [illegible] convince yourself about the distinctively admirable qualities of the [illegible] Maytag at no cost to yourself. [illegible] a free demonstration in your [illegible] home if you like. Schluster's, [illegible] local representatives, will [illegible] gladly show you how easily, how [illegible] gayly and, my, yes! how efficiently the Maytag cleanses your [illegible] clothing. This superb washer has [illegible] aluminum tub which cannot [illegible] rust or corrode and is constructed with round surfaces so [illegible] dirt cannot collect in the corners (as it does in many other [illegible] washing machines). Really, if [illegible] you haven't a Maytag, you at least [illegible] owe it to yourself to have a demonstration. Telephone or call at [illegible] Schluster's about it. 745 So. Quench your thirst with Arrowhead Springs Mountain Water! Play safe with your inner system! Your muscles, nerves and even your bones need this refreshing, soft, drinking water from Arrowhead in the San Bernardino Mountains. If you are out of sorts, here's a little suggestion—drink two glasses of Arrowhead Springs Water half an hour before breakfast, and a glass or two between meals and see if that does not rejuvenate you, give you extra pep, keep you young. Brought to Los Angeles in large, glass-lined tanks, then put into gallon bottles or five-gallon demijohns this wonderful beverage contains not a particle of deleterious matter. Inexpensive also. Only 50 cents for five gallons delivered to your pantry or porch. Telephone a trial order to HUmboldt 0300.

A few green plants in the house give a cheerful appearance. But, don't take the most cheerful bay window in your home and crowd it full of tables and tabourets holding pot after pot of greens. Have one or two if you wish, but leave room for big comfortable chairs in the sunny spot so that people can enjoy your home, not just plants.

Just as delightful as its name implies—Mission Bell is the fragrant toilet soap recently placed on sale—at all grocers and druggists—by the Los Angeles Soap Company. Mission Bell soap lathers quickly in cold, hot, hard or soft water. It is superior to imported soaps, because it is made expressly for use in Los Angeles water. It is the outcome of years of experiment to perfect a soap that would give absolute satisfaction in hard or alkaline waters. Calls for it are growing daily from those who like a dainty bath or toilet soap. Economical and good, it is winning its way into most Los Angeles homes.

You don't know what Sanitas is? Why, my dear, dear girl, you are not only lamentably behind the times, but, truly, you are still going to such a jolly lot of unnecessary trouble. Hearken, fairest one! Sanitas is the name of a tablecloth with a flannel back. It's also made up in luncheon sets. The Sanitas tablecloth saves labor and expense, and do you know it's becoming quite an fait in our best homes and in spiffy cafes to use Sanitas luncheon sets, decorated in oil colors or hand-stenciled in artistic designs? Ask for Sanitas at Matthews Paint Co., 1245 South Hill street. You won't regret it.

Let's take it for granted that you know all about the Kahn-Beck Company goodies—their Arizona chocolates, delicious crackers and small appetizing cakes and macaroni. By the way, if you don't know, get some today, you'll be giving yourself a treat. Do you know though, that this old established company is expanding its business and will sell a limited number of shares in the company? Shares that will earn 8 per cent for you? Stock in a growing manufacturing firm is about the best investment a woman can buy. Write Kahn-Beck Co., 602 Allso street, and learn how you can get an interest in the company. They will answer without any obligation on your part.

Big layers of clean, sweet, yellow fat found around the gizzard or elsewhere in the chicken may be substituted for butter and used for making cake, puff paste and pie dough.

"Whew!" growled the master of the house, "here's your mother and sisters coming up the street, it's near dinner time, and I know you haven't any meat left, nor much of any other kind of eatables." No worry to supply a meal at Travaglini's.

The popular woolen shawls and scarfs can be laundered safely if care is taken of them. Pure soap, water of same temperature for both washing and rinsing, and drying full-length between towels are perhaps the most important tips.

Clever, don't you think? Yes, and what a boon to our women folks, that idea of the L. A. Creamery in supplying differently flavored ice-cream bricks each Sunday for dessert. Especially so these warm days, when every added task becomes burdensome. A bas! the pudding and the pie, dear ladies. Leave your order with a near-by dealer for a brick or two of L. A. Creamery Lily Brand of ice cream. It's delicious, nourishing and healthful for the older ones as well as for the little folks. This week's flavors are Honey Fruit, Orange Sherbet, Banana and Walnut. This is good advice, you'll all agree. Then do act on it.

WOMAN TELLS ACID THREATS

Feminine Voice Warns Her in Phone Call

Advises Her to Leave Post or Lose Eyesight

Asks Protection; at Loss to Explain Mystery

Mysterious phone calls from a woman who threatened to disfigure her for life by casting acid into her face unless she left her present employment, were reported to the police yesterday by Mrs. T. C. Conley, 1350 South Bonnie Brae street. In seeking protection from the police, Mrs. Conley said she feared that some paranoiac suffering from a fancied grievance will carry out the phone threats.

The acid warning was first made indirectly to Mrs. Conley more than a month ago, to Dr. Ralph Hagan, 709 Brockman Building, where she is employed in the office. Dr. Hagan, it is said, was called on the phone one night and his office assistant threatened with disfigurement unless he immediately discharged her.

On last Wednesday the warning was repeated to the manager of Mrs. Conley's apartment on Bonnie Brae. Thursday night, however, Mrs. Conley for the first time talked directly with the woman, who warned her to leave Dr. Hagan's employment at once under penalty of being disfigured.

"If you don't leave Dr. Hagan's employment immediately I will get you some place and put your eyes out with acid," the woman is reported to have said over the telephone.

"I can assign no motive for this woman threatening me," Mrs. Conley is said to have told Detectives Lind and Sperry of the University Division police yesterday. "She called up again twice yesterday and asked for Dr. Hagan — I recognized her voice. The woman is so evidently in earnest that I am afraid to go home. There is no conceivable reason for such anonymous threats and there is no use trying to find out her motive, for she immedately hangs up the receiver after telling me to leave."

Dr. Hagan was out of town yesterday but, it is said, he has been unable to advance any motive for the mysterious phone calls. Mrs. Conley has been employed at that office since last Nomvember.

RICH VISITOR KILLS SELF BY STABBING

Another Suicide Attempt Reported as Girl-Mother Slashes Throat

Despondent, it is believed, because of continued ill health, A. H. Miller, 59 years of age, wealthy landowner of Groton, S. D., yesterday stabbed himself to death with a butcher knife in the bathroom of his apartment at 7021 Hollywood Boulevard. His body was found by Mrs. Miller and the manager of the apartments, C. C. Blumingdale, who broke in the locked door. Mrs. Miller informed Detective Lieutenant Wicklund of Hollywood division, that she believed her husband ended his life because of illness. The body was taken to the mortuary of Strother & Dayton.

Mrs. Laura Caldwell, 17-year-old mother, possibly fatally wounded herself by slashing her throat with a safety-razor blade yesterday in her home at 951 East Nineteth street, according to police. She had suffered a nervous breakdown since the birth some time ago of her baby and had been watched constantly, her father-in-law, Alex Caldwell, told police. She cut her throat when he temporarily relaxed his watch over her, he said. She was being treated at Receiving Hospital, but is not expected to recover. Her husband, Kenneth Caldwell, was at work at the time.

New Offensive is Reported in Cleaners' War

Another offensive in the cleaners' war was reported yesterday to the police. W. J. McColgam, a night watchman, reported he had seen someone jump over the rear fence of the Consolidated Cleaners' and Dyers' place at 1800 Temple street, and that investigation showed the top of a gasoline tank had been removed. He said previous attempts had been made to put acid in the gasoline used by the establishment and a sample of the fluid from the tank was sent to a chemist for analysis.

Woman Escapes Attacker After Desperate Fight

Her escape from an attacker after a hard fight was reported yesterday by Mrs. A. Hubbard, a nurse at the General Hospital, living at 1100 Mission Road. While walking home Thursday night, she was seized by a man in the 600 block on West Avenue 50, she said. He attempted to drag her into a clump of bushes. She fought and finally freed herself, then took refuge in a near-by house. The man ran away. She described him as about 30 years of age, stockily built, and dressed in knickerbockers.

REGIONAL PLANNERS TO GET PORT SCHEME

The first public presentation of the greater harbor plan of the Greater Harbor Committee of 200 will be made at 1:30 p.m. today at the meeting of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission at the City Club. G. Gordon Whitnall, director of the City Planning Commission, will give a report of the first International Conference of City Planners, which he attended recently in New York, and the Kelker rapid-transit plan will be taken up at an afternoon session. The conference will start at 10 a.m., with luncheon at noon.

LEG OF LAMB

Wipe the trimmed leg of lamb, dredge with salt, pepper and flour; place on a rack in a baking pan, dredge a little on the bottom of the pan, place in a hot oven after adding one-half slice onion, one clove of garlic, mashed, one small scraped carrot, one stalk of celery and one-half a bay leaf to the pan; when the flour has browned, baste every fifteen minutes with four tablespoons of butter melted in three-quarters of a cupful of boiling water. Bake fifteen minutes to the pound. Place the meat on a hot serving dish, add two tablespoonfuls of flour to the pan, stir and strain into a sauce boat.

ENDIVE SALAD, ROYAL

Mix one-half a cupful of finely chopped radishes with one-half cupful of chopped white celery, a teaspoonful of chopped chives and one cupful of French dressing. Cover the salad plates with tender leaves of endive, pour over the dressing and garnish with ripe olives.

PEACHES PRINCESS

Drain the syrup from one can of preserved peach halves, reserve two of the halves, and place the balance of the peach halves in a shallow baking pan pit side up. Chop the two halves fine and mix with twelve crumbed macaroons, one tablespoonful of sugar, and the yolk of one egg. Fill the peach halves with the mixture, pour over all half a cupful of white grape juice, sprinkle with sugar and bake ten minutes. Place on dessert plates, pour over a vanilla-flavored custard and serve hot.

MARSHMALLOW CAKE

Melt three squares of unsweetened chocolate with three tablespoonfuls of butter, beat into them one-half cupful of boiling water, add one cupful of sugar, mix well, add one well beaten egg and beat in four tablespoonfuls of sour milk. Sift one cupful of sifted flour with three-quarters of a teaspoonful of soda and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Combine the two mixtures, beat thoroughly, add one teaspoonful of vanilla, pour into three well-buttered and floured layer cake tins and bake in a moderate oven. Turn out on a wire rack and when thoroughly cold spread between the layers and over the top and sides a marshmallow frosting.

MARSHMALLOW FILLING

Boil one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water, without stirring, until it will spin a thread when a little is dropped from the tip of a spoon. Pour gradually over the stiffly beaten white of one egg, beating constantly, and beat until cool enough to spread. Flavor with two teaspoonfuls of lemon juice.

PARFAIT LOS ANGELES

Mix one pint of strawberry ice-cream with one cupful of sweet whipped cream, place in parfait glasses, add a teaspoon of orange marmalade, top with chipped cream and garnish with chopped cherries and broken walnut meats.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

HICCOUGHS

Mrs. B.: Anyone is liable to have hiccoughs occasionally after hearty laughter.

Hiccoughs is a reflex irritation of a complex nature, causing a spasmodic contracture of the diaphragm and the rushing of the air through the vocal chords. This rushing of air through the vocal cords causes the characteristic sound—Hic!

Occasionally, hiccough may be a serious symptom, but the average case is of no significance, among the causes of simple hiccough, overeating, with overdistention of the stomach is probably the most frequent; undernourishment and hunger, on the other hand, especially in babies and children, may also be causes. Many other simple causes are chills, coming from a warm temperature into a cold, swallowing air, excessive laughter. The ordinary hiccough lasts from a few minutes to an hour or so.

Treatment: The simple hiccough usually stops within a short time, with or without treatment. Some of the home remedies are: (1.) Sipping very hot or very cold water. (2.) Holding the breath and counting. (3.) Standing on the hands or head (not so simple. (4.) Pulling the legs up to the abdomen. (5.) Pulling the tongue forward. (6.) Blowing. (7.) Having the attention distracted forcefully. (8.) Deep pressure on the sides of the vertebrae in the neck (this is an endeavor to press upon the phrenic nerve which, among other things, has to do with the control of the respiratory muscles, including the diaphragm.) (9.) Applications to the pit of the stomach of mustard plasters or ice. (10.) Throwing the head back, with fingers in both ears and swallowing water. (11.) Gargling with a bitter solution such as quinine or quassia water. (12.) Deep pressure over the eyebrows. (13.) Drinking the juice of lemon with one-half teaspoonful of salt in it.

For the severe forms of hiccough a physician must be called. If he is a competent physician, he will give a thorough examination to find out the cause.

BUT SEVENTY-FIVE CALORIES A DAY MAINTENANCE MEANS—!

"Dear Doctor: When I married I weighed only 115, and I now weigh 146, just in three years' time. My height is five feet two and one-half inches in stocking feet. What should my correct weight be? I will do just as you say and stay with you until the end.—Mrs. Y."

The rule for finding the ideal adult net weight is to allow 110 pounds for five feet in height, in stocking feet; for each inch over, or under that height, add, or subtract respectively, five and one-half pounds.

According to this, you should weigh around 120 to 125, so you are about twenty-one pounds overweight, a gain of seven pounds a year. Let us see how much you have been overeating for your needs every day.

One pound of fat is 4000 calories, so seven pounds is 28,000 calories. Twenty-eight thousand divided by 365 makes about seventy-five. So you have averaged seventy-five calories a day over your actual needs. Very little! But it mounted to twenty-one pounds in three years because it was more than you needed. Two-thirds of a slice of bread, or two-thirds of a pat of butter, or two-thirds of a chocolate cream will run up seventy-five calories. It shows the importance of having a knowledge of the caloric value of foods. Send for the reducing and gaining booklet. That has full directions for your needs. Inclose a self-addressed and stamped envelope (good sized) and 10 cents in stamps to cover part of the printing and handling.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible. If they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Speaker Urges Christ Spirit in Talk to Masons

Edwards Davis, president of the Two Thirty-Three Masonic Club of Hollywood, in an address before the Masonic Club of Los Angeles at the Alexandria yesterday, declared that the origin and history of Christianity are of far less importance than the existence of the Christian spirit in the heart of present-day humanity.

"The same thing may be said of Masonry," said Mr. Davis. "The origin, history, symbology and ritualism of the Masonic Order, fascinating as they are, are of less value than the simple, yet sublime spirit of Masonry in the hearts of the true members of this great fraternity. Men may build material temples mountain high, yet if the spirit of devotion and desire for service be not in the hearts of those who build and inhabit the temples, 'there will not be left one stone upon another that shall not be thrown down.' The true temple is that not made with hands but which is eternal in the heavens—and in the heart."

The speaker advised his hearers to devote their spare time to the study of the sciences and of the world's great literature and, in course of his address, sounded a warning against intolerance and bigotry which he declared to be equally as undesirable in an individual or a fraternal organization as in the ecclesiastical world.

Irving J. Mitchell, president of the Masonic Club of Los Angeles, announced that the next club smoker will be conducted at the club rooms next Tuesday evening.

CONCERT TO OPEN SEASON

A concert and community singing by Harry Barnhart and his band Saturday evening, and orchestra recitals Sunday afternoon and evening by the William T. Baker organization, will usher in the 1925 musical season at Westlake Park. Hereafter every evening and Sunday afternoons orchestra concerts will be given from the pontoon on the lake unless supplanted by band music.

SUIT FILED TO TEST DRY LAW

Sheriff Traeger Defendant in Wright Act Case

Plaintiff Asserts Seizure of Wine Illegal

Declares Possession is Not Contrary to Statute

What may prove an important issue in the enforcement of the Wright Act was brought before Superior Court for hearing yesterday in the form of a suit in which Giuseppe Di Matteo seeks to recover "100 gallons of red fermented grape juice" from Sheriff Traeger.

The action was filed by Attorneys Andreani and Haines and Harold E. Prudhon, who asserted they will demand, when the case comes to trial, that Sheriff Traeger return the "fermented grape juice" to their client on the ground it is held by the county official in violation of the national prohibition laws.

According to Andreani, the wine was seized on a search warrant, which, however, was not backed up by an affidavit stating that the wine was in Di Matteo's possession contrary to the terms of county, State or national liquor prohibition laws.

Andreani pointed out that the Federal law requires such an affidavit to be made before a Federal court can issue a search warrant and it is the attorney's contention that county or State law cannot supersede the constitutional law in such cases. The attorney also stated the Federal law permitted residents 200 gallons of wine a year for their own use, and that before a county official can seize wine under the Wright Act some authority should be given the court issuing the warrant in the form of an affidavit stating that such wine was being held contrary to this provision of the national law.

In his suit, Di Matteo asked that the wine be restored to him or that he be given damages of $400, together with $300 for the detention of the wine.

SHIPLEY LOSES FIGHT FOR GEMS, PROPERTY

Holding William Shipley had presented his wife with a diamond ring and stickpin and other personal property valued at $1270, Judge McDaniel yesterday gave judgment in favor of Mrs. Anna May Shipley in the suit brought against her by Shipley to recover the property. Shipley sued on the ground the property was his and denied that he had given the various articles to his wife, but the court held he failed to establish his claim through lack of corroboration. Mrs. Shipley asserted the property had been given her piece by piece by Shipley.

SMUGGLERS AT BORDER CAUGHT

Two White Men With Three Mongolians Nabbed

Plot to Bring Orientals Across Line Nipped

Leaders in Scheme Claim Los Angeles Residence

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN DIEGO, May 8.—Arrest of two white men and five Chinese on the American side of the international border today was said by immigration officials to have marked the first attempt in several months to smuggle aliens into this country from Lower California.

The asserted leaders of the conspiracy gave their names as C. W. Moody and Harry B. Lewis, both of Los Angeles. The five Chinese were well dressed and apparently of a high order of intelligence. Three of the seven came as the result of the sleuthing of Patrol Inspector J. L. Van Orhoven and Deputy Sheriff Sachau, who were put on the trail yesterday. They discovered fresh tracks leading from the border across the extensive Otay mesa. This trail led to a large camp grove east of Otay town where the officers found West parked in an automobile. West fled while the officers were following another trail. In the grove they soon found the five Chinese and Lewis asleep.

The prisoners were brought to County Jail and a net was found in West. Late in the day officers accomplished a part of their purpose in arresting Van Orhoven and Sachau, but the charges will be presented against the white men and Lewis, in due course, will be tried.

DEATH BLAME NOT FIXED

Two More Fatalities Expected in Crash at Santa Ana, Where Three Are Killed

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SANTA ANA, May 8.—Without placing responsibility for the death of a girl and two youths when a Pacific Electric car demolished an automobile in which they were riding on Seventeenth street, three miles west of Santa Ana last night, a Coroner's jury today recommended a proper signal be placed at the crossing and urged the County Supervisors to elevate the grade on both sides of the track.

Recovery of two more who were injured was in doubt, it was said at the hospital here. Marjorie Haines, 16 years of age, of Orange, still is unconscious. She sustained a fractured skull.

Charles Ring, 20, living at the Parsons Apartments in Santa Ana, has a hole in his skull. A badly lacerated left arm and other wounds that make his condition serious.

Funeral services for Lucille Bloomer, 17, of Villa Park, Raymond Kemp, 20, of Glendora, and Glenn Richards, 19, of Santa Ana, had not been arranged late today.

Allene Haines, 20, sister of Marjorie, and third girl in the party that had planned a party at the Los Alamitos Skating Rink, was removed to her home today. She suffered a broken arm and minor lacerations.

R. R. Reamer of Los Angeles, motorman on the car, declared it was wide open and traveling from 40 to 45 miles an hour. Though a machine had stopped on the opposite side of the crossing none in the automobile saw the trolley until it was on the car, which it carried 400 feet, throwing the mangled bodies along the right of way.

Bell Planning on Airport for Mail Landing

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BELL, May 8.—Bell, the little city adjoining Huntington Park on the east, is to have an airport. Final arrangements were made by J. W. Jennings, secretary of the Bell Chamber of Commerce, yesterday, when a lease was obtained from the Shell Oil Company for a forty-five acre tract at Atlantic Boulevard and Florence avenue.

The erection of hangars, the grading and cleaning of the field are to be started at once under the direction of Patrick O'Riley and Paul Nester, Burdett Field professional flyers, who will be in charge of the aviation field. Plans are being pushed for the official opening of the airport, which will take place on Sunday, the 17th inst.

Representatives of the Postoffice Department were here last week and it is understood that they were very favorably impressed with the accessibility of this site for a mail airport in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

If this site is selected for mail service it will be possible for trucks to leave the Los Angeles Postoffice, travel through Ninth street and Atlantic Boulevard to the airport, thus leaving the congested areas of the city, the total distance being only six miles.

DRIVE FOR VERDICT IN FRESNO RUM CASE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 8.—Through testimony of prohibition agents and Fresno business men the Federal government today continued to pile up evidence upon which it hopes to convict Mike Perrino, a prominent Fresno Italian, Reno Troly, Tony Chiodo and James Browning of conspiring to violate the National Prohibition Act in a building known as the West Side Club.

The court yesterday issued an abatement order against the club building and issued a permanent restraining order under which the defendants are forbidden to ever again enter the building for any purposes.

The defense lost a hotly contested fight to free Perrino from connection with the place through suppression of documentary evidence in the form of canceled checks, receipted bills, tax receipts and the like.

Inglewood to Watch Parade of Automobiles

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, May 8.—The biggest motor car parade ever held here will be the opening feature of the Inglewood Industrial exposition, that opens here on next Monday in two huge circus tents, both of which have already been erected. Both were needed to house the more than 100 exhibits of Inglewood manufacturing plants and others throughout the valley. An automobile show, a style show, a model yacht exhibit, a silver fox farm and model rooms and model homes are some of the novel features, as well as personally conducted tours of various local manufacturing plants.

A hoarse-voiced circus calliope is already on the scene, traversing the valley, to call attention by its steamy notes to the coming attraction of next week, from May 11 to 16.

MAGNOLIA PARK SEEKS EIGHT-ROOM SCHOOL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK May 8. — According to a school census just completed, Magnolia Park, between here and Lankershim, has 283 children of school age. The residents of that community today are asking the Burbank Board of Education to erect an eight-room school building. It had been believed through a former census that there were only eighty-two children in this neighborhood, and the school authorities were planning to erect a four-room building. The new count, it is reported, will result in a change of plans.

CLIMAX FOR SCHOOL ROW IN CALEXICO

Superintendent Announces Resignation in Wrangle Over Discipline Ruling

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, May 8.—A controversy over the question of discipline in the local high school, which has been fomenting for several months, came to a climax yesterday when City Superintendent C. B. Collins announced his resignation as head of the school department.

Members of the school board have refused to make a statement in connection with the case, but it has been confirmed from other sources that the resignation was demanded by unanimous vote on the part of the trustees.

Twelve members of the teaching staff in the local schools today issued a signed statement commending the superintendent for his disciplinary policy.

The trouble in the schools, according to those in touch with the situation, started last fall when members of the football team were charged with truancy and other offenses, and parents of the boys expressed resentment at the action of the superintendent in temporarily suspending the offenders.

BURBANK BIRTH RATE KEEPS STEADY GAIT

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, May 8.—Burbank is growing fast, not altogether because tourists passing through halt their autos, buy a house and lot and take up permanent residence here. The local birth rate is keeping up a steady clip. For April figures show nine persons died in Burbank. During the same time twenty-two babies showed up to claim the heritage of being native sons. Virtually the same ratio between births and deaths has been maintained since the start of the year. Since January 1 there have been fifty-five deaths. During the same period there have been 118 births.

PLAN FOR 10,000 AT POMONA IOWA PICNIC

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

POMONA, May 8.—Planning to make the picnic of the Southern California Iowa Association, which will be held at Ganesha Park here June 6, a huge success, the Pomona Iowa Association began today to carry out plans for the occasion following a meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. last night. C. C. Caves, president of the association, presided. Secretary C. H. Parsons has asked that preparations for 10,000 guests be made, these to come from the cities of the orange belt.

BURBANK CHAMBER WILL BOOST ROSTER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, May 8. — The Burbank Chamber of Commerce will launch a drive for more members on the 21st inst., in an effort to raise the membership from the present figure of 300 to 1000 names. It had at first been planned to secure the assistance of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce organization bureau experts, but none of the bureau's workers would have been available until later in the summer.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GROW

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, May 8.—Postmaster Walter L. Cleveland announces the total revenue in the local postoffice for the month of April, this year, as $7024.85, this being the first month since the office passed into the independent class. The receipts for April of last year were $6124.63, a gain of $900.22. The money-order department also increased 20 per cent during the month of April over the corresponding month of last year.

PAPERS INDORSE BOOSTER PLANS

Publishers Attend Session of Valley Organization

Body Will Take on Wide Scope of Development

Fund of $150,000 is to be Spent in Advertising

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, May 8. — Plans for the permanent organization of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association were presented to a large delegation of leading business men of the valley at a meeting at the Hollywood Athletic Club last night. Publishers of all the valley newspapers were present and indorsed the plans of the organization.

The plan presented by A. Z. Taft, Jr., president of the association, provides for four classes of memberships creating an association strictly representative of the valley property owner, and permits all civic organizations, service clubs and women's organizations, not operating for private purposes, to become a part of the association.

Steps to incorporate as a non-profit organization will be taken immediately, Mr. Taft said.

Leaders of the various sections of the valley who have actively taken charge of the campaign to raise $150,000 from property owners to advertise and develop the major improvement projects of the valley enthusiastically indorsed the organization plan.

VAST MEMBERSHIP PLAN

According to the by-laws, which resemble in a great degree the by-laws of the United States Chamber of Commerce, each organization member of the association will be entitled to one member on the board of directors for each fifty members up to and including 200 members. An advisory committee of two has also been provided to be appointed from all organizations. The advisory committee, Mr. Taft said, will constitute the various committees, and will advise with the president, executive committee and board of directors concerning the welfare of their particular locality.

An executive committee, consisting of fifteen members, will be formed by the board of directors, with an election of five from the organization directorate, five from the individual membership, and five from the associate memberships, representing firms, partnerships or corporations. An annual election will supplant five members of the committee each year.

TO RAISE $150,000.

The organization to raise the $150,000 advertising fund this month was completed at the meeting with announcements from the eight colonels attending that majors and captains directing the campaign in the fourteen communities of the valley had been commissioned and were completing their team organization.

The colonels in the various sections of the valley include H. H. Dace of San Fernando, Fred Weddington of Lankershim, Frank E. Slattery of Van Nuys, John L. Kirkham of Zelzah, Hugo Carlson of Owensmouth and Alex Jeffrey, general of the west section of the valley.

NEW SCHOOL HEAD AT ALHAMBRA CHOSEN

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, May 8. — George E. Bettinger, at present vice-principal of Alhambra High School, was nominated for the office of principal of the school at last night's meeting of the School Board. While official action was deferred until next week, it is understood that the members of the board are considering the appointment of Mr. Bettinger favorably. The nomination was made by Charles E. Barber, Superintendent of Schools, who will retire from the position on July 1, and will be succeeded by Forrest V. Routt, the present principal.

In the change in personnel of the school system here, material to fill all vacancies has been found in the local schools. It is expected that if Mr. Bettinger gets the job as principal, his successor will be chosen from among the present faculty.

ADVERTISING PAYS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 8.—That church advertising pays was proved in Pasadena just prior to Easter, it was disclosed at a meeting of the Pastor's Union yesterday when it was reported that 1040 new members were secured for Pasadena churches during the campaign.

ANAHEIM PAPERS MERGE

Plain Dealer Suspends With Apology to Dr. Geissinger, Thus Ending Big Libel Suit

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ANAHEIM, May 8.—Purchase of the Orange County Plain Dealer, one of the oldest dailies in this section of the State, by the Baker interests, which control the Anaheim Bulletin, and consolidation of the Plain Dealer with the Bulletin, in answer to an economic demand from the merchants and a demand from the readers for a bigger and better newspaper, was announced here today by Lotus H. Loudon, representative of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Baker.

The plain Dealer suspended publication this evening and the merchants of the city have unanimously indorsed the merged daily. All business men signing five-year contracts guaranteeing to support no other paper should it attempt to enter the field.

All policies of the Bulletin will remain unchonged, as will the personnel, all members of the present staff being retained.

With the Plain Dealer publishing its last issue tonight, the final curtain was rung down over the Klan controversy which raged in this city for two years, resulting in the recall of four Klan Councilmen, and in a $100,000 libel suit being filed against the Plain Dealer by Dr. J. A. Geissinger, pastor of the Methodist White Temple, and strong opponent of the Klan faction.

The libel suit was filed recently by Geissinger, on the ground that the pastor had been maliciously libeled and slandered during the election campaign by statements published in the Plain Dealer.

Today the libel suit was settled out of court, the Plain Dealer paying all attorney fees in the case, amounting to $10,000. A settlement on $20,000 was offered Dr. Geissinger, which he refused to accept, and was then offered a public apology in the Plain Dealer.

COUNCIL AND MAYOR ROW IN SAN DIEGO

Executive Unable to Get Confirmation of Choice for Police Chief

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 8.—Chief of Police James Patrick was still on the job today and expected to continue in charge of his department despite the avowed determination of three of the five City Councilmen to oust him.

Mayor Bacon reiterated today his own determination to ignore the insurgent Councilmen and keep Patrick at the head of the police department. The opposition trio insist that Patrick must go and declare they hold the whip hand by reason of holding the power of nonconfirmation of the Mayor's appointee. The appointment of Patrick and others will come up for confirmation again next week and if the Police Chief is still persona non grata with the Council it is the intention of the Mayor to keep him on the job without the formality of official recognition by the Council.

The situation is complicated by the fact that while the three Councilmen can block confirmation of Patrick they have not sufficient votes to name a new Chief. No definite open charges have been made against the Chief by the opposition.

CHAPTER ADDED IN TULARE WATER CASE

DEFENDANTS ACT TO HALT ISSUING OF PERMANENT INJUNCTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VISALIA, May 8. — Another chapter has been written in the history of the famous nine-year water suit of the Tulare Irrigation District vs. the Lindsay-Strathmore Irrigation District, over waters of the Kaweah River Delta, with filing by defense counsel of notice of intention to move the court for suspension of the permanent injunction which Superior Judge Stephens of Los Angeles county is expected to issue Tuesday against operating of the Rancho De Kaweah pumps pending an appeal.

The notice of the defendants just filed, admits that with signing of the final judgment a permanent injunction would forever stop the great pumping plant, which supplies water for irrigation of 15,000 acres of citrus lands south and outside of the Kaweah River Delta, thus ruining the district, according to the defendants, and render valueless bonds of $1,000,000 which have been issued and sold covering the district.

The defendants expect to appeal the case to the State Supreme Court and will request that the pumps be allowed to operate as now under the temporary restraining order from April 15 to November 15 of each year on a limited pull, until decision on the appeal is rendered.

AUTOMOBILES CUT UP

Two Plate-Glass Windows Broken by Rampaging Cars

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 8.—Local and Los Angeles drivers just couldn't keep their automobiles in the boulevards, according to reports in police headquarters today.

Marie Daly, fair Los Angeles motorist, ran her large automobile into the plate-glass windows of Marine-street Cafe. Several persons riding in the machine at the time, escaped injury. Miss Daly explained to the officers that she had to run over the curbing in order to avoid striking a large bus.

Shortly after Miss Daly lost control of her automobile, C. W. Moody, 615 Palisades avenue, jumped the curbing and smashed a large plate-glass window of a shore store at 133 Pier avenue. Moody was not injured, although his car was badly wrecked.

Police of Many Cities Take Up Search for Grandparents Believed to Have Abducted Boy

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 8.—Police of many cities today started a search for an old white-haired Pasadena couple who are believed to have kidnaped Robert Southworth, 8-year-old student of the Oneonta Military Academy of South Pasadena.

When the military academy was closed to visitors late yesterday afternoon young Robert, who is the son of R. B. Southworth, resident of the Marengo Hotel of this city, was reported missing. All efforts to find the lad have proved unavailing.

The theory that the boy was kidnaped was advanced by the father, who accused Mr. and Mrs. Gillis D. Raymond, 787 North Madison avenue, grandparents of the child, of stealing the boy.

When Southworth's wife died two years ago the child was given into the custody of the grandparents, both of whom are past seventy years of age. Later, Southworth asserts, he learned that the old couple were attempting to alienate the boy's affections and as a result he appealed to the Juvenile Court. The court made Emily Marlowe, court attache, guardian of the boy until final guardianship papers were made.

According to Detective-Lieutenants Kaighin and Decker, the grandparents have been missing from their home for thirty-six hours and that the house is securely locked and the blinds are drawn.

Raymond is described as weighing 210 pounds, gray hair, smooth shaven face and wears glasses. He is 70 years old. His wife, equally as old, weighs approximately 100 pounds and has dark brown hair.

SAN DIEGO CITY COUNCIL SCORED

Playing Politics Alleged in Water Fight

Officials Censured for Acts in Blocking Deal

Scathing Letter Called Out by Litigation Move

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 8.—In a sharp letter to the City Council today H. A. Hall, vice-president of the Lamesa irrigation district, scores that body for breaking off negotiations with the district over the question of water supply and charges that the Council has repudiated a "solemn obligation to the State Railroad Commission" to submit the water controversy to a vote of the people.

The Council yesterday decided to discontinue any further attempts to effect an agreement with the irrigation district regarding how much water the Lamesa section was entitled to from the San Diego River and to take the case to court.

"The breaking of negotiations, the reasons therefore, and the commencement again of litigation by the city is a decided shock to this entire community." Hall said.

"The good faith of San Diego is involved. The city officials have repudiated their solemn obligation to submit the Railroad Commission plan to the people of San Diego after a definite agreement was entered into in San Francisco, immediately put in writing, all parties receiving a copy thereof and not one word of protest made as to its correctness.

"The latest protest, that we are not acting in good faith by putting lands in the district in the Sweetwater drainage is pure bunk. A large part of the area of Lamesa and Lemon Grove, also all of Spring Valley, is within the Sweetwater drainage and has been irrigated by Cuyamaca water for thirty-eight years.

"It is none of their business what lands we take in, for the agreement made with the city officials allows us to have 18,000 acres in the district."

Hall concluded his letter with an assertion that "politics and lack of vision" have blinded the Council.

JOHN RENFREW QUITS VALLEY ORGANIZATION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, May 8.—At an executive meeting here last night of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Fernando Valley, the resignation as secretary of O. J. Renfrew of Lankshim was offered and accepted. Mr. Renfrew is one of the best known and one of the most active of civic workers in the valley. He also is secretary of the Greater San Fernando Valley Association. In offering his resignation he said he was so impelled in order to give closer attention to his duties in the latter organization. The regular monthly meeting of the Associated Chambers will take place Tuesday in the Egyptian Village on Brand Boulevard, Glendale. President Leo B. Lesperance of Van Nuys will preside.

LAST RITES MONDAY FOR STATE SENATOR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, May 8.—Funeral services for Senator John Creighton, Kern, Kings and Tulare counties representative in the California Legislature, will be Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Senator Creighton died of heart disease in his wife's arms in their home here, Thursday afternoon. Besides his wife Senator Creighton leaves a son, John L. Creighton of Taft. The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Edgar R. Fuller of the First Congregational Church.

POSTOFFICE CHANGES MADE AT LANKERSHIM

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, May 8. — More changes are being made at the Lankershim postoffice. The money order departments have been taken from the south side near the general delivery window, placed on the north side, and made a different department from the stamp and registry divisions. The change relieves the congestion at the general delivery window and permits better service in all departments. For some time there has been a congestion in the local postoffice because of the lack of the free city delivery system. Every effort is being made to obtain free deliveries here.

POLICE BALKED IN NEGRI PLOT

Screen Double of Star Proves Enigma

Girl Taken to Hospital on Own Suggestion

Further Inquiry to Await Coherent Story

With police unable to evolve a tangible working foundation out of the disconnected tale of Justine Valse, revealer of an asserted blackmail plot against Pola Negri, the girl became an enigma last night.

She is in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital at her own suggestion for rest and Detectives Stites and Hardy of Wilshire division, who are investigating, stated last night they will allow her to regain her composure in an attempt to obtain a coherent story from her.

Miss Valse, admitting a tangled mental condition, asserted yesterday that it is due to threats made against her life and to some form of mild poison which has been given to her. In view of her general present condition, police are unwilling to place unlimited confidence in her assertions.

The girl was taken in tow by police last Thursday night when she appealed to the house detective of a prominent local hotel for protection against two women she said were following her. The women, questioned by the detectives, said they had been following her because she had acted queerly for several days and they were afraid she would get into trouble.

According to the story Miss Valse told police and her attorney, S. S. Hahn, she had been used as a tool by four men who were planning to bilk Miss Negri of a large sum of money.

For months, she told Attorney Hahn, she was unaware of the true purpose of the use to which she had been put by the men she accuses.

Her first real intimation of the seriousness of the situation, she said, came when she realized that she was being used in a plot and she protested.

At her protest, she was threatened with death "unless she went through," according to the tale she told her attorney.

Miss Valse, who is a former wife of Chet Neff, well-known Pacific Coast boxer, and from whom she obtained an annulment of her marriage about a year ago, is said to bear a close resemblance to Pola Negri. It was because of this, according to her story, that she was chosen as the "tool" in the asserted blackmail plot.

Shea told Hahn that her likeness to the famed motion-picture star was such that she had been induced to submit to photographs showing herself in compromising positions. At the time, she maintains, she knew nothing of their intended use, but subsequently learned they were to be used as representations of Miss Negri.

Miss Valse told police she has doubled for Miss Negri in pictures and had been promised work in the star's next picture when she returns to Hollywood from the East.

TELLS STAR'S RISE TO FAME

his living by singing at theaters, churches, organizing a quartet and by playing parts in light opera with companies showing in Los Angeles.

"It was not an easy path that we trod," said Mrs. Tibbett last night. "It was difficult, but it was not sordid. It costs money to study music and to support a wife and two children. What kept us going was the fact that we had vision, perseverance and faith. We were leading a simple, artistic life. We felt, throughout it all, that every day we were a step nearer our goal.

"Certain people of prominence in Los Angeles began to take note of Lawrence, among them Rupert Hughes. It was owing to these people that we were enabled to do the things we had hoped for but could not see how we could do it—go to New York where Lawrence could study.

GETS SMALL PART

"We did get there and most fortunately were able to connect with Frank La Forge, coach and vocal teacher. Through him and a grand opera star Lawrence secured an audience at the Metropolitan. He was employed and given a small part. Consider that this was only six months after our arrival in New York, where we had gone not knowing where we would end up.

"He signed up on a four-year contract, which has two more years to run. He made his debut in a small part in "Boris." His first real piece of work was when he was called upon to play the part of Valentine in "Faust," upon three days' notice. He did very well with that.

"During the following summer he coached and studied. The great sensation came last January when he sang Ford in "Falstaff." Nobody, I think, dreamed that it was coming. Least of all Lawrence."

CRIES AT SUCCESS

Mrs. Tibbett sat in a box that night and when the audience stopped the show giving the California young man such an ovation as seldom has any grand opera star received, she just sat there and cried.

"Like any foolish wife would have done, I guess,' was the way she put it.

It was so unexpected, so startling. After the show, Tibbett and his wife and La Forge, somewhat dazed, hied them to a near-by restaurant, after first sending a telegram to Lawrence's mother, Mrs. Frances Tibbett of South Pasadena. The trio sat in the restaurant lunching on milk and bread and talking. They talked in the apartment until the small hours of the morning. At 8 o'clock the next morning the place was besieged by photographers and reporters. Telegrams poured in from everywhere. The California boy had made good. The world was at his feet.

But he is building for the future. As Mrs. Tibbett put it last night, they are not out to grasp everything in sight socially and professionally in one swoop. Lawrence is going to go on and on and on. What comes, comes. He'll take it as it comes. He will remain in Los Angeles this summer to study, practice and coach for the important season in New York. He is proud to be an American, trained in America. He has not studied in Europe. He had an offer to go there this summer, a really attractive offer. He declined graciously, his own idea being that, unlike other singers, he will gain fame in America and then go to Europe to show what America can produce.

As for the salary and other business arrangements—well, his managers, Evans and Salter, are long-headed.

Mrs. Tibbetts has just published a book of her own poems entitled "Word Etchings," one of which is set to music and sung by her husband.

CHARGES OF TWO GIRLS HOLD THREE

Accusations Also Filed Against Six Others in Whittier Scandal

Accused of statutory offenses against two schoolgirls, Elmer Burgess, William Rusk and William Pesterfield were held for Superior Court trial yesterday in Whittier by Justice Swain. Charges of a similar nature have been filed against five other men, warrants have been issued for six others and one youth has been bound over to the Juvenile Court.

More than twenty men and boys were named in the disclosures made before Justice Swain, who dismissed cases against six. Preliminary hearings in the cases of William Rusk, Bill Rooks, Gilbert Horney, John Daniels and Jack Gordon will be held next Friday. Herman Hoffman, 15, also accused by the girls, will be tried in Juvenile Court.

Neither of the two girls, one 16 years of age, and the other 14, is yet in high school. Yesterday's wholesale arrests were made by Juvenile authorities on complaints filed by the girls' mothers.

Burgess, Rusk and Pesterfield were released on $1000 bail each. The girls are being detained in Juvenile Hall.

Lasky Promises New Playhouse in Los Angeles

The next pretentious Famous Players-Lasky theater will be erected here, Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the concern, said yesterday noon at the unveiling by Betty Bronson of a miniature of the new Paramount theater being erected on Times Square, New York. The ceremony took place in the lobby of the Metropolitan Theater.

Mr. Lasky's promise of a new theater came as a response to a short talk by Albert Kaufman, managing director of the Famous Players-Lasky theaters in Los Angeles, in which he expressed the hope Mr. Lasky would build a movie house here as a monument to himself and his company.

Film Extra Girls Who Spent Days Selling Tickets for Benefit Ball at Biltmore Weep as Originator of Scheme is Nabbed on Worthless Check Charge

Days of work on the part of eight film extra girls came to naught last night when the police took into custody one Al Griffith, 20 years of age, 715 South Hope street. Griffith, himself an extra, is accused of having passed a worthless check for payment of his office rent in the Pantages Theater Building.

Involved in the arrest of Griffith were the tears of the extra girls, for the police say that Griffith promised them much. They wanted to shine under the bright lights, but they had no work. No director had yet looked upon their pulchritude to be smitten.

On the set came Griffith, the girls said. He formed the "Alpine Movie Club, an organization for unemployed movie extra girls. Being unemployed, they had no funds. Griffith came forward with his inspiration.

It was to have been a gala night for the extras—the night of the "Movie Extras' Ball," a scintillating affair scheduled to be given in the Biltmore ballroom on the night of the 23rd inst. The girls, eight in all, were engaged and started out to sell tickets. They did, for few could resist the tears and the tale of the hard world in unemployed moviedom. At the nominal price of 50 cents each, the ducats sold fast.

But with the tickets all sold, or mostly sold, Detective Lieutenants Jacks and Edwards came on the scene and now Griffith is lodged in the City Jail on suspicion of forgery. The girls have made no complaint, but the benefit ball is in the offing.

SAFETY MEN ARE TOLD OF OIL HAZARDS

Petroleum Industry's Problems Take Up All of Last Day's Session

The oil men had their say at yesterday's session of the Second Pacific Coast Safety Conference, the entire program being given over to discussions of the hazards of the oil industry and means for reducing them.

The meeting, which was the last of the three-day conference, was conducted under the chairmanship of F
